ROBINSON STIRS NEW DRIVE FOR RELIEVING IDLE

Will Outline Program of Federal Help Today or Tomorrow.

RECONSTRUCTION AID IS SOUGHT FOR CITIES

Proposal Would Also Lend Funds to States for Unemployed.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The question of Federal aid for the unemployed is again to the forefront, and from now until Congress quits for the political conventions it promises to share the spotlight with taxation and economy.

There were two developments in this connection yesterday:

First—It become known that a plan whereby the $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation would aid States and municipalities has been laid before officials of that corporation.

Second—Senator Joe T. Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the Senate, announced that he would issue a statement today or tomorrow outlining a definite plan of Federal aid for the unemployed. He gave no hint as to the nature of his plan.

Funds for States.

Under the plan submitted to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would buy bonds issued by States and municipalities and thus indirectly make money available for the victims of unemployment.

Who submitted the plan was not made known, but the fact that officials of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation were giving it serious consideration was regarded as significant. At least one official of the corporation is known to look with favor on the plan.

Of late President Hoover has been silent on the question of Federal unemployment relief, but there have been persistent reports at the Capitol that he is about to sponsor some form of relief.

Aid Believed Inevitable.

Before the Reconstruction Finance Corporation could do business with States and municipalities the act creating it would, of course, have to be amended by Congress.

Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and two of his associates on the corporation, Harvey Couch, of Arkansas, and Jesse Jones, of Texas, were visitors at the Capitol yesterday. They denied, however, that their visit had anything to do with unemployment relief.

Mr. Couch is a close friend of Minority Leader Robinson.

Shocking Conditions Bared.

In the Senate hearing this week on the Costigan bill for a Federal bond issue of $500,000,000 to help the unemployed, welfare workers have testified to serious, and, in some cases, shocking conditions.

In several cities, according to the testimony, relief funds are exhausted, and there is little prospect of replenishing them. As a rule, the cities are so heavily in debt that they would have difficulty in floating bond issues.

President Hoover has repeatedly stated that the Federal Government would not let people in this country starve. Thus far, however, he has insisted that relief should come not through a Federal "dole," but through voluntary contributions.

Last August he appointed a commission headed by Walter S. Gifford

McAdoo Discusses Race With Garner

(Associated Press.)

William Gibbs McAdoo yesterday called on Speaker Garner at the Capitol and later said to newspapermen that the Texas Democrat should be nominated for the Presidency by the Democratic national convention at Chicago.

The former Secretary of the Treasury, who sponsored Garner in the California primaries, also expressed the opinion that Gov. Franklin Roosevelt of New York "could not possibly receive the presidential nomination on the first ballot."

Although he said the main purpose of his visit to Washington was to discuss with Democratic agricultural leaders his proposal for a relief bill for wheat and cotton growers, McAdoo said he dropped in to see the Speaker and discuss the forthcoming national convention at Chicago.

New Charges Hinted As Means Is Indicted

Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, Jay Gould Heiress, Said to Have Paid Sleuth to Combat Alleged Threat Against Child or Fortune.

(Associated Press.)

Another wealthy and socially prominent woman was listed last night as a possible victim—to the extent of $100,000 or more—of the suave representations of portly Gaston B. Means.

Only a few hours after he had been indicted on charges that he swindled Mrs. Edward B. McLean, of Washington, out of $104,000 by promising to return the Lindbergh baby, authorities were investigating allegations that he got that much or more from Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, of New York, the former Helen Gould.

The Lindbergh baby, however, did not figure in the new development. The story, hinted at by District Attorney Leo A. Rover, while arguing over Means' bond in the McLean affair, was that Means was paid by the New York woman after he represented that he could give her information on Communist activities which might threaten her adopted daughter or her fortune.

Rover told Justice James M. Proctor while arguing that Means' bond should be fixed at $100,000 that there was "very serious possibility" that a criminal charge might result from the second investigation. He added it "does not concern the Lindbergh baby" and no more.

From other sources close to the inquiry, however, came the word which linked the wealthy New York woman with the investigation.

The two indictments returned yesterday by a District of Columbia grand jury against the one-time Government sleuth charged embezzlement and larceny after trust of money allegedly given Means by Mrs.

NAZIS AIM FURIOUS ATTACK AT BRUENING

Reparations "Tribute" End Is Demanded; Reichstag Session Suspended.

Berlin, May 10 (A.P.).—Adolf Hitler's National Socialists ended their policy of aloof tolerance today by launching a furious attack against the Bruening government at a stormy session of the Reichstag.

Nazi spokesmen demanded an end to the "tribute" of reparations. They assailed Minister of Defense Wilhelm Groener, the man who broke up the Hitlerite storm troops, and their demonstration became so tumultuous it was necessary to suspend the session.

There was a peaceful prelude to the battle. When the Reichstag reconvened yesterday, the Hitlerites caused no trouble. Early in today's session Gregor Strasser, a Nazi spokesman, outlined the Hitlerite unemployment program in a mild speech.

At the conclusion of the speech, Gen. Groener made a vigorous defense of his order dissolving the Nazi storm troops.

"If it hadn't been for the storm troops," he shouted, "we would have had peace long ago."

Herr Strasser leaped to his feet. He demanded the session be suspended long enough for the cabinet to determine "whether such a man as that is fit to head the defense ministry."

The chairman ordered the National Socialist member out of the chamber. He refused to go and the Nazis, standing on their benches, shouted, "Hail Hitler!" and "Hail Strasser!"

The session was suspended until order was restored. Then Nazi spokesmen directed a bitter assault on the Bruening government, declaring it to be "weak and mild mannered."

French Legion Veteran Enters Congress Race

St. Paul, Minn., May 10 (A.P.).—John Bowe, of Minneapolis, former member of the French Foreign Legion, today entered Minnesota's free-for-all race for Congress. He filed for representative on the Democratic ticket, announcing he favors repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

CHICAGO FORECAST AS G. O. P. CENTER

Burke Predicts Presidential Campaign Headquarters Will Be There.

Chicago, May 10 (A.P.).—The Republican presidential campaign this fall will probably be directed from Chicago with the national committee headquarters established in this city soon after the June convention.

James Francis Burke, national committeeman from Pennsylvania and for many years high in the councils of the party, said it was the consensus of Republican leaders that Chicago was the logical spot in which to center campaign acitivties this year.

The new national committee will make the formal selection in June.

It will be the first time the Republicans have established national campaign headquarters in Chicago, although the Western offices have usually been in this city.

Burke was in Chicago to work with Ralph Williams, vice chairman of the national committee, in completing arrangements for the convention which opens June 14 in the Chicago Stadium.

Under the tentative plans, campaign headquarters would be established soon after the convention adjourns, probably in a large Loop office building. The large corps of speakers, the publicity, advertising and all other activities of national character would be handled from here.

Eastern headquarters would be established in New York, where the committee has placed the national offices in former years.

Warning Letter Causes Guard of Anness Scions

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—Edward C. Anness, stock broker, and his two grandsons, Peyton, 6, and Edward, 4, were under heavy police guard today against kidnapers who, it was made known, had sent the Park avenue resident a letter demanding $100,000 and threatening to take him for "a ride." The letter, it was disclosed, was received several days ago and detectives immediately were assigned to the Anness household.

The children are sons of Mrs. Helen Donovan Patrick, who, while a stenographer, was married to the late Peyton Anness, the broker's son. A White Plains court ruled the children must be reared by the grandparents, after the father died two years ago.

Chevy Chase, Md., Suspends Its Volunteer Firefighters

Meanwhile Six Paid Veterans Protect Suburb in Two Three-Man Shifts Pending Hearing on Removal of Work Bench.

The entire personnel of the Chevy Chase Volunteer Fire Department has been suspended from service as a "disciplinary action" by the executive committee of the department, it was learned yesterday. The 25 members of the volunteer group have been suspended from use of the firehouse or recreation rooms and from responding to fire alarms. The exclusive Chevy Chase section has been left with but six paid firemen for protection from fire since last Friday, when the action was taken by the executive committee.

A hearing is to be held tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock at the firehouse, at which time the volunteers will be given an opportunity to present their side of the case. The executive committee has announced that it will hear a delegation not to exceed five members, and any individual member who is not represented also will be heard.

While members of the executive committee said last night that they did not desire to discuss the matter publicly until after the hearing, it was learned that the volunteer firemen had been suspended for "conduct unbecoming members of the department on the evening of May 5, 1932." This conduct, it was learned, was the removal of a work bench from the recreation hall and installation of a pool table which had been donated to the firemen by

SENATE DEFERS OTHER WORK TO SPEED ECONOMY

HOOVER CONTINUES TALKS WITH CHIEFS

Praises Congress for Speedy Action on His Budget-Balancing Plea.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The Senate yesterday laid aside all appropriation bills, while a special economy subcommittee, by-product of a new bipartisan urge in both Houses, bent shoulders to the wheel of budget balancing.

Cheered on by praise from the White House, the Senate appropriations committee gave a forward shove to the nonpartisan movement. Chairman Wesley L. Jones named three Republicans and three Democrats to his bipartite economy group. Work on supply bills stopped to give retrenchment right of way.

At 10 o'clock this morning the special economy subcommittee will hold an initial session. With the skeletonized House omnibus bill as a basis, the group will meet until late this evening, grafting on to the measure every possible saving. The sessions will continue throughout the week, with a report next Monday the tentative goal.

Confers With Leaders Again.

President Hoover was in conference more than three hours meanwhile with administration advisers on "matters of economy." Secretary of the Treasury Mills, Secretary of War Hurley, Acting Secretary of State Castle, and Budget Director R. J. Roop participated.

The President was represented as approving the revived economy drive, as evidence Congress at last is determined to forget party differences in the interest of united action. The new subcommittee shortly is expected to meet with the President at the White House.

Besides Chairman Jones, the subcommittee will comprise Senators Hiram Bingham (Republican), Connecticut; L. J. Dickinson (Republican), Iowa; Kenneth McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee; Sam G. Bratton (Democrat), New Mexico, and James F. Byrnes (Democrat), South Carolina.

Sitting with the group at its meeting today will be Representative John McDuffie (Democrat), Alabama, chairman of the House economy committee, and Representative C. William Ramseyer (Republican), Iowa, a member of the body.

To Explain Provisions.

Senator Jones invited them to explain provisions of the House bill and the $200,000,000 in economies it contained before the House tore it to shreds.

It is significant that Representative McDuffie was the House exponent of

Wyoming G. O. P. Indorses Hoover

Casper, Wyo., May 10 (A.P.).—Indorsement of President Hoover for reelection marked the closing session of the Republican State convention here today. The State's nine delegates to the national Republican convention were not instructed in compliance with the party's custom in Wyoming.

Wyoming Democrats in session here yesterday pledged their six delegates to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for President and indorsed Gov. Dern of Utah for Vice President.

The Democrats also approved a plank recommending the prohibition question be submitted to a national referendum. The Republicans rejected a similar proposal, but voted to abide by the results of a Wyoming referendum to be conducted next fall.

Soviet Farmers to Sell Cattle in Open Market

Moscow, May 10 (A.P.).—Russian farmers today were given the right to sell their cattle in the retail markets for the remainder of 1932. This marked another step in the liberalization of the Soviet farm code, to encourage individual farmers—whether collective or independent—to seek the open market.

Heretofore there have been restrictions against slaughtering cattle for the needs of the rural population and for sale. These restrictions were removed today by a decision of the council of commissars and the central committee of the Communist Party.

LEBRUN TAKES FRENCH HELM AS PRESIDENT

HANDED RESIGNATION OF PREMIER TARDIEU

Albert Francois Lebrun, 60 years old, a mining engineer like President Hoover and the son of a farmer, was elected President of the Republic by an overwhelming majority of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies meeting in joint session in the historic palace of Louis XIV at Versailles.

On his way back to Paris M. Lebrun received the resignation of the ministry headed by Andre Tardieu. At the request of the president, M. Tardieu said he would remain in office on the understanding that a new cabinet would be formed by June 4 at the latest. The new Chamber of Deputies meets June 1.

As soon as the colorful election ceremony was completed at Versailles, Premier Tardieu turned over the executive powers to the new head of the State. Then M. Lebrun hastened to Elysee Palace in Paris, where he bowed before the bier of Paul Doumer, his assassinated predecessor.

Places Wreath on Tomb.

After expressing condolences to Mme. Doumer the new president went to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at the Arc de Triomphe, where he placed a wreath. His route was lined with cheering crowds.

Then he went to his Luxembourg palace where he was inducted as grand master of the Legion of Honor.

There was virtually no opposition in the joint Senate and Chamber session to the brisk little man whose service as president of the Senate had put him in line for the most highly prized gift of the French people. He received 633 out of 767 votes cast.

Paul Faure, prominent Socialist, won 114 votes; 12 ballots were cast for former Premier Paul Painleve, 8 went to Marcel Cachin, Communist, and 59 were blank.

Tardieu Still Premier.

M. Tardieu will carry on as premier just as he would if there had been a cabinet overthrown in Parliament. Pending the selection of a new government he will take no initiative in important matters of state.

The newspaper La Liberte reported that the new president had received letters informing him he would suffer death, as did President Doumer, who was shot down by an assassin last Friday. Officials declared these letters were sent by cranks.

While the election was going on at Versailles a huge crowd of persons congregated at Elysee Palace, where the body of M. Doumer lay in state.

Archbishop Curley Is Elevated by Pope

Selected as Assistant at Pontifical Throne; Will Stay in Baltimore.

Vatican City, May 10 (A.P.).—The Pope today appointed Archbishop Michael J. Curley, of Baltimore, an assistant at the pontifical throne.

(Associated Press.)

Archbishop Curley's appointment places him in the body of Catholic officials ranking immediately below the cardinals. Through the appointment, the head of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, premier see in America, becomes a member of the college composed of all patriarchs and those bishops whom the Pope appoints by brief.

Archbishop Curley was informed of his elevation last November by the Most Rev. Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, Apostolic delegate to the United States. The Baltimore churchman said yesterday's announcement from Rome was merely the official publication of the appointment. He will remain in Baltimore.

Tornado Unroofs Jail; 22 Killed, 200 Escape

Calcutta, India, May 10 (A.P.).—Twenty-two guards and prisoners were killed and 35 seriously injured today in an outbreak which occurred at the jail at Mymensingh, Bengal, when a tornado blew the roof off the building.

Sixty-five others were less seriously hurt and 200 convicts, including many political prisoners described as dangerous, escaped. Armed police were scouting the vicinity trying to round up the jail's fleeing population.

Wets Gain Big Leads In Ohio's Primaries

Columbus, Ohio, May 10 (A.P.).—Foes of prohibition were steadily gaining on their dry opponents for the Republican senatorial and gubernatorial nominations tonight as returns from Ohio's primary mounted.

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, advocate of an antiprohibition plank in the Republican national platform, was running two to one ahead of L. J. Taber, national master of the Grange and a dry. David S. Ingalls, who also campaigned against the liquor laws, saw his lead steadily increasing over Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, dry, and his nearest opponent for the gubernatorial nomination.

Out of 8,701 precincts in the State, 1,115 gave for Republican United States senator: Bettman, 31,367; Bracher, 4,583; Coxey, 3,585; Miller, 2,370; Taber, 18,110.

DAVID S. INGALLS.

For Republican governor 1,162 precincts give: Ingalls, 34,230; J. C. B. Beatty, 1,435; C. J. Brown, 24,270; M. Y. Cooper, 12,833.

ARMY CHIEFS FIGHT SERVICE FUNDS CUT

Hurley and MacArthur Seek to Keep Personnel and Training Camps.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

War on the economic front broke out in the House of Representatives yesterday over the attempts of Democratic leaders to reduce the military strength of the Army to a point which Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, characterized as "prostration." Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and Gen. MacArthur appeared before the military committee, in executive session, to protest against the budget-slashing tactics of the appropriations committee which would eliminate the R. O. T. C., the C. M. T. C. and automatically lop off from the service 2,000 officers.

At a time when the United States at the General Disarmament Conference in Geneva is agreeing to the abolition of mobile guns and mechanized warfare, Representative Collins (Democrat), of Mississippi, declared the Army was not efficient because it had not sufficiently mechanized itself. He declared:

"The machine-gun development has been slow. Our tank development has been pitiful. We must develope increasingly mechanized forces, gas and machine guns." The chairman of the American delegation to the disarmament conference, American Ambassador Hugh Gibson, proposed at the beginning of the conference that the delegates should abolish all mobile artillery, tanks and chemical warfare.

The Secretary of War and the chief of staff pointed out in their testimony before the members of the military committee the disastrous effect of such reduction in appropriations as had been made by Representative Collins' committee. The entire purpose of the national defense act of 1920 would be automatically nullified and the carefully built-up structure of civilian mobilization and in-

Capt. Dollar Is Worse In Fight on Pneumonia

San Rafael, Calif., May 10 (A.P.).—A turn for the worse in the condition of Capt. Robert Dollar, 88-year-old Pacific Coast shipping magnate, critically ill with bronchial pneumonia, was reported at his home here tonight.

"Capt. Dollar has lost ground since his recent rally and is weaker today," said his physician, Dr. R. C. Duffey.

CONGRESS BANKING GRAFT IS CHARGED

(United Press.)

A charge that Chicago bank officials "hired some congressmen" to oppose the McFadden branch banking bill several years ago was made in the Senate yesterday by Senator Carter Glass (Democrat), Virginia, speaking in behalf of his bill providing stricter Federal regulation for banking operations.

While he named neither the banks nor the Congress members alleged to have been involved in the transaction, he said the Chicago officials also retained "a persuasive lobbyist." Later Glass refused to reveal the names of the men to whom he referred in his floor speech.

Senator Glass' disclosures were believed to have referred to the fight over the so-called "Hull amendment" to the McFadden bank act. This amendment, which restricted branch banking, was defeated in the House, although the McFadden bill became law in February, 1927.

It was the second successive day Glass had spoken on his measure, which provides: (1) Restrict commercial banks from becoming involved thruogh loans or purchases in speculative markets; (2) State-wide branch banking by national banks; (3) Federal Reserve Board control of all Reserve Bank purchases of Government bonds; (4) Separation of member banks from their security affiliates after three years; (5) Dismissal or suspension of bank directors who ignore warnings to abandon unsound banking practices.

"The capital and surplus of thousands of banks are so impaired," Glass said, "that if the Comptroller of the Currency enforced existing laws they would have to close.

"Bankers came into my office and told me they did not understand my bill and then went out and deluged the country with telegrams opposing a bill they didn't understand. We

Edgar B. Brossard, of Utah, was reappointed yesterday by President Hoover as a member of the Tariff Commission.

Crime Prevention Squad Is Formed by Glassford

Predicts 25 Per Cent Reduction in Inmates of District Penal Institutions Within Year as Result of Secret Bureau's Activities.

The establishment of a crime prevention division of the Police Department, under the direction of Inspector O. T. Davis, was announced yesterday by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, after a conference with superior officers of the department.

The purposes of the new division, which will be in the nature of an intelligence unit, the personnel of which will be kept secret, will be to maintain surveillance over known and suspected criminals. It will work in coordination with the Detective Bureau.

As a consequence of the appointment of Inspector Davis to the leadership of the new division, Inspector Albert J. Headley will be shifted from the Second inspection district to the Third, and Inspector James E. Beckett will leave the Bureau of Special Investigations to assume command of the Second inspection district.

The work of the Bureau of Investigations, which heretofore obtained information on gambling and liquor violations will be virtually assimilated by the new division, which will also absorb the Bureau of Identification, which is composed of the fingerprint and records bureaus.

Capt. James E. Bobo will be in charge of the Bureau of Special Investigations until Monday, when the order for the new division becomes effective. Capt. Bobo probably then will be assigned to the new division. Lieut. George Little then will take

AKRON, VICTOR OVER STORMS, OUT OF TEXAS

WINDS FORCE CRAFT ACROSS U. S. BORDER

Hachita, N. Mex., May 10 (U.P.).—The dirigible Akron passed over Hachita, 131 miles west of El Paso, tonight at 11:45 a. m. (E. S. T.). It was traveling about 60 miles an hour, despite the fact that Northwest winds were hitting its side.

Moving slowly in the face of a strong wind and dustatorm, it had passed over El Paso at 9:15 p. m. (E. S. T.) tonight on its flight to California.

The Akron was approximately a full day behind its proposed schedule because of the severe storms that had delayed its progress across Texas.

After fighting gales all last night and most of today, it moved slowly toward El Paso this afternoon, met delay east of Van Horn when it encountered wind and low-hanging clouds, and finally continued across the desert and mountain land shortly before 7 p. m.

Forced Across Border.

Heavy gusts of wind forced the ship across the international border near Torneillo, 35 miles east of El Paso.

As it approached El Paso, a new storm threatened the ship with another night of buffeting gales. The Akron approached to within 10 miles of El Paso, ran into a severe dust storm and turned east again. Lieut. Comdr. C. E. Rosendahl, commander of the ship, radioed the Department of Commerce station here for weather conditions.

Attempts of Fort Bliss Army wireless operators to talk with the operator on board the dirigible brought the reply that he was instructed not to give information about the flight.

After waiting with nose to the wind, 12 miles from here, for the wind to subside, the dirigible moved westward again, cruising over El Paso shortly after twilight had faded into darkness.

It turned north, then swung westward again, moving away from El Paso at 9:31 p. m. (Eastern standard time). The dirigible was flying low, no more than 300 feet above the ground. It followed the Southern Pacific tracks toward low mountains, heading for the desert land of southern New Mexico.

Negotiates Mountain Pass.

It had safely negotiated "The Pass" in the Rocky Mountains, from which El Paso gets its name. Always a hazard to aircraft, "The Pass" presented an exceptional danger tonight because of a strong cross-wind. At times the dirigible appeared to be headed eastward and then it was blown back with its nose to the West.

Thousands of spectators lined mountainside and mesa and watched the blinking lights of the Navy's aerial dreadnaught pass overhead.

A wide expanse of rough country remains to be negotiated. No mountains of importance are to be approached, however, until the craft reaches the southwestern portion of Arizona. There the Continental Di-

LINDBERGH RANSOM EXTORTION BALKED

Montpelier, Vt., May 10 (A.P.).—A new attempt to extort money from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, on a promise to return his kidnaped son, has failed, it became known today when authorities announced they were seeking the would-be extortionist.

A letter to Col. Lindbergh more than two weeks ago demanded $10,000 as the first installment of $50,000 and a postal box in the White River Junction, Vt., postoffice was named as the address to which the money should be sent.

New Jersey officials obtained the assistance of Vermont authorities and a trap was set for the letter writer. Two motor vehicle inspectors were sworn in as special postal inspectors to watch the box, which had been rented in the name of L. I. Smith. The inspectors made up a package, intended to resemble a bundle of currency, and placed it in the box. The box itself was wired to give an alarm when it should be opened.

The inspectors remained on guard several days, but, becoming convinced the ransom demand was the work of a crank, turned their vigil over to a local deputy sheriff. Four days passed and then the box was opened and the package removed.

Alfred Bellis, of Newport, N. H., was found across the street in a restaurant and he readily admitted he had removed the package. He had been given a ride by an acquaintance, he said, who asked him to get his mail from the postoffice. After handing the acquaintance the package the man drove away, Bellis said. Vermont officials are satisfied Bellis was an innocent and unsuspecting aid of the extortionist. However, they are holding him in the belief he can identify the letter writer if apprehended.

The package was removed from the postoffice a week ago and the search for the man who rented the box has been in progress since. Investigators said they were seeking William Hand, a former resident of Portsmouth and Keene, N. H., for questioning.

Norfolk, Va., May 10 (A.P.).—Absolute silence served tonight to make a mystery within a mystery of the continued absence of John Hughes Curtis, negotiator in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, on a mission believed made to reestablish contact with the kidnapers.

Hoover Aid to Idle Is Praised by Doak

President Hoover has done more to mitigate unemployment and suffering in this economic depression than was done by the Federal Government in all of the preceding fourteen major depressions combined, Secretary of Labor Doak, said last night over the National Broadcasting Co. network.

"His was the influence which stayed for more than a year reductions in wages; which caused industries to expand their construction programs, and to stagger employment so as to give jobs to a maximum number of persons, which brought about vastly extended public works programs," he said.

Voicing his opposition to the Wagner unemployment bill, he said: "The issue presented is whether there is to be voluntary cooperation between the Federal and State governments in the maintenance of a wholly flexible employment effort, or whether the States are to be coerced into establishing a system which would be inflexible and which would provide no machinery for bringing the unemployed in one State or section to jobs which might be available in other States or sections."

House Group Reports Anticommunist Bill

(Associated Press.)

The House immigration committee yesterday favorably reported the Dies bill for exclusion and deportation of alien Communists.

The term "Communist" was defined to cover all advocating overthrow of the Government. The bill was amended to exempt those who joined a Communist organization through ignorance of its purpose or through coercion.

Dolphus Asked to Form New Cabinet in Austria

Vienna, Austria, May 10 (A.P.).—As President Wilhelm Miklas today called upon Engelburg Dolphus, minister of agriculture, to form a new cabinet, there were several signs of increasing tenseness in the Austrian political and financial crisis. These manifestations have been increasing rapidly since Dr. Karl Buresch and his cabinet resigned last Friday.

The government organ, Reichspost, tonight frankly pointed out editorially that the position of the national bank had been strained until a transfer moratorium or devaluation of the shilling was inescapable without a League of Nations loan. Simultaneously the press carried news from Leoben that Austria's last active blast furnace will quench its fires on Saturday.

Working Miner's Home Damaged by Bomb Blast

Cadiz, Ohio, May 10 (A.P.).—The home of a working coal miner at Adena, near here, was dynamited early today, but the miner, Clarence Pennman, his wife and son, escaped injury.

The explosion, attributed by officials as an attempt to intimidate miners working at the Somers mine of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., blew windows out of the house and rocked the village, but caused no extensive damage. Pennman and his son went to work at the mine shortly after the dynamite bomb was set off. Eighty men employed in the Somers mine live in Adena.

Portland Resumes British Wheat Deal

Portland, Oreg., May 10 (A.P.).—The first wheat deal of consequence in the Portland-United Kingdom trade since last November was reported today with word that 750 tons had been booked for late May loading for the British Isles.

Let Them Sleep on the Hill, Why Worry Over Tax Bill

By JOHN J. DALY

SENATORS sleeping in their offices, representatives composing themselves on the upholstered divans in the House Office Building—these little sidelights into human nature are now being flashed over the countryside for the edification of the folks back home.

Well, why should not a senator sleep in his office? Better by far to have him sleep there than on the floor of the Senate chamber. There he is sitting, sublimely, even snoring, in his senatorial seat, his toga wrapped around him. Instead of an exhibition like that, let the senators sleep in their offices.

And what about the representatives? Where will they sleep? The answer is simple: They, too, have offices—fine offices, luxurious offices, with mahogany furniture. A simple task to put in Murphy beds, those modern contraptions that are pulled out of the wall by night and shoved into hiding by day; or a Pullman effect, with porters in attendance, shoes left outside the door to be shined overnight.

PUTTING Congress—the whole Congress—to sleep, forgetting the taxes, and the balancing of the budget, and all the other cares that infest the country, would be a desideratum, even a consummation, devoutly to be wished by big and little business men alike.

They are all for it, and if there is no appropriation for bedsteads in the omnibus bill, why, one of the big modern and antique furniture firms in Grand Rapids is likely to step forward, in true generosity, or as a patriotic duty, and volunteer enough day and night beds to take care of the boys on the hill. Not only that, but one of the service bands could provide slumber music, starting in with "Sleepy Time Down South," and working through a grand repertory, ending with "Swinging in the Pork-barrel Swing."

Where the Potomac rolls, sleep on, sweet members of Congress, and, in the delicious dreams of unconsciousness, forget about Capitoline Hill, its bills, its burdens, its budgets and its billousness.

Nighty night, and be good boys; Uncle Sam is putting out the lights and locking the stable door.

NEW CHARGES ARE HINTED AS MEANS IS INDICTED

McLean, wife of the Washington publisher.

It was said that the Justice Department has been investigating the allegations concerning the New York woman for weeks; that Mrs. Shepard and her family received threatening letters from individuals signing themselves "Agents of Moscow," and that Means undertook, last winter, to furnish protection.

Means Jaunty in Jail.

Means was meantime jauntily whiling away the hours in jail. Arrested last week following secret investigation of Mrs. McLean's charges, he was hurried, perspiring but smiling, before a United States commissioner. Failing to meet a $100,000 bond, he was escorted to jail. The superintendent of the jail says that since then he has appeared "perfectly calm," reading newspapers and magazines and talking "about everything but his case."

The grand jury, who heard the strange McLean story last week, returned the two indictments yesterday without ado. Justice Proctor later heard the lawyer's argument and then took the matter of bond under advisement. He will announce his decision today.

J. William Tomlinson, Means' lawyer, declared that the $100,000 bond fixed by the commissioner—requiring security of four persons individually and severally responsible—is excessive. He said yesterday that if it is not reduced he will seek a writ of habeas corpus to gain Means' release. He told Justice Proctor that he thought $25,000 would be "ample" bond.

Fears Evasion of Trial.

Attorney Rover argued that there is "no question" that Means received the $100,000 from Mrs. McLean. If Means had to produce only $25,000, Rover contended, "he would still have $75,000 with which to be somewhere other than here when he comes to trial, and I have every reason to believe he would."

Rover recited also that Means was convicted in 1924 of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws and in 1925 of conspiracy to bribe a Federal officer, and in both cases received maximum sentences. The two terms were served concurrently.

The lawyers tilted over the $100,000 which Means admits he received after Mrs. McLean employed him to negotiate the return of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby. Rover told the court that "the only excuse" Means offers for not returning the money on Mrs. McLean's demand was that "a stranger he had never seen before" whispered number eleven to him in nearby Alexandria, Va., while Means was en route, according to his story, to return the money to Mrs. McLean.

Story Held Fabrication.

Tomlinson objected that Rover "in one breath says he (Means) turned the money over to a mysterious person and in the next that he has the $100,000."

"I don't contend," Rover responded, "that he gave the $100,000 to a mysterious number eleven. The Government contends that was a deliberate fabrication."

Mrs. McLean brought the story to authorities after finally becoming convinced she was being defrauded, her advisers relate. She hired Means soon after the Lindbergh kidnaping and followed him to the Mexican border on futile attempts to make contact with the "kidnapers."

Means has admitted the negotiations, steadfastly maintaining he handed over the money to number eleven because he had called Mrs. McLean by that number throughout the negotiations and believed it identified her authorized representative.

Shepard Household Silent.

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—The household of Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, daughter of the late Jay Gould, who is widely known for her patriotic and philanthropic activities, was silent tonight regarding word that official Washington was scrutinizing indications she had been mulcted of large sums by Gaston B. Means. At Tarrytown a secretary said she was absent. One source said she was at her Roxbury, N. Y., home, but she could not be reached there.

Mrs. Shepard has attracted attention in recent years by pronouncements against bolshevism, communism, anarchy, and atheism. In Baltimore last year at a closed session of the State conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution, of which she is national vice president, she was understood to have assailed communistic doctrines.

Father's Closest Confidante.

Daughter of the Wall street financier who said at his death he was the most hated man in the United States, the former Helen Gould was regarded as her father's closest confidante. She was one of the four trustees named to administer the $80,000,000 estate he left, which was involved in long litigation. She took a law course at Columbia University to assist her in her duties.

"I do not know how much I have given away," she testified at a court hearing on the accounting of the estate in 1924, "but I think I gave away most of my inheritance."

She was 45 when she married Finley Johnson Shepard, a minister's son, in January, 1913. Gifts from all over the world poured in at the wedding. A feast was given for 1,000 men on the lower East Side of New York in honor of the event.

Lake of the Woods Pact Bill Reported to House

(Associated Press.)

The House foreign affairs committee yesterday favorably reported the Linthicum bill to settle claims of $73,270, growing out of treaty obligations with respect to water levels of the Lake of the Woods in Minnesota on the Canadian border.

Chairman Linthicum explained that the measure, as revised, provides for the payment of the claims approved by the Secretary of War in 1931. However, it is doubtful whether legislative action will be had on the measure until December. Representative Maas (Republican), of Minnesota, sponsored the legislation.

Hoover Names Alaskan Judge.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday appointed Cecil H. Clegg, of Alaska, to be Federal district judge f r Division No. 3 of the Territory of Alaska.

Congress "Given Hell" In Mail, Member Says

In a letter to which, the writer declares, "no answer is expected," Representative John L. Cable, of the Fourth Ohio District, has informed President Hoover that incoming mail is laudatory of the President, while "giving Congress hell." The Ohioan's message reads:

"Assume the mail coming to this office represents an average expression of the people of the country. Yesterday and today received numerous letters commending and congratulating you and giving Congress hell. I feel the Republicans in Congress will ultimately benefit by your interest and activities in the matter of the financial condition of the Federal Government. Therefore, congratulations; keep up the good work and do not lie down on the job until Congress adjourns."

Consul Uses Plane to Save Seaman Stricken Off Mexico

Quick thinking on the part of American consular officers in Mexico City and in Acapulco saved the life of an American merchant marine officer who had been stricken with appendicitis at sea.

The tramp steamer Montanan was plowing its way up out of the Gulf of Tehuantepec Sunday, April 24, when the third officer, Fred R. Noyes, jr., of New Castle, N. H., was taken ill with acute appendicitis. There was no doctor on board, and an appeal by wireless was immediately sent out.

The appeal was picked up by American Vice Consul Joseph E. Maleady, of Fall River, Mass., who at once contacted with the American Consulate in Mexico City for hospital facilities. Meanwhile, the steamer with the stricken officer was nearing Acapulco.

Sunday in Mexico City means a suspension of all work, whether sacred or profane. The efforts of Vice Consul William D. Thorne, in Mexico City, to secure an airplane to transport the officer were almost in vain. After frantically searching all the city for six hours, Consul Thorne found an aviator, Fritz Bieler, who consented to make the flight at the earliest hour the following morning.

By this time, the stricken man had been landed from the ship and was awaiting the arrival of an airplane to take him to Mexico City for an operation. At 6 o'clock the following morning, Aviator Bieler took off and disappeared over the mountains that fringe the Mexican capital to the 200-mile distant Acapulco.

There the unconscious naval officer was delivered to him, the return trip was made in 1 hour and 40 minutes and the emergency operation was successful despite the fact the appendix had burst.

KIDNAP TRIAL SEEKS DEATH-DEALING JURY

Execution in Chair Is Possible if Four Chicagoans Are Found Guilty.

Chicago, May 9 (A.P.).—Selection of a jury qualified for the death penalty and unprejudiced by the Lindbergh case was started in Criminal Court today to try four men charged with affiliation in a kidnaping syndicate extending virtually from coast to coast.

Defense attorneys asked each venireman if he had been influenced by news reports of the Lindbergh kidnaping or by scores of kidnapings for ransom in the Chicago district during recent years.

Only two veniremen were accepted, both tentatively. Eighty peremptory challenges are allowed the defense, 20 for each defendant, and attorneys said they believed selection of the jury probably would take a week.

In the courtroom was Mrs. Georgia Gecht, young wife of Dr. Max Gecht, one of the gang's alleged victims. The defendants were arrested after a member of the gang made an appointment with her. She kept it—taking a squad of police along.

The defendants, including Ward Swalwell, former assistant Cook County prosecutor, are being tried specifically for kidnaping Dr. Gecht. Authorities have charged, however, the syndicate to which they allegedly belonged terrorized many other victims into paying ransom.

Swalwell reiterated today that he intends to "tell the whole truth," but made it clear he would not plead guilty. Officials predicted Swalwell's story would be a revelation of the inner workings of the kidnaping racket.

The other defendants, John Pingera, William Thomas and Edward Pinnen, sat stolidly in court with downcast eyes. If convicted, the quartet faces maximum sentence of death in the electric chair.

Bonus as Farm Move Advocated in House

(Associated Press.)

A bill to couple the bonus with a back-to-the-farm movement for emergency unemployment relief was introduced yesterday by Representative McLeod (Republican), Michigan. McLeod said he suggested it "as a helpful solution to the deadlock in Congress over legislation to aid World War veterans."

It would provide for immediate payment of the face value of adjusted service certificates upon condition the veteran would farm 20 acres for not less than three years. The money would be raised through a $700,000,000 bond issue. He estimated 1,500,000 veterans and their families, a total of 6,000,000 persons, could thus be economically rehabilitated on lands at present unused. Federal land banks alone, he said, had acquired 1,812,033 acres through foreclosure.

Farm Pools Urged Of Mineral Rights

Land-Owners Are Warned to Seek Adequate Pay for Them.

(Associated Press.)

America's farmers were urged yesterday by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics to consider the question of pool development of mineral rights and were warned against disposing of them for an inadequate consideration.

Tentative suggestions for organization of cooperative pools were set forth by the bureau in a voluminous report to the Senate in answer to a resolution sponsored by Senator Thomas (Democrat), Oklahoma.

Authorities conferred with agreed that cooperative pooling held many advantages, the report said, but continued:

"A further study of the practices and possibilities of pooling organizations representing privately owned lands is necessary before the subject can be discussed with any finality."

The report also discussed several other systems of dealing with the lands. The bureau, however, did not make any specific recommendation.

Farm Land Bank Needs Are Cited

Only $25,000,000 Allowed for Loan Extensions, Bestor Says.

(Associated Press.)

Paul Bestor, chairman of the Farm Loan Board, yesterday notified Senator Cutting (Republican), New Mexico, that the recent addition of $125,000,000 to the Farm Land Banks' capital did not provide for "general extention of the time of payment of obligations due from borrowers."

This matter, Bestor said in a letter referring to the $25,000,000 of the fund set aside for extensions, was left "to the judgment of the directors of the banks." He added:

"I am sure you will agree that if the funds provided are to prove adequate to meet the situation faced by borrowers who need and merit favorable consideration the banks can not afford to grant extensions indiscriminately."

Tax Appeals Appointees Confirmed.

Wilkerson Defense By Loesch Scored

Labor Attorney Opposes His Confirmation Before Senate Group.

(Associated Press.)

Charges that Chicago gangsters have used organized labor as an instrument to prevent the confirmation of the nomination of Judge James H. Wilkerson to the Circuit Court were denied before a Senate committee yesterday by Donald Richberg, labor attorney.

Confirmation of Wilkerson, who sentenced Al Capone, was urged before the committee considering it by Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime Commission, who said his rejection would be a triumph for the gangster element.

Richberg said Loesch had "relieved himself of a vast amount of hearsay and fairy tales," which were "wholly unjustified," and that his testimony included "wild charges that could not be proved."

MRS. DORAN URGES VOTE WAR ON GANGS

Declares Women by Massing Strength at Polls Can Aid Fight on Rackets.

Women can actively combat gangsters and kidnapers by massing their strength at the polls to elect men pledged to better law observance and stronger enforcement of criminal law, Mrs. James M. Doran, wife of the commissioner of industrial alcohol, said yesterday in an address over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

"Kidnaping and other vicious forms of racketeering," she said, "come at this time as a direct challenge to every home in this land. The women, as representatives of our best American home life, must band together to wipe out these lawless practices.

"The gangster is thriving today, with apparent protection and impunity in cities which are classified correctly as strongholds of the bootleg liquor traffic. It is in these wet centers that kidnaping gangs and other racketeers have their headquarters, although their operations may extend into distant areas far beyond their immediate base of operations.

"In these wet strongholds, there is a large population of good citizens who observe most laws but many of whom wink at prohibition law violations. These citizens are sacrificing their own liberty and safety by making bootleg activities profitable."

Federal Radio Operation Termed Impracticable

(Associated Press.)

Government operation of radio broadcasting stations in this country, as proposed in Canada, was pronounced impracticable yesterday by H. A. LaFount, a member of the Radio Commission.

The commissioner told newspapermen the cost of the United States taking over privately owned stations was prohibitive and would require an outlay of $25,000,000 to $30,000,000. In addition, he continued, if radio were Government controlled it would be necessary to tax radio receiving sets at least $6 per set to pay for programs which approach in quality those given over privately owned tations.

Senate Stock Inquiry Hearings Reopen Soon

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Norbeck, of the Senate banking committee, indicated yesterday that hearings in the committee's investigation of the New York stock market would be resumed next week.

Investigators are now working on books of the exchange and brokerage houses, and Senator Norbeck said he believed there would be enough information to warrant resuming the open hearings.

had a night school at which bankers had to learn about this bill."

He spoke of many small banks as "inconsequential pawnshops," but asserted the failure of such institutions was as bad in its effect as the failure of large banks. Glass explained how his bill proposed to discontinue such small banks and put in their place the credit facilities of branch banks of the larger institutions.

"I would not advocate Nation-wide branch banking," he continued. "The system I would advocate would tend to break up Nation-wide branch banking with its failure to comprehend local needs and interests."

Senator Frederic C. Walcott (Republican), Connecticut, referred to the failure of the Bank of United States in New York, and said in that case there had been "a very noticeable abuse of security affiliates." He said every time the officers of that bank bought a parcel of real estate "a new affiliate was organized to hold that parcel."

Glass compared the losses from bank failures in the United States and Canada, saying that in the entire history of the Dominion only $13,000,000 had been lost by depositors through bank failures, while in the United States $5,500,000,000 had been lost in the last two years. He said Canada's branch banking system "was responsible for the more efficient operation there."

U. S. and Holland Debate Edibility of Rejected Lard

The United States and the government of the Netherlands are deep in the discussion of a most slippery diplomatic problem; to wit, when does grease become lard?

The Holland government valiantly stands behind those thrifty Dutch exporters who buy condemned American lard and after refining it and treating it to a sanitary process, dispose of it in the world's markets as "white grease."

This has aroused the State Department and the Acting Secretary of State William R. Castle, jr., in a letter to Norman Draper, Washington representative of the Institute of American Meat Packers, declared that representations had been made to the Dutch officials but that "to date these representations have been without effect."

The Dutch authorities have made an exhaustive study of the grease situation and reported that they found no indication on the American grease shipments to Holland that the origin of the grease was diseased animals. The American shipments merely stated that the "inedible product was from animals free from contagious disease." The other certificate mentions that the "inedible product had been rejected for food purposes under the meat inspection law of the United States."

The Dutch counter with the observation that none of these certificates indicates that the origin of the product was diseased hogs and that they can therefore proceed to "renovate" the American grease to simulate refined lard and sell it abroad as pure food product fit for human consumption.

HIGHER WHEAT PRICE DECLARED JUSTIFIED

Government Report of Small Yield Warrants 10-Cent Boost, Says Stone.

(United Press.)

Chairman James C. Stone of the Federal Farm Board said last night an increase of 10 cents or more a bushel in the price of wheat is justified by the Government estimate yesterday of a 440,781,000 bushel winter crop and private reports that the yield may be even smaller.

"We have reports of even greater damage to hard wheat than the Agriculture Department's report indicates," Mr. Stone said. "Kansas has had some rain, but now they are troubled with pests. Export demand is good."

Mr. Stone criticized speculators for the recent drop in wheat prices.

"Speculators were responsible for the recent drop which followed the April rise and I won't predict what they will do now," he said. "The price of wheat should go up, but I'm not predicting that it will, and, if it does, I'm not predicting how long the speculators will allow it to stay up.

Profit by Fluctuation.

"Remember, they make their money on fluctuation."

The Agriculture Department's estimate today was based on conditions as of May 1. It is 18,000,000 bushels below the estimate as of conditions on April 1, which was placed at 458,000,000 bushels.

Not only will this year's crop be far below the 787,465,000-bushel crop of last year, but it will also be a hundred million or more bushels below the 1919-1928 average, department figures show. The greatest slump will be in the Kansas crop, one of the lowest in many years.

Commenting on the prospects of the spring wheat crop, Mr. Stone said:

"There are a lot of people that do not believe the spring wheat acreage will be so near normal."

It was pointed out that even with a normal spring crop the 1932 wheat production will be 200,000,000 bushels or more short of the 1931 yield.

Will Continue to Sell.

The Farm Board's supply of actual wheat available for sale has been reduced to 100,000,000 bushels, Mr. Stone said. Of this amount the Red Cross has been authorized by Congress to draw 40,000,000 bushels to be distributed among the unemployed. Thus far the charity organization has called for only 25,000,000 bushels.

Mr. Stone declared the board would continue to sell wheat at the rate of 5,000,000 bushels a month in addition to any sales it can make to foreign governments. These sales abroad have slumped recently, due to the economic situation, and Mr. Stone believes the situation would be greatly helped if Congress would authorize credits abroad to aid in liquidation.

In addition to its wheat report yesterday, the Agriculture Department estimated a 39,464,000-bushel rye crop for 1932, which, though above the 32,746,000 bushels of last year, is only about 90 per cent of average. The department also predicted extremely short crops of potatoes and peaches in Southern States and reported low hay stocks on farms.

Women to Get Hearing Friday on World Court

(Associated Press.)

The House foreign affairs committee yesterday voted to give the feminine followers of Alice Paul a hearing Friday on their proposed amendment to the Linthicum resolution for a $50,000 appropriation for the World Court. Linthicum proposed that as "a practical matter" United States adherence to the World Court could be secured without subjecting the matter to the treaty ratification rule of two-thirds Senate majority by merely appropriating funds for such participation.

The feminists, who have been insisting under Miss Paul's leadership upon a woman's equality reservation to world court adherence, are seeking to tie to the $50,000 a proviso: "It shall first be shown to the satisfaction of the President that the code of law to be administered by the World Court does not contain inequalities based on sex."

Senate Asks for Data On Reserve Securities

(Associated Press.)

The Senate yesterday voted to ask the Federal Reserve Board to submit a statement showing by months Government securities bought, sold and held by the system between January, 1919, and April, 1932.

The action was taken without a record vote on a motion of Senator Howell (Republican), Nebraska, as part of his daily campaign to remind senators they have failed to take any constructive steps toward rehabilitating agriculture. He told the Senate this is "not all that is necessary to rehabilitate agriculture," asserting something must be done to assure a market for farm products.

SENATE DEFERS OTHER WORK TO SPEED BUDGET BALANCING

the plan to cut Federal salaries 11 per cent, with $1,000 exemption, while Representative Ramseyer espoused from the floor President Hoover's proposal for enforced Federal furloughs without pay.

Senator Jones personally favors the Hoover plan, not only because it would save an estimated $82,000,000, contrasted with the $67,000,000 claimed for the McDuffie plan, but because it might prevent wholesale discharge of Government workers, he said yesterday.

He was represented also as desiring substitution of the George bill giving the President almost unlimited power to reorganize bureaus for the House omnibus provision for veto by either chamber. He favors reviewing the field of veterans' legislation, with the possibility of reinserting the $48,000,000 or more in economies from curtailed compensation and hospitalization. The proposed Army-Navy merger likewise will come within the ken of the new economy committee, although Senator Jones considers savings under the proposal "problematical" and questions the advisability of the plan.

Personal Views.

He made clear these views expressed to newspapermen were altogether personal and in no way reflected the probable action of his subcommittee, which, he said, would write "every saving it could find" into the bill. However, he said he knew of no economy proposals likely to come before his subcommittee in addition to those considered by the House economy group.

Earlier, Secretary Mills on leaving the White House was asked if some new savings plan could be expected to come from the President, as a result of yesterday's conferences.

"If I answered that I would be telling something," the Treasury Secretary replied.

It was noted the President remained at his desk long after his four close advisers left the White House, and two of his secretaries stayed with him. He left barely in time to dress for a formal dinner engagement.

The Senate economy chairman declined to place a limit on the amount of retrenchment anticipated. The House economy committee aimed at $200,000,000 as a goal. Senator Jones said he favored saving $250,000,000 or even $300,000,000 if ways could be found to save it. Like the House economy group, he has solicited Mr. Hoover's economy plans.

Criticized by Shouse.

While hopes were still high for nonpartisan action, here and there was a note out of line with the general effort at harmony. Chairman Jouett Shouse, of the Democratic national executive committee, directed shafts of criticism at the President for his failure to invite Democrats to his week-end retrenchment conferences. He added:

"A question must occur to everybody as to the President's title to assail Congress for indecision and dilatoriness, when he himself has been the conspicuous offender in both regards for so long a time."

As the Senate prepared to take up the $1,000,000,000 revenue bill tomorrow, Senator James E. Watson, Republican floor leader, threw his support behind both tax and economy programs.

"I have no doubt that a dominant nonpartisan combination is ready to speed to conclusion the vital tax and economy measures," he said.

Action of the Senate appropriations committee yesterday in suspending all work on supply bills pending emergency consideration of the economy program left in abeyance the independent offices appropriations bill, which was taken up Monday, and the Navy, District and legislative supply bills, which have not yet been considered.

Other measures held up include Postoffice-Treasury appropriations, in which 10 per cent cuts have been ordered, and the State, Justice, Commerce and Labor supply bill, which went to conference yesterday.

Informal conferences were held yesterday between Representatives McDuffie and Ramseyer and the new Senate economy subcommittee members. Mr. McDuffie afterward said he had high hopes of the cooperative outcome and saw scant prospects of a deadlock. He discounted speculation that his economy committee is planning to bring out a new pay-cut bill in the near future.

CHURCHILL ADVISES DEBTS PLAN DELAY

Would Postpone Attempt at Solution Until After U. S. Elections.

London, May 10 (U.P.).—Urging postponement of any war debts solution until after the American elections, Winston Churchill interrupted debate in the House of Commons today with a ringing demand that Great Britain and the United States lead the world in a program for international monetary reform.

"I regard international action to arrest the fall in prices as the sole hope of averting a world crash compared to which everything we have suffered up to the present will be a mere nothing," the aggressive former chancellor of exchequer declared.

Churchill urged Britain to call an international conference to undertake world-wide reforms, pointing out that if Britain and the United States agreed on a course of action France and the other nations would quickly fall into line. Without such a conference, he said, the forthcoming reparations conference at Lausanne and the imperial conference at Lausanne might be foredoomed.

Cooperation Welcomed.

London, May 10 (A.P.).—Referring to Mr. Churchill's suggestion in Commons, Walter Elliot, financial secretary of the treasury, today said any attempt at friendly cooperation with those pursuing a policy similar to Great Britain's would be doubly welcomed by the government.

"To do anything we can with friendly nations inside and outside the British Empire," he said, "is one of the greatest aims of the present administration."

Mr. Churchill asked that the Elliot statement be officially communicated to Washington.

Mr. Elliot replied that he could not conceive of such a statement on behalf of the government not receiving attention on this or the other side of the ocean.

"There is peril around us," he said. "Peril even of a crash of Western civilization is nowise yet avoided, and dangers such as we have not yet known still lie before us. We are advancing experimentally. Let us advance together."

(Associated Press.)

Advocates of a world money conference were heartened yesterday by Winston Churchill's appeal in the British House of Commons for Anglo-American cooperation in calling such a meeting.

Almost coincidental with the Churchill speech, Senator Hayden (Democrat), Arizona, was making known at the White House that President Hoover had agreed to submit to various Government departments for study Hayden's resolution to accept foreign debt payments in silver.

The resolution would authorize the government to accept silver from foreign governments for the next four years at the rate of 66.6 cents an ounce, a little more than double the present price.

Chairman Borah of the Senate foreign relations committee, commenting on the Churchill speech, said if the United States were to call a money conference, the meeting would be attended by every important nation.

ENGLAND MAY FACE DRASTIC ECONOMIES

Chamberlain Warns Expense Cuts to Balance Budget Are Likely.

London, May 10 (A.P.).—A warning that still more drastic cuts in British national expenditures may be necessary was given tonight by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, in an address at the annual dinner of the Bankers Association.

Mr. Chamberlain went even further by saying that effective relief to the British taxpayer would involve "changes in national policy which would go far beyond anything that has yet been contemplated."

(The first drastic effort to meet an $850,000,000 deficit in the British budget was made in then Chancellor Philip Snowden's budget of 1931, when he boosted income taxes to 25 per cent of the net income of all income tax paying citizens. He also cut the dole 10 per cent and he increased the duty on beer by a penny a pint. Various governmental wages were cut and Chancellor Chamberlain, his successor, left these drastic policies in effect when he read the budget this year. Mr. Chamberlain thus was enabled to present a balanced budget on April 19.)

"There is a general agreement," the chancellor said in referring to the world situation, "that the primary cause of the trouble which affects the world is to be found in the catastrophic decline of world prices of the primary commodities.

"When we consider how we are to check this decline in prices we no longer find the same measure of agreement. So far we have been spared the full force of the effects of the downward trend of prices.

"It may be one of the objectives of the government to take such steps as they find possible to raise sterling prices to a level which will make it possible to carry on trading remuneratively. The full development of the policy can not take place without international action."

Hollywood, May 10 (A.P.).—Joe E. Brown, stage and screen comedian, is a patient in a hospital here as the result of a breakdown and the recrudescence of an old injury to his back. It was said he probably would be in the hospital about three weeks.

As an acrobat several years ago, Brown hurt his back, but had no extensive examination made at the time. Because of a long stretch of hard work on the stage and in the movies here, Brown's physician decided it was best for him to go to the hospital for a rest and treatment.

AKRON OUT OF TEXAS AFTER HARD BATTLE

vide is low enough to permit fairly easy crossing south of Bisbee, if the Akron follows that route.

From that section west, mountains dot the desert land of Arizona, but may be skirted at low altitude.

(Associated Press.)

The dirigible, which left Lakehurst, N. J., Sunday, carried fuel and supplies enough to remain aloft five days, Navy officials estimated.

The ship carried approximately 16,500 gallons of gasoline as fuel for the engines and sufficient to last 120 hours in the air at a sustained flight of 57½ miles an hour.

Over Picturesque Area.

Langtry, Tex., May 10 (A.P.).—When the naval airship Akron soared into the Pecos River region today she was traveling over a section of the old Spanish Southwest, once ruled by Judge Roy Bean, "the law west of the Pecos."

This border town was named by the self-appointed judge for the English actress, Lillie Langtry. Judge Bean had heard of the actress, and honored her with a town in his domain, over which he reigned for years, in the absence of legally constituted authority, according to his own ideas of justice. He was judge, jury and prosecutor, and law violators received little mercy at his hands.

Here is a typical Bean sentence, pronounced upon a Mexican murderer:

"Martinez—you are accused of killing your fellowman; yes, your superior—a man who is as far above you as rafters of heaven are above the mud sills of hell. Now we propose to take you to some remote spot, Martinez, far beyond the haunts of any man, and hang you by the neck until you are dead, dead, dead.

"Spring time will come, the birds will nest, but, Martinez, you will not be here. Take him away."

Akron Designer Praises Rosendahl's Handling

Akron, Ohio, May 10 (A.P.).—Dr. Karl Arnstein, designer of the U. S. S. Akron, had only unstinted praise tonight for Commander Charles E. Rosendahl for delaying the mountain crossing in Texas.

Dr. Arnstein, chief engineer and vice president of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, builder of the airship, said the Akron could stay aloft more than six days and six nights.

Actual dental treatment was given to 342 children by members of the society as part of the May Day health program, Dr. Harold W. Krogh, chairman of the committee in charge of this work, reported. Dr. Krogh said that practically all of these children will be treated throughout the year.

Dr. Arthur D. Weakley made a final report on the clinic held this spring at the Mayflower. Dr. John S. Brooks was elected to membership. Dr. Leo Winter, of New York City, nationally known oral surgeon, spoke on "Oral Surgery of Interest to the General Practice," illustrating his talk with lantern slides.

DOCTORS' VOTE BANS BIRTH-CONTROL QUIZ

New Orleans, May 10 (A.P.).—In secret session the house of delegates of the American Medical Association today voted unanimously against investigating birth control.

The vote was taken on a resolution presented yesterday by J. D. Brook, M. D., of Grandville, Mich. None of the discussion today was made public.

The resolution proposed appointment of a committee to spend one year considering whether the American Medical Association should attempt to make birth control standard legalized practice. It summarized the recent spread of birth control methods and suggested that the situation warrants action by the medical profession.

Treatment of Paralysis.

The house of delegates voted to continue a committee on veterans hospitalization. This committee is to discuss with the administrators of veterans' relief the opposition of the medical association to building of Federal hospitals to care for that portion of sick veterans whose illnesses have come about since the end of the war. The medical association holds that this class of illness should be cared for in general hospitals.

As many children recovered from infantile paralysis without serum as with it in the first big test of this remedy, the association was informed today.

Instead of scrapping the possibilities of relief from serum the report was given as opening a safe method of finding out more about the value of serum in this baffling disease.

The serum is made from the blood of human infantile paralysis convalescents or immunes, and was widely used in last summer's epidemic. Today was the first time the results of the big test have been reported to the medical profession at large.

Capital Woman Elected.

In the opening assembly of the entire association tonight the incoming president, Edward H. Cary, M. D., of Dallas, commended "the enlightened secular press" for its part in educating the public on medical questions, especially in its attitude toward quackery.

"Radio," he charged, "is being diverted and prostituted by designing and resourceful charlatans who enrich themselves at the expense of decency, truth and humanity."

Dr. Mary O'Malley, a clinical director of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D. C., today was named president-elect of the Medical Women's National Association, which is meeting here in connection with the American Medical Association. She will take office in 1933.

Jobless Rioters Damage Buildings in New Zealand

Wellington, New Zealand, May 10 (A.P.).—Rioters outside the House of Parliament today bombarded the building with bricks and stones, breaking 150 windows before the police took control. The trouble began when a parade of 4,000 unemployed reached the Parliament Square and a fight started.

Police said there were only about 50 men involved in the rioting. A number of these were arrested. Some storekeepers said that before the police came their windows had been smashed and their shelves looted.

The marchioness was noted as a sportswoman. Despite her age, she accomplished three years ago what was claimed to be the best stalking feat done by a woman, when she brought down six stags with six successive shots.

ALEXANDRIAN SLAIN IN HOUSEBOAT FIGHT

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 323.

Charles Poss, 26 years old, of 1318 Queen street, Alexandria, was shot and instantly killed yesterday afternoon by Bruce Lyons. The shooting occurred on a ark owned by Edward Dean, at what is known as the barge wharf at the foot of Wilkes street.

According to police report, Charles Poss and his two older brothers, Henry and Albert, went to Mr. Dean's ark about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon while Dean, Lyons and Leonard Bettis, who are fishing partners, were eating their supper. The Poss brothers ase said to have broken into the ark and attacked Dean and Bettis. Dean was knocked unconscious, and Bettis was knocked down, while Lyons ran into a back room and locked the door. The Poss brothers broke open the door and started after Lyons, who seized a shotgun belonging to Dean, which was standing in a corner and warned the men not to enter. They started for him and Lyons fired both barrels of the shotgun, both loads of bird shot striking Charles Poss in the throat, killing him instantly. Henry and Albert Poss then ran. Albert was arrested on the wharf trying to start his automobile. Shortly after Henry returned to the wharf and was arrested, the arrest of the men being made by Policemen Charles Curtis, E. R. Hicks, Joseph Butler, Frederick Baker and James Bayliss. Lyons, Dean and Bettis were also arrested. Poss is survived by his wife and four children, the oldest 6 years old.

Henry and Albert Poss, who live at 328 South Washington street with their father, Harry Poss, were charged with breaking and entering, while Lyons is charged with murder, all being held pending a coroner's inquest and a preliminary hearing in Police Court. Dean was released last night on bond of $1,000. Bettis had not been released late last night.

The alleged attack by the Poss brothers is said to have been the outcome of previous trouble between them and Dean.

Bradley was struck by an automobile driven by Allan A. Fordham, of 501 South Alfred street. He was taken to the hospital by No. 2 Rescue Squad, of the Alexandria Fire Department.

According to witnesses of the accident, Mr. Bradley had just alighted from a bus and was crossing the street at Masonic View Terrace and Russell road, when struck by Fordham's car which was going in the same direction as the bus.

Fordham was held on a charge of colliding with a person, and later released on bond of $5,000.

Missing Man Took Gun Along, Belief

Hunt Pressed for 21-Year-Old Worker Who Said He Was Going Fishing.

The disappearance of Joseph H. Hunter, 21, took a more sinister turn last night when relatives discovered the young man had apparently taken a pistol with him when he left his home at 2414 Fourteenth street northwest Sunday morning, ostensibly for a fishing trip to Chain Bridge or Piscataway.

Sam Bucolo, his brother-in-law, with whom the young man lived, said Hunter started out in his oldest clothes Sunday morning. Mrs. Bucolo asked him if he would not stop by the Cedar Hill Cemetery where his mother is buried, since it was Mother's Day. Mrs. Hunter ended her life eleven months ago by swallowing poison in Lincoln Park.

The youth hesitatingly agreed to go by the cemetery, Mr. Bucolo said. The first intimation the family had that Hunter was missing was when employes at a filling station where he worked came by the house Sunday night to ask why he had not reported for work. The missing youth has brown hair and gray eyes, weighs about 150 pounds and is five feet four inches tall. When he disappeared he was dressed in brown pants, blue coat, blue shirt and black shoes.

With George Brent, the actress was being filmed in a scene depicting a wheat field fire. The script called for the two to beat out the flames with damp sacks.

The fire got hotter than was expected and one of Miss Stanwyck's legs got a severe scorching. She returned to the set several hours later.

METHODISTS DEBATE BISHOP RETIREMENT

No Decision Reached on This or Area Elimination at Church Conference.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 10 (A.P.).—Two proposals, one for a reduction in the retirement age of bishops and one for elimination of five Episcopal areas, were debated at length, but left undecided at the Methodist General Conference today.

Action on the measure, which would make mandatory the retirement of a bishop at the quadrennial conference nearest his seventieth instead of his seventy-third birthday, was postponed until tomorrow after the longest debate of the present quadrennial session.

The action on area elimination appeared even farther removed from final conference consideration. A subcommittee pondered the advisability of abolishing the Detroit, Buffalo, Chattanooga, Helena, Mont., and Covington, Ky., Episcopal areas in the interests of efficiency and economy.

Such legislation probably would preclude the election of any new bishops at this conference. Three have been expected to be chosen.

Three Factions Develop.

The debate on the retirement proposal lasted almost two hours with the delegates divided into three camps. One group favored the present regulation providing retirement at 73, one the new proposal, and a third the 70-year age limit with the proviso that the general conference, on recommendation of the committee on episcopacy, might request a bishop retiring under the rule by three-fourths vote to continue in office four years more.

Opponents of the 70-year limit argued it would mean in many instances the retirement of a bishop when he was at the height of his spiritual powers and a great asset to the church. They said further that it would complicate the pension system of the church by causing a sharp increase in the number of pensioned bishops, and that it meant bowing down to the early retirement standards of the machine age against which the conference has protested.

Speakers also asserted that instead of the two men slated to retire under present rules in 1936, eight would be retired under the new legislation, necessitating a quadrennial increase of $72,000 in pension allowance.

Business Practice Cited.

Proponents of the new rule said they were activated by a desire to relieve the older bishops from the taxing labors and complex tasks of episcopal administration and to give them the opportunity to enjoy their aging years free from active episcopal duties. They cited business practice and said they were "not impressed by the argument of increased costs in the pension fund."

The third group offered their minority report as a compromise proposal, asserting it arranged both for the early retirement of bishops where necessary and the continuance of bishops whose vigor was unimpaired.

The retirement question has an immediate bearing on the transfer or reassignment of bishops. Bishops now approaching their seventieth birthday, delegates said, probably would not be assigned to more important posts because precedent has made it customary to name a man to such places only when he has more than one quadrennial to serve. The chance of Bishop Hughes, of Chicago, being named for the Washington, D. C., episcopate would be endangered by the lowered retirement age, they asserted.

Affects Filling Vacancies.

The area elimination program is also regarded as having far-reaching effect on the present and future constitution of the board of bishops. Of the five areas under consideration for elimination, only the Detroit episcopate has a bishop who is not expected to continue his duties. Bishop Thomas Nicholson, in ill health, has agreed to tender his resignation to the persent conference.

His retirement would leave five episcopates to be filled, and elimination of that number would obviate the necessity of naming any new bishops.

The commission on the revision of the ritual, in its report, recommended several changes in present service forms. Two were in the marriage service and one in the burial ritual.

In the marriage service, proposed eliminations are the phrase: "With all my worldly goods I thee endow," and the charge to the congregation: "If there be any here present who know any just cause of impediment why these persons should not now be so joined in holy matrimony, let them speak now, or forever hold their peace."

Phrases Held Obsolete.

The "earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust," sequence in the burial ritual also is proposed for elimination.

The commission gave as its reason that the phrases are "obsolete expressions and out of conformity with the modern Christian conception." The conference directed that the suggestions be referred to the committee on the state of the church for study and a report.

The conference passed legislation permitting the board of bishops to appoint a retired bishop to fill any vacancy caused by death, resignation or physical incapacity.

He said it would contain at least six items other than the barbecued beef.

TEMPLE DEDICATION PLANS COMPLETED

Alexandria Ready for Great Crowds at Washington Memorial Tomorrow.

Finishing touches were put yesterday on the plans for the parade to be held in Alexandria tomorrow in connection with the dedication of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Temple, which will start at 9:30 a. m.

The parade will form at Washington and Wilkes streets, proceed north on Washington street to Prince, east to Royal, north to King, and west on King to the memorial grounds, where it will disband. It is estimated the parade will reach the head of King street, near the viaduct, at 12:15 p. m., and the dedication ceremonies will begin at 1 o'clock, with the arrival of President Hoover and his party.

There will be a musical program by the United States Marine Band, the Boys' Band from the Masonic Home in Richmond, and the choir of the Seventh Masonic district of Pennsylvania. This program will be given from the platform of the reviewing stand, and will begin at noon.

City Manager Wallace Lawrence last night set at rest rumors that the Mount Vernon boulevard from Washington to Alexandria would be closed. This route will be open, as will U. S. Route, No. 1, and automobiles following either of these routes will turn west at Oronoco street and go direct to parking space at the Alexandria High School grounds. What is known as the upper road, or Mount Vernon avenue, will also be open, and convenient parking space for cars taking this route has also been provided. In all, there will be parking space for at least 5,000 automobiles.

Masonic Sessions Start.

The visiting Masons are arriving in Alexandria and Washington by every train, although the majority will not reach Alexandria until tomorrow morning.

The frigate Constitution will arrive in Alexandria today and will be open to inspection, as will three Coast Guard cutters and one submarine. These will all be anchored in the Potomac off Alexandria, and will fire a salute of 21 guns on the arrival of the President at 1 o'clock.

A session of the Masonic Service Association was held in the Memorial Temple yesterday, and a number of other Masonic bodies will meet there today and tomorrow.

One of the most spectacular features of the parade will be the participation of more than 3,000 Knights Templar, representing commanderies from all over the country. The unit will be headed by Percy W. Widener, of Los Angeles, supreme grand commander of Knights Templar in the United States. The Virginia Knights will be headed by James H. Price, grand commander of the grand commandery of Virginia, and Lieutenant Governor of Virginia.

Washington Relics to Be Used.

While most of the Knights Templar in the parade will be from Virginia, that grand commandery being in conclave now, there will be five units from the District of Columbia and five from Maryland. Pennsylvania and West Virginia will also be represented, West Virginia having a unit from Martinsburg and another from Charles Town, including the West Virginia Templars Band.

Marines, soldiers, sailors and Coast Guardsmen, numbering approximately 5,000, will be in the parade, and practically every Masonic dignitary in the United States will participate.

Many relics connected with the Masonic life of Washington will be brought to Alexandria for the dedication, and the special ritual will provide for their introduction into the ceremonies. The Bible used at the initiation of Washington in Fredericksburg, the trowel used by him in laying the corner stone of the Capitol in Washington, a silver urn made by Paul Revere, containing a lock of Washington's hair, the Bible upon which he took the oath of office as first President of the United States in New York, and other relics of interest and value will be shown.

Grand Masters Session Elects Keiper Secretary

E. S. C. Baker, grand master of South Carolina, yesterday was selected chairman of the Conference of Grand Masters of Masons, meeting at the Willard Hotel. J. Claude Keiper, grand secretary of the District of Columbia, was named secretary of the conference, which concluded its session here yesterday.

Followng the morning session yesterday, the conference went en masse to the White House, where the members were greeted by President Hoover. In the evening a grand banquet was held at the Willard, at which the Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, was the principal speaker. Dr. Sizoo extolled the contributions of Masonry to civilization and was applauded enthusiastically.

Among the topics discussed by the conference were Masonic relief, educational programs with new developments therein, and service and employment. No action was taken by the body, which is of purely deliberative character, each grand master having exclusive jurisdiction in his own State.

All of the 48 States of the Union, Porto Rico, Canada and the District of Columbia were represented at the conference. Grand Master Reuben A. Bogley, of the District of Columbia, delivered the address of welcome.

Additional Ballroom Is Engaged by Masons

In anticipation of an overflow crowd, the Circle Club of Master Masons, an organization composed of employes of the District, yesterday engaged an additional ballroom in the Willard Hotel for their official reception and ball to officers and delegates to the convention of the National League of Masonic Clubs, to be held tomorrow night.

Prominent civic, Government and Masonic officials will be honor guests at the affair. Scheduled to be the highlight of the Masonic Bicenntenial activities, a program, featuring the Vincent Lopez Club Orchestra, is expected to attract hundreds of visitors as well as local Masons and their families.

Alleged Kidnaper to Be Deported.

Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, May 10 (A.P.).—Marshal De Putti, alias John Long, alias Martin Depew, who was arrested here last month in connection with the kidnaping of Mrs. Nell Donnelly, of Kansas City, will be deported to New York, the immigration authorities announced today. He will sail Friday on the steamer West Cawthon.

HIGH MASONIC GROUP RECEIVED BY PRESIDENT

Masonic Clubs to Open Convention Here Today

More Than 500 Delegates Are Expected to Attend First Session at Willard; Reichelderfer to Extend Welcome; Doak Principal Speaker.

More than 500 delegates from Masonic clubs all over the Nation will assemble at the Willard Hotel today for the twenty-seventh annual convention of the National League of Masonic Clubs. Most of the delegates, many accompanied by their families, had arrived and registered last night, and by gavel time today the full contingent of delegates is expected.

The first session of the convention will begin at 10 o'clock this morning and will be called to order by Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries. The principal address will be delivered by Secretary of Labor William N. Doak.

The Masonic Club representatives will be welcomed to the city in a speech by Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the District of Columbia Board of Commissioners. Walter F. Tilswell, national president of the organization, will make the responding address. An address of greeting to the visiting Masons also will be delivered by Reuben A. Bogley, grand master of Masons of the District of Columbia.

Immediately after the open first session an executive session will be held, after which there will be a recess. In the afternoon another business session will take place.

A group of delegates totaling more than 100 yesterday journeyed to Arlington National Cemetery, where a wreath was laid upon the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Tomorrow the entire convention group will go to Alexandria to take part in the parade and other ceremonies incident to the dedication of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial there.

The third session of the Masonic clubs will be held at the Willard on Thursday. At 12:30 Thursday the convention group will go to the White House to be photographed on the lawn with President Hoover. The concluding session of the convention will be held Saturday in the auditorium of the memorial at Alexandria, beginning at 9 a. m.

WET CANDIDATES OBTAIN BIG LEAD IN OHIO'S VOTING

Because of the length of the ballots, clogged with county candidates, the count was progressing very slowly. A heavy vote was cast. No figures were available shortly before midnight on the presidential preference contests, and the meager returns from districts where there were contests for national convention delegates indicated that the Hoover candidates and those pledged to Gov. George White, "favorite son" Democratic presidential candidate, would win easily.

Smith Candidates Lose.

Six delegate candidates favoring Al Smith as the Democratic presidential candidate were badly beaten in Cleveland, judged by early returns, by the regular Democratic slate pledged to Gov. George White. One delegate, pledged to a dummy candidate enthusiastic for Newton D. Baker, assumed a narrow lead in first returns in the Akron district.

There also were two candidates in Toledo opposing the White slate, but they were running behind and on the face of early returns the governor apparently was assured of at least 55 of the 56 Democratic delegates who will have 52 votes in the national convention. Smith and Baker were not candidates for delegates.

Congressional Races.

Benjamin F. Reading, indorsed by the Antisaloon League, was running fifth in a field of seven candidates for the Republican nomination for the two representatives at large, while on the Democratic ticket, Charles E. Lukens, indorsed by the dry organization, was running eighth in a field of eleven for the Democratic representative at large positions.

The leaders in the Republican Congress-at-large race in 480 precincts out of 8,701 in the State were George H. Bender, 5,316; Thomas J. Herbert, 5,011; Percy Tetlow, 4,307; L. T. Palmer, 4,126; Benjamin F. Reading, 3,965. The leaders in the Congress-at-large race on the Democrat ticket in 478 precincts were: Charles V. Truax, 3,281; Stephen M. Young, 3,178; Paul F. Dye, 2,161; Louis M. Day, 1,726; Gordon Hayes, 1,517; Arthur D. Davis, 1,362; Grover Cleveland Bell, 1,300; Charles E. Lukens, 1,016.

Unopposed Nominees.

First District—*John B. Hollister (Republican), Cincinnati; Edward H. Brink (Democrat), Cincinnati.

Second District—*William E. Hess (Republican), Cincinnati; Edward F. Alexander (Democrat), Cincinnati.

Fourth District — *John L. Cable (Republican), Lima.

Fifth District—*Frank C. Kniffen (Democrat), Napoleon.

Sixth District — *James G. Polk (Democrat), Hillsboro.

Tenth District—Charles M. Hogan (Democrat), Wellston.

Twelfth District—*Arthur P. Lamneck (Democrat), Columbus.

Thirteenth District—*William L. Feisinger (Democrat), Sandusky.

Fourteenth District—Don W. Harter (Democrat), Akron.

Twentieth District—(No Republican candidate.) *Martin L. Sweeney, Cleveland.

Roosevelt Leads Murray.

Charleston, W. Va., May 10 (A.P.) Trickling returns from the West Virginia primary tonight gave Gov. Roosevelt of New York a commanding lead over Gov. Murray of Oklahoma, in the Democratic presidential preference contest.

Seventy-seven of the State's 2,342 precincts for President gave Murray, 569; Roosevelt, 6,076.

The preference primary is not binding on delegates to the convention and most of the candidates are pledged to Roosevelt.

In the congressional races, 20 out of 377 precincts gave Jennings Randolph 731 to 301 for Joe Gibson in the Second District Democratic contest. Twelve out of 340 in the Fifth District showed Crawford leading with 581 on the Democratic side. Kee, his nearest opponent, had 457. Shott was ahead, 1,924 to 82 to Iafolla, on the Republican side.

Score Hurt in Fight.

Counting boards labored against the obstacles of a heavy vote and long ballots. Polling places far in the mountain regions were slow in making returns.

Returns from three precincts from his home county of Mingo placed M. Z. White in the lead in the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. The three Mingo precincts gave White 1,478 votes, bringing his total to 2,079, with 19 precincts reported. T. C. Townsend had a total of 933.

Twenty-five precincts in the Democratic race for governor showed H. G. Kump ahead in a field of six. Herold had 68; Hodges, 290; Kump, 1,066; McCullough, 204; Taylor, 454, and Wilkinson, 365.

The only major disorder occurred in Smithfield, Wetzel County, where more than a score were cut and bruised in a free-for-all fight.

ALL OF CHEVY CHASE FIREMEN SUSPENDED

Mrs. Charlotte B. Randall, of Chevy Chase.

The volunteer firemen declare that they had been given permission on March 5 by the executive committee to accept the table and to install it in the recreation hall, but that they had been unable to do so because one of the paid firemen had a work bench in the room, which they declared was not being used for the benefit of the fire department but for personal work. They removed the bench and installed their pool table, they said, in accordance with the approval granted by the board.

Chief William F. Lanahan objected to their having removed the work bench without his permission, they said. The volunteers declare the disciplinary action is unfair to them since the board had given them permission to install the pool table.

Members of the executive committee said last night that all firemen who prove they were not guilty of unbecoming conduct will be returned to duty and to full privileges, but that the board intends to see that discipline is maintained in the department.

The paid firemen are working in two shifts of three men each. All are retired. District firemen with considerable firefighting experience, but residents of the section, declare that they do not believe three men are adequate protection of the valuable estates and properties in that area.

CASH BONUS GROUP SEEKS NEW HEARING

Appeal Made to House Rules Body to Reverse Verdict of Ways and Means.

(Associated Press.)

Cash bonus sponsors appealed the adverse decision of the ways and means committee to the powerful House rules committee.

A resolution seeking to give his bill a special legislative status was introduced by Representative Patman (Democrat), Texas. Approval of his resolution by the rules committee was the only hope of obtaining a House vote before the political conventions in June.

Mr. Patman asked a hearing on his resolution and Chairman Pou said the request would be considered by the rules committee today.

In a joint statement, Mr. Patman and Representative Connery (Democrat), Massachusetts; Rankin (Democrat), Mississippi, and Kvale (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, said:

"There is no chance of prosperity returning until a circulating medium reaches the masses. Inflated debts can not be paid on deflated prices.

"Although we are not advocating it, there is considerable support in and out of Congress in favor of the Government purchasing sufficient silver to pay the certificates or paying part of it in silver and the remainder by an expansion on the gold basis."

Representative Bankhead (Democrat), Alabama, a member of the rules committee, said he was aware of no precedent for granting a rule on legislation rejected by another committee.

HOOVER FOR "LITTLE FELLOW," SAYS HYDE

Agriculture Chief Explains That President's Policies Help Whole Nation.

Nashville, Tenn., May 10 (A.P.).—Arthur Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, defended President Hoover's economic program today and assailed the Democratic House of Representatives, which, he said, has demonstrated the "utter folly" of entrusting the Democratic party with "power of responsibility for governing the country."

Speaking to the State Republican convention, he said: "The statement is frequently made that the President's program for recovery provides ample assistance for banks, railroads and corporations, but none for 'the little fellow.' Such statements are utterly unfounded.

"Those who criticize the President's economy program should pause to remember, first, that all such institutions are required to put up adequate security and pay 5½ to 6 per cent interest, and, second, that we are living not in a state of nature, but in an organized society in which such institutions render a vital service to every one of us.

"If we permit our banks to fail, credit will dry up and business will stop. If we permit our railroads to fail, farms also will fail. This is so perfectly obvious that even slight reflection will demonstrate the President's program to be primarily for 'the little fellow' and an answer to his needs."

He described President Hoover as the "servant of no organization less than the whole Nation" and as "the present and the next President of the United States."

Fireman Asks Police To Find Lost Helmet

If you happen to see a stray fireman's helmet, Private Sidney G. Carter, of No. 3 Engine Company, would like to know about it. Private Carter had the helmet when he answered an alarm at 4 a. m. to a fire at Fourteenth and K streets northwest Sunday morning.

He put it aside for a moment at the height of the blaze and when the fire was out the helmet was gone. He called for police aid yesterday. Private Carter is inclined to blame souvenir hunters, and the fireman feels he can't afford to spend $7 for a new one to satisfy souvenir fiends.

Police Seek Trace Of Man and 3 Girls

Gallinger Hospital Patient Flees; Trio Escapes Training School.

Police last night broadcast a lookout for four prisoners, three of them girls under 18 years of age and the fourth a man charged with violating the Harrison narcotic act who was being held at Gallinger Hospital for mental observation.

The girls, Thelma Thornton, 17; Thelma Walker, 16, and Mildred Ausby, 17, walked out on authorities of the National Training School for Girls at Muirkirk, Md., yesterday afternoon.

The man, Albert Gleason, 38 years old, of 5475 Connecticut avenue northwest, is believed to have picked the lock on his room at Gallinger Hospital and to have slipped down a corridor to freedom. Hospital authorities had not determined the exact method of his escape. Police said Gleason was a shell-shocked war veteran who had been arrested on the narcotic charge April 11 and taken to the District Jail. He was transferred to the hospital a short time later.

Girl, 5, Is Badly Hurt When Struck by Auto

A 5-year-old girl was in an undetermined condition at Casualty Hospital last night with a concussion of the brain, lacerated scalp and contusions of the leg and thigh, suffered when she was knocked down by an automobile on Potomac avenue southeast, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets.

Ruth Sweeney, of 1113 Potomac avenue, was struck by an automobile operated west on Potomac avenue by John Catlinger, 35 years old, of 1224 Eleventh street southeast, according to police reports.

Ridenour PaysContempt Fine at Alimony Hearing

F. Berton Ridenour, Washington builder, yesterday was adjudged in contempt of court by Judge Robert B. Peter in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville for failure to pay back alimony of $1,100 to his wife, Mrs. J. Blanche Wright Ridenour, of Chevy Chase, Md.

The judge accepted Ridenour's offer to pay $800 of the back alimony and imposed a fine of $20. The wife is represented by the law firm of Peter & Simpson, of Rockville.

Roosevelt Is Gratified Over Success in Arizona

Warm Springs, Ga., May 10 (A.P.). Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's success in the Arizona Democratic convention yesterday was particularly pleasing to members of the Roosevelt party because, they contended today, it was a setback to former Gov. Smith's friends who hoped for an uninstructed delegation.

Arizona, committing six votes to Roosevelt, broke a 50-year precedent of unpledged delegations, it was said at the Roosevelt cottage.

COMPROMISE SLATE DRAWN IN NEW YORK

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—Four outstanding New York Democrats were linked together today in political prognostication which came on the heels of Franklin D. Roosevelt's victories in Arizona and Wyoming.

Mr. Roosevelt's campaign managers are counting on the votes of at least half of New York State's 94 delegates, but the Tammany Hall support, under the line-up being suggested in some quarters might be thrown to the following candidates:

The name of Owen D. Young, repeatedly mentioned as a "dark horse" if the national convention deadlocks, was brought up again when it was learned he, Smith and John W. Davis, 1924 standard bearer, will be joint guests of honor at a Democratic dinner May 17.

Although it was stated officially the dinner had been called solely in connection with the Democratic victory fund campaign, friends of Mr. Young were quoted as saying they are prepared to present Young's name to the convention if Mr. Roosevelt fails to get the 770 votes necessary for nomination.

While speculation continued as to whether there might be any preconvention political significance to the Young-Smith-Davis gathering, Roosevelt's close associates pointed out they had not received invitations.

At Smith's office the suggestion the "Happy Warrior" was planning to throw his convention strength to Young drew an assertion that Smith is still a candidate for the nomination himself and has planned no "deals."

MERRIAM IS HEARD AT ARTS GATHERING

Appreciation of Nature Is Discussed by Carnegie Institution Head.

"Arts and Nature" was the general subject of discussion last night at the meeting of the twenty-third annual convention of the American Federation of Arts now in session at the Mayflower Hotel.

Thomas Munro, curator of education, the Cleveland Museum of Art, delivered the principal address on "The Esthetic Approach to Nature."

"Elements Involved in Appreciation of Nature" was the topic of a talk by John C. Merriam, president of the Carnegie Institution.

Today's meetings will cover "Art and Education" in the morning sessions and "The Future Program of the Federation" in the afternoon. A closing dinner will be held tonight. "Art and Life" will be discussed.

The main feature of this evening's program will be an address, "Lumia, the Eighth Fine Art," by Thomas Wilfred, president of the Art Institute of Light. Mr. Wilfred's talk will be followed by the playing of a group of silent visual compositions on the Clavilux.

At yesterday's meetings members of the federation lauded the artistic development of the parks system of Washington and urged that support be given to carry it to completion.

Tennessee Backs Hoover for 1932

G.O.P. Commends Policies and Stands Against Dry Law Change.

Nashville, Tenn., May 10 (U.P.).—After devoting the first twelve sections of party principle pronouncements to the commendation of President Hoover and his administration, advocation of stricter banking rules, tax revisions, State economies and reforms, the Republican State convention today took an open stand against all revision of Federal and State prohibition laws.

President Hoover was commended for "uncomplaining patience and industry," his opponents condemned for "derision, abuse and false and malicious attacks," and delegates to the Republican national convention in Chicago were instructed to cast their 24 votes for his nomination.

Undiminished confidence in the ability of the Amercan people for self-government was expressed by the platform, which deplored the fact that "millions of dollars of public money have been wasted or stolen, a mountainous debt piled up, beyond the power of this generation to pay, and the credit of the State impaired."

Viscount Rothermere Praises U. S.

London, May 10 (A.P.).—Under the heading "The United States Is All Right," the Daily Mail will publish tomorrow an article by Viscount Rothermere in which the famous publisher predicts an early end to the present economic conditions in America and pays glowing tribute to the character of the American people.

FALL ASSERTS TIME WILL VINDICATE HIM

Three Rivers, N. Mex., May 10 (A.P.).—Time will vindicate the naval oil reserve plans he made while Secretary of the Interior, Albert B. Fall declared at his ranch home here after his release yesterday from the New Mexico State Penitentiary.

Propped up in an old-fashioned four-post bed, he received a reporter and made his first public utterance in nearly a year.

Smoking and chewing a cigar, which he used as a pointer to emphasize his remarks, he discussed his prison life with a tinge of humor and went over the past in great details.

"If the Chinese and Japanese situation had continued and we had become involved, we would have found out, damned soon, the value of the Honolulu oil base I championed," Fall said.

Heed War Scare, He Said.

"We need something like that war scare to wake us up. We let everybody in ahead of us and then we act. My children and my grandchildren will live to see the day when my judgment will be vindicated."

Referring to his experience in the New Mexico prison, where he served ten months and 19 days of a year and a day sentence for accepting a bribe from Edward L. Doheny in connection with leases of the naval oil reserve, Fall said:

"There were many funny things about my stay there. I was to be treated like all other Federal prisoners. There was only one other Federal prisoner—a Navajo serving a sentence for horse stealing.

"I have paid my debt to society and I'm glad to be out; glad to be with my family again. Everything will come out in the washing. Let time wipe out the bitterness and differences."

Compliments Warden Swope.

Fall paid a compliment to Warden Swope, whom he referred to as a fine man and made a sarcastic thrust at the warden's refusal to release him until the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia had amended his commitment in reference to the fine of $100,000 imposed upon him in connection with his prison sentence.

"It amused me because it was embarrassing to the warden to have me there and he would like to have gotten ride of me, but at the last he didn't seem to want to let me go."

Mrs. Fall, interrupting the interview, revealed she had telephoned her lawyer in Washington Monday in an effort to clear up the question concerning her husband's release.

CHARLES W. CHURCH, LUMBER MAN, DEAD

Southwest Dealer Native of District; Veteran in Masonic Circles.

Charles W. Church, member of the firm of W. A. H. Church Co., lumber dealers, and a native of Washington, died yesterday at his home at 300 Eleventh street southwest after a short illness. He was 63 years old.

Mr. Church was well known in Southwest business circles. He was the son of Charles Benjamin and Mathilda Harris Church. His father was president of the Independent Ice Co.

As a young man, Mr. Church went to Maine, where he served for several years as paymaster for the Independent Ice Co.'s northern office. He returned to Washington about 1900 when he became affiliated with the Depue & Church Feed Co. Later he entered the lumber firm with his brother, who died about a year ago.

Mr. Church was one of the oldest Masons in the city and was connected with Dawson Lodge. He was active in the Westminster Memorial Church, where funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be in Congressional Cemetery.

Surviving him are a son, Louis Melville Church; a sister, Mrs. L. S. Depue, and four grandchildren.

STOP EVICTIONS!

It's up to YOU to do it. As a rule, persons are honest and ready to pay their obligations. Most people will work hard to meet their bills. But they must have work to earn income.

YOU can help those who are eager to work to earn rent and food and clothing for their dear ones.

A bit of painting done here, a room papered there, a basement whitewashed, a garden dug up, a bit of sewing, oh, ever so many little jobs to be hired done, would help immensely.

The couple of dollars you spend that way when added to the few dollars spent by thousands of others make the difference between prosperity and depression in a city like Washington.

Grand Jury Indicts 3 Men for Murder

Three colored men were indicted for first degree murder yesterday by the District grand jury. They are Chester Cay, Ryland Duprey and Ernest Veney.

Cay was indicted for beating to death Ethel Robinson, colored, April 18, at 2716 N street northwest. He used a "blunt instrument," the grand jury said. Duprey allegedly shot and killed Booker T. Michet, colored, in a fight over 10 cents, on April 16. The charge against Veney is that he shot fatally Walter Coates, colored, April 17.

Hacker Reports Theft Of $7 by Gun Wielder

A lone robber last night held up and robbed George Swanson, taxicab driver, of 1429 Twenty-first street northwest, of $7.50.

Swanson told police a colored man hailed his cab at Fourth and New York avenue northwest and ordered him to drive to Twenty-second and H streets northwest. In the 2200 block of H street the man pulled a pistol and took the money away from him.

Suit on Note to Husband Brings Widow Verdict

A jury in the court of Justice Jennings Bailey, in the District Supreme Court, yesterday was ordered to bring in a directed verdict for $2,500 in favor of Mrs. Roy S. Gary, widow of Walker L. Gary, plumbing contractor. The defendant was Gustav G. Loehler.

Mrs. Gary sued on a note for that amount. Through her attorney, Godfrey L. Munter, she said she found the note in her husband's effects after his death. Loehler, whose name appeared as the maker of the note, tried to show that there was "no consideration" for it, but Justice Bailey held that testimony of that character from Loehler would not be proper since the other party to the incident was dead and could not testify.

DISTRICT'S BUDGET HEARINGS DELAYED

Senate Group Now Slated to Take Up Appropriations Bill on Monday.

Hearings on the $39,913,810 District appropriations bill, scheduled for tomorrow, were postponed yesterday until Monday by Senator Hiram Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, chairman of the Senate District appropriations subcommittee.

Chairman Bingham and three other members of his subcommittee, were named to the new Senate economy subcommittee. Postponement, it was said, is in line with suspended consideration of all appropriation bills to speed retrenchment negotiations.

The District Commissioners and District Auditor Daniel J. Donovan have been asked to appear before the subcommittee Monday. They will defend the original $45,000,000 estimates submitted to the House by the Budget Bureau.

Later representative civic groups will either be heard or permitted to submit statements. Senator Bingham has received numerous protests in advance against the $4,173,107 reductions made under budget estimates by the House.

Senator Bingham will lay down no hard and fast rules for review of the House action. Chief among the changes his committee will be asked to make in the bill will be the appropriation of $600,000 toward unemployment relief, in line with supplemental budget estimates.

TEMPLE DEDICATION PLANS COMPLETED

Alexandria Ready for Great Crowds at Washington Memorial Tomorrow.

Finishing touches were put yesterday on the plans for the parade to be held in Alexandria tomorrow in connection with the dedication of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Temple, which will start at 9:30 a. m.

The parade will form at Washington and Wilkes streets, proceed north on Washington street to Prince, east to Royal, north to King, and west on King to the memorial grounds, where it will disband. It is estimated the parade will reach the head of King street, near the viaduct, at 12:15 p. m., and the dedication ceremonies will begin at 1 o'clock, with the arrival of President Hoover and his party.

There will be a musical program by the United States Marine Band, the Boys' Band from the Masonic Home in Richmond, and the choir of the Seventh Masonic district of Pennsylvania. This program will be given from the platform of the reviewing stand, and will begin at noon.

City Manager Wallace Lawrence last night set at rest rumors that the Mount Vernon boulevard from Washington to Alexandria would be closed. This route will be open, as will U. S. Route, No. 1, and automobiles following either of these routes will turn west at Oronoco street and go direct to parking space at the Alexandria High School grounds. What is known as the upper road, or Mount Vernon avenue, will also be open, and convenient parking space for cars taking this route has also been provided. In all, there will be parking space for at least 5,000 automobiles.

Masonic Sessions Start.

The visiting Masons are arriving in Alexandria and Washington by every train, although the majority will not reach Alexandria until tomorrow morning.

The frigate Constitution will arrive in Alexandria today and will be open to inspection, as will three Coast Guard cutters and one submarine. These will all be anchored in the Potomac off Alexandria, and will fire a salute of 21 guns on the arrival of the President at 1 o'clock.

A session of the Masonic Service Association was held in the Memorial Temple yesterday, and a number of other Masonic bodies will meet there today and tomorrow.

One of the most spectacular features of the parade will be the participation of more than 3,000 Knights Templar, representing commanderies from all over the country. The unit will be headed by Percy W. Widener, of Los Angeles, supreme grand commander of Knights Templar in the United States. The Virginia Knights will be headed by James H. Price, grand commander of the grand commandery of Virginia, and Lieutenant Governor of Virginia.

Washington Relics to Be Used.

While most of the Knights Templar in the parade will be from Virginia, that grand commandery being in conclave now, there will be five units from the District of Columbia and five from Maryland. Pennsylvania and West Virginia will also be represented, West Virginia having a unit from Martinsburg and another from Charles Town, including the West Virginia Templars Band.

Marines, soldiers, sailors and Coast Guardsmen, numbering approximately 5,000, will be in the parade, and practically every Masonic dignitary in the United States will participate.

Many relics connected with the Masonic life of Washington will be brought to Alexandria for the dedication, and the special ritual will provide for their introduction into the ceremonies. The Bible used at the initiation of Washington in Fredericksburg, the trowel used by him in laying the corner stone of the Capitol in Washington, a silver urn made by Paul Revere, containing a lock of Washington's hair, the Bible upon which he took the oath of office as first President of the United States in New York, and other relics of interest and value will be shown.

Grand Masters Session Elects Keiper Secretary

E. S. C. Baker, grand master of South Carolina, yesterday was selected chairman of the Conference of Grand Masters of Masons, meeting at the Willard Hotel. J. Claude Keiper, grand secretary of the District of Columbia, was named secretary of the conference, which concluded its session here yesterday.

Followng the morning session yesterday, the conference went en masse to the White House, where the members were greeted by President Hoover. In the evening a grand banquet was held at the Willard, at which the Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, was the principal speaker. Dr. Sizoo extolled the contributions of Masonry to civilization and was applauded enthusiastically.

Among the topics discussed by the conference were Masonic relief, educational programs with new developments therein, and service and employment. No action was taken by the body, which is of purely deliberative character, each grand master having exclusive jurisdiction in his own State.

All of the 48 States of the Union, Porto Rico, Canada and the District of Columbia were represented at the conference. Grand Master Reuben A. Bogley, of the District of Columbia, delivered the address of welcome.

Additional Ballroom Is Engaged by Masons

In anticipation of an overflow crowd, the Circle Club of Master Masons, an organization composed of employes of the District, yesterday engaged an additional ballroom in the Willard Hotel for their official reception and ball to officers and delegates to the convention of the National League of Masonic Clubs, to be held tomorrow night.

Prominent civic, Government and Masonic officials will be honor guests at the affair. Scheduled to be the highlight of the Masonic Bicenntenial activities, a program, featuring the Vincent Lopez Club Orchestra, is expected to attract hundreds of visitors as well as local Masons and their families.

Alleged Kidnaper to Be Deported.

Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, May 10 (A.P.).—Marshal De Futti, alias John Long, alias Martin Depew, who was arrested here last month in connection with the kidnaping of Mrs. Nell Donnelly, of Kansas City, will be deported to New York, the immigration authorities announced today. He will sail Friday on the steamer West Cawthon.

More than 500 delegates from Masonic clubs all over the Nation will assemble at the Willard Hotel today for the twenty-seventh annual convention of the National League of Masonic Clubs. The first session of the convention will begin at 10 o'clock this morning and will be called to order by Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries. The principal address will be delivered by Secretary of Labor William N. Doak.

The Masonic Club representatives will be welcomed to the city in a speech by Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the District of Columbia Board of Commissioners. Walter F. The third session of the Masonic clubs will be held at the Willard on Thursday. At 12:30 Thursday the convention group will go to the White House to be photographed on the lawn with President Hoover. The concluding session of the convention will be held Saturday in the auditorium of the memorial at Alexandria, beginning at 9 a. m.

WET CANDIDATES OBTAIN BIG LEAD IN OHIO'S VOTING

Because of the length of the ballots, clogged with county candidates, the count was progressing very slowly. A heavy vote was cast. No figures were available shortly before midnight on the presidential preference contests, and the meager returns from districts where there were contests for national convention delegates indicated that the Hoover candidates and those pledged to Gov. George White, "favorite son" Democratic presidential candidate, would win easily.

Smith Candidates Lose.

Six delegate candidates favoring Al Smith as the Democratic presidential candidate were badly beaten in Cleveland, judged by early returns, by the regular Democratic slate pledged to Gov. George White. One delegate, pledged to a dummy candidate enthusiastic for Newton D. Baker, assumed a narrow lead in first returns in the Akron district.

There also were two candidates in Toledo opposing the White slate, but they were running behind and on the face of early returns the governor apparently was assured of at least 55 of the 56 Democratic delegates who will have 52 votes in the national convention. Smith and Baker were not candidates for delegates.

Congressional Races.

Benjamin F. Reading, indorsed by the Antisaloon League, was running fifth in a field of seven candidates for the Republican nomination for the two representatives at large, while on the Democratic ticket, Charles E. Lukens, indorsed by the dry organization, was running eighth in a field of eleven for the Democratic representative at large positions.

The leaders in the Republican Congress-at-large race in 480 precincts out of 8,701 in the State were George H. Bender, 5,316; Thomas J. Herbert, 5,011; Percy Tetlow, 4,307; L. T. Palmer, 4,126; Benjamin F. Reading, 3,965. The leaders in the Congress-at-large race on the Democrat ticket in 478 precincts were: Charles V. Truax, 3,281; Stephen M. Young, 3,178; Paul F. Dye, 2,161; Louis M. Day, 1,726; Gordon Hayes, 1,517; Arthur D. Davis, 1,362; Grover Cleveland Bell, 1,300; Charles E. Lukens, 1,016.

Unopposed Nominees.

Twentieth District—(No Republican candidate.) *Martin L. Sweeney, Cleveland.

Roosevelt Leads Murray.

Charleston, W. Va., May 10 (A.P.) Trickling returns from the West Virginia primary tonight gave Gov. Roosevelt of New York a commanding lead over Gov. Murray of Oklahoma, in the Democratic presidential preference contest.

Seventy-seven of the State's 2,342 precincts for President gave Murray, 569; Roosevelt, 6,076.

The preference primary is not binding on delegates to the convention and most of the candidates are pledged to Roosevelt.

In the congressional races, 20 out of 377 precincts gave Jennings Randolph 731 to 301 for Joe Gibson in the Second District Democratic contest. Twelve out of 340 in the Fifth District showed Crawford leading with 581 on the Democratic side. Kee, his nearest opponent, had 457. Shott was ahead, 1,924 to 82 to Iafolla, on the Republican side.

Score Hurt in Fight.

Counting boards labored against the obstacles of a heavy vote and long ballots. Polling places far in the mountain regions were slow in making returns.

Returns from three precincts from his home county of Mingo placed M. Z. White in the lead in the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. The three Mingo precincts gave White 1,478 votes, bringing his total to 2,079, with 19 precincts reported. T. C. Townsend had a total of 933.

Twenty-five precincts in the Democratic race for governor showed H. G. Kump ahead in a field of six. Herold had 68; Hodges, 290; Kump, 1,066; McCullough, 204; Taylor, 454, and Wilkinson, 365.

The only major disorder occurred in Smithfield, Wetzel County, where more than a score were cut and bruised in a free-for-all fight.

ALL OF CHEVY CHASE FIREMEN SUSPENDED

Mrs. Charlotte B. Randall, of Chevy Chase.

The volunteer firemen declare that they had been given permission on March 5 by the executive committee to accept the table and to install it in the recreation hall, but that they had been unable to do so because one of the paid firemen had a work bench in the room, which they declared was not being used for the benefit of the fire department but for personal work. They removed the bench and installed their pool table, they said, in accordance with the approval granted by the board.

Chief William F. Lanahan objected to their having removed the work bench without his permission, they said. The volunteers declare the disciplinary action is unfair to them since the board had given them permission to install the pool table.

Members of the executive committee said last night that all firemen who prove they were not guilty of unbecoming conduct will be returned to duty and to full privileges, but that the board intends to see that discipline is maintained in the department.

The paid firemen are working in two shifts of three men each. All are retired. District firemen with considerable firefighting experience, but residents of the section, declare that they do not believe three men are adequate protection of the valuable estates and properties in that area.

HOOVER FOR "LITTLE FELLOW," SAYS HYDE

Nashville, Tenn., May 10 (A.P.).—Arthur Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, defended President Hoover's economic program today and assailed the Democratic House of Representatives, which, he said, has demonstrated the "utter folly" of entrusting the Democratic party with "power of responsibility for governing the country."

Speaking to the State Republican convention, he said: "The statement is frequently made that the President's program for recovery provides ample assistance for banks, railroads and corporations, but none for 'the little fellow.' Such statements are utterly unfounded.

"Those who criticize the President's economy program should pause to remember, first, that all such institutions are required to put up adequate security and pay 5½ to 6 per cent interest, and, second, that we are living not in a state of nature, but in an organized society in which such institutions render a vital service to every one of us.

"If we permit our banks to fail, credit will dry up and business will stop. If we permit our railroads to fail, farms also will fail. This is so perfectly obvious that even slight reflection will demonstrate the President's program to be primarily for 'the little fellow' and an answer to his needs."

He described President Hoover as the "servant of no organization less than the whole Nation" and as "the present and the next President of the United States."

Fireman Asks Police To Find Lost Helmet

If you happen to see a stray fireman's helmet, Private Sidney G. Carter, of No. 3 Engine Company, would like to know about it. Private Carter had the helmet when he answered an alarm at 4 a. m. to a fire at Fourteenth and K streets northwest Sunday morning.

He put it aside for a moment at the height of the blaze and when the fire was out the helmet was gone. He called for police aid yesterday. Private Carter is inclined to blame souvenir hunters, and the fireman feels he can't afford to spend $7 for a new one to satisfy souvenir fiends.

Police Seek Trace Of Man and 3 Girls

Gallinger Hospital Patient Flees; Trio Escapes Training School.

Police last night broadcast a lookout for four prisoners, three of them girls under 18 years of age and the fourth a man charged with violating the Harrison narcotic act who was being held at Gallinger Hospital for mental observation.

The girls, Thelma Thornton, 17; Thelma Walker, 16, and Mildred Ausby, 17, walked out on authorities of the National Training School for Girls at Muirkirk, Md., yesterday afternoon.

The man, Albert Gleason, 38 years old, of 5475 Connecticut avenue northwest, is believed to have picked the lock on his room at Gallinger Hospital and to have slipped down a corridor to freedom. Hospital authorities had not determined the exact method of his escape. Police said Gleason was a shell-shocked war veteran who had been arrested on the narcotic charge April 11 and taken to the District Jail. He was transferred to the hospital a short time later.

Girl, 5, Is Badly Hurt When Struck by Auto

A 5-year-old girl was in an undetermined condition at Casualty Hospital last night with a concussion of the brain, lacerated scalp and contusions of the leg and thigh, suffered when she was knocked down by an automobile on Potomac avenue southeast, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets.

Ruth Sweeney, of 1113 Potomac avenue, was struck by an automobile operated west on Potomac avenue by John Catlinger, 35 years old, of 1224 Eleventh street southeast, according to police reports.

Ridenour PaysContempt Fine at Alimony Hearing

F. Berton Ridenour, Washington builder, yesterday was adjudged in contempt of court by Judge Robert B. Peter in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville for failure to pay back alimony of $1,100 to his wife, Mrs. J. Blanche Wright Ridenour, of Chevy Chase, Md.

The judge accepted Ridenour's offer to pay $800 of the back alimony and imposed a fine of $20. The wife is represented by the law firm of Peter & Simpson, of Rockville.

CASH BONUS GROUP SEEKS NEW HEARING

Appeal Made to House Rules Body to Reverse Verdict of Ways and Means.

(Associated Press.)

Cash bonus sponsors appealed the adverse decision of the ways and means committee to the powerful House rules committee.

A resolution seeking to give his bill a special legislative status was introduced by Representative Patman (Democrat), Texas. Approval of his resolution by the rules committee was the only hope of obtaining a House vote before the political conventions in June.

Mr. Patman asked a hearing on his resolution and Chairman Pou said the request would be considered by the rules committee today.

In a joint statement, Mr. Patman and Representative Connery (Democrat), Massachusetts; Rankin (Democrat), Mississippi, and Kvale (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, said:

"There is no chance of prosperity returning until a circulating medium reaches the masses. Inflated debts can not be paid on deflated prices.

"Although we are not advocating it, there is considerable support in and out of Congress in favor of the Government purchasing sufficient silver to pay the certificates or paying part of it in silver and the remainder by an expansion on the gold basis."

Representative Bankhead (Democrat), Alabama, a member of the rules committee, said he was aware of no precedent for granting a rule on legislation rejected by another committee.

Four directors were elected, as follows: The Rev. W. D. Moore, Dr. Vincent Gould, the Rev. Joseph V. Buckley and John Sawyer. Larry Slater, of Chicago, Ill., commissioner of Lions International, presided, and District Governor Richard F. Simmons, of Frederick, spoke. Roosevelt Is Gratified Over Success in Arizona

Warm Springs, Ga., May 10 (A.P.). Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's success in the Arizona Democratic convention yesterday was particularly pleasing to members of the Roosevelt party because, they contended today, it was a setback to former Gov. Smith's friends who hoped for an uninstructed delegation.

Arizona, committing six votes to Roosevelt, broke a 50-year precedent of unpledged delegations, it was said at the Roosevelt cottage.

COMPROMISE SLATE DRAWN IN NEW YORK

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—Four outstanding New York Democrats were linked together today in political prognostication which came on the heels of Franklin D. Roosevelt's victories in Arizona and Wyoming.

Mr. Roosevelt's campaign managers are counting on the votes of at least half of New York State's 94 delegates, but the Tammany Hall support, under the line-up being suggested in some quarters might be thrown to the following candidates:

The name of Owen D. Young, repeatedly mentioned as a "dark horse" if the national convention deadlocks, was brought up again when it was learned he, Smith and John W. Davis, 1924 standard bearer, will be joint guests of honor at a Democratic dinner May 17.

Although it was stated officially the dinner had been called solely in connection with the Democratic victory fund campaign, friends of Mr. Young were quoted as saying they are prepared to present Young's name to the convention if Mr. Roosevelt fails to get the 770 votes necessary for nomination.

While speculation continued as to whether there might be any preconvention political significance to the Young-Smith-Davis gathering, Roosevelt's close associates pointed out they had not received invitations.

At Smith's office the suggestion the "Happy Warrior" was planning to throw his convention strength to Young drew an assertion that Smith is still a candidate for the nomination himself and has planned no "deals."

Tennessee Backs Hoover for 1932

G.O.P. Commends Policies and Stands Against Dry Law Change.

Nashville, Tenn., May 10 (U.P.).—After devoting the first twelve sections of party principle pronouncements to the commendation of President Hoover and his administration, advocation of stricter banking rules, tax revisions, State economies and reforms, the Republican State convention today took an open stand against all revision of Federal and State prohibition laws.

President Hoover was commended for "uncomplaining patience and industry," his opponents condemned for "derision, abuse and false and malicious attacks," and delegates to the Republican national convention in Chicago were instructed to cast their 24 votes for his nomination.

Undiminished confidence in the ability of the American people for self-government was expressed by the platform, which deplored the fact that "millions of dollars of public money have been wasted or stolen, a mountainous debt piled up, beyond the power of this generation to pay, and the credit of the State impaired."

Viscount Rothermere Praises U. S.

London, May 10 (A.P.).—Under the heading "The United States Is All Right," the Daily Mail will publish tomorrow an article by Viscount Rothermere in which the famous publisher predicts an early end to the present economic conditions in America and pays glowing tribute to the character of the American people.

MERRIAM IS HEARD AT ARTS GATHERING

Appreciation of Nature Is Discussed by Carnegie Institution Head.

"Arts and Nature" was the general subject of discussion last night at the meeting of the twenty-third annual convention of the American Federation of Arts now in session at the Mayflower Hotel.

Thomas Munro, curator of education, the Cleveland Museum of Art, delivered the principal address on "The Esthetic Approach to Nature."

"Elements Involved in Appreciation of Nature" was the topic of a talk by John C. Merriam, president of the Carnegie Institution.

Today's meetings will cover "Art and Education" in the morning sessions and "The Future Program of the Federation" in the afternoon. A closing dinner will be held tonight. "Art and Life" will be discussed.

The main feature of this evening's program will be an address, "Lumia, the Eighth Fine Art," by Thomas Wilfred, president of the Art Institute of Light. Mr. Wilfred's talk will be followed by the playing of a group of silent visual compositions on the Clavilux.

At yesterday's meetings members of the federation lauded the artistic development of the parks system of Washington and urged that support be given to carry it to completion.

FALL ASSERTS TIME WILL VINDICATE HIM

Three Rivers, N. Mex., May 10 (A.P.).—Time will vindicate the naval oil reserve plans he made while Secretary of the Interior, Albert B. Fall declared at his ranch home here after his release yesterday from the New Mexico State Penitentiary.

Propped up in an old-fashioned four-post bed, he received a reporter and made his first public utterance in nearly a year.

Smoking and chewing a cigar, which he used as a pointer to emphasize his remarks, he discussed his prison life with a tinge of humor and went over the past in great details.

"If the Chinese and Japanese situation had continued and we had become involved, we would have found out, damned soon, the value of the Honolulu oil base I championed," Fall said.

Heed War Scare, He Said.

"We need something like that war scare to wake us up. We let everybody in ahead of us and then we act. My children and my grandchildren will live to see the day when my judgment will be vindicated."

Referring to his experience in the New Mexico prison, where he served ten months and 19 days of a year and a day sentence for accepting a bribe from Edward L. Doheny in connection with leases of the naval oil reserve, Fall said:

"There were many funny things about my stay there. I was to be treated like all other Federal prisoners. There was only one other Federal prisoner—a Navajo serving a sentence for horse stealing.

"I have paid my debt to society and I'm glad to be out; glad to be with my family again. Everything will come out in the washing. Let time wipe out the bitterness and differences."

Compliments Warden Swope.

Fall paid a compliment to Warden Swope, whom he referred to as a fine man and made a sarcastic thrust at the warden's refusal to release him until the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia had amended his commitment in reference to the fine of $100,000 imposed upon him in connection with his prison sentence.

"It amused me because it was embarrassing to the warden to have me there and he would like to have gotten ride of me, but at the last he didn't seem to want to let me go."

Mrs. Fall, interrupting the interview, revealed she had telephoned her lawyer in Washington Monday in an effort to clear up the question concerning her husband's release.

Southwest Dealer Native of District; Veteran in Masonic Circles.

Charles W. Church, member of the firm of W. A. H. Church Co., lumber dealers, and a native of Washington, died yesterday at his home at 300 Eleventh street southwest after a short illness. He was 63 years old.

Mr. Church was well known in Southwest business circles. He was the son of Charles Benjamin and Mathilda Harris Church. His father was president of the Independent Ice Co.

As a young man, Mr. Church went to Maine, where he served for several years as paymaster for the Independent Ice Co.'s northern office. He returned to Washington about 1900 when he became affiliated with the Depue & Church Feed Co. Later he entered the lumber firm with his brother, who died about a year ago.

Mr. Church was one of the oldest Masons in the city and was connected with Dawson Lodge. He was active in the Westminster Memorial Church, where funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Interment will be in Congressional Cemetery.

Surviving him are a son, Louis Melville Church; a sister, Mrs. L. S. Depue, and four grandchildren.

STOP EVICTIONS!

It's up to YOU to do it. As a rule, persons are honest and ready to pay their obligations. Most people will work hard to meet their bills. But they must have work to earn income.

YOU can help those who are eager to work to earn rent and food and clothing for their dear ones.

A bit of painting done here, a room papered there, a basement whitewashed, a garden dug up, a bit of sewing, oh, ever so many little jobs to be hired done, would help immensely.

The couple of dollars you spend that way when added to the few dollars spent by thousands of others make the difference between prosperity and depression in a city like Washington.

Grand Jury Indicts 3 Men for Murder

Three colored men were indicted for first degree murder yesterday by the District grand jury. They are Chester Cay, Ryland Duprey and Ernest Veney.

Cay was indicted for beating to death Ethel Robinson, colored, April 18, at 2716 N street northwest. He used a "blunt instrument," the grand jury said. Duprey allegedly shot and killed Booker T. Michel, colored, in a fight over 10 cents, on April 16. The charge against Veney is that he shot fatally Walter Contes, colored, April 17.

Hacker Reports Theft Of $7 by Gun Wielder

A lone robber last night held up and robbed George Swanson, taxicab driver, of 1429 Twenty-first street northwest, of $7.50.

Swanson told police a colored man hailed his cab at Fourth and New York avenue northwest and ordered him to drive to Twenty-second and H streets northwest. In the 2200 block of H street the man pulled a pistol and took the money away from him.

Marseilles, France, May 10 (A.P.).—Giacomo Rossano, whose American passport bore a New York City address, was arrested today on a charge of possessing counterfeit English Bank notes of £5 denomination. Police said they discovered 3,500 similar notes in his trunk at the hotel.

Suit on Note to Husband Brings Widow Verdict

A jury in the court of Justice Jennings Bailey, in the District Supreme Court, yesterday was ordered to bring in a directed verdict for $2,500 in favor of Mrs. Roy S. Gary, widow of Walker L. Gary, plumbing contractor. The defendant was Gustav G. Loehler.

Mrs. Gary sued on a note for that amount. Through her attorney, Godfrey L. Munter, she said she found the note in her husband's effects after his death. Loehler, whose name appeared as the maker of the note, tried to show that there was "no consideration" for it, but Justice Bailey held that testimony of that character from Loehler would not be proper since the other party to the incident was dead and could not testify.

DISTRICT'S BUDGET HEARINGS DELAYED

Senate Group Now Slated to Take Up Appropriations Bill on Monday.

Hearings on the $39,013,810 District appropriations bill, scheduled for tomorrow, were postponed yesterday until Monday by Senator Hiram Bingham (Republican), Connecticut, chairman of the Senate District appropriations subcommittee.

Chairman Bingham and three other members of his subcommittee, were named to the new Senate economy subcommittee. Postponement, it was said, is in line with suspended consideration of all appropriation bills to speed retrenchment negotiations.

The District Commissioners and District Auditor Daniel J. Donovan have been asked to appear before the subcommittee Monday. They will defend the original $45,000,000 estimates submitted to the House by the Budget Bureau.

Later representative civic groups will either be heard or permitted to submit statements. Senator Bingham has received numerous protests in advance against the $4,173,107 reductions made under budget estimates by the House.

Senator Bingham will lay down no hard and fast rules for review of the House action. Chief among the changes his committee will be asked to make in the bill will be the appropriation of $600,000 toward unemployment relief, in line with supplemental budget estimates.

CRIPPLING THE ARMY.

A new effort is being made in the House to reduce expenditures by amputating the arms of national defense. Having failed to secure the necessary support for the proposed merger of the Army and Navy, a pacifist clique in the House is now trying to emasculate the Army supply bill. Fortunately, the House military affairs committee is on the job to protect the country against the substitution of improvidence for real economy.

Representative Collins' plan of reducing the number of officers from 12,000 to 10,000 would, if adopted, strike a deadly blow at the efficiency of the Army. The armed forces of the United States already are reduced below the minimum needed for adequate national defense. The total organized forces of the United States include only .34 of 1 per cent of the population, compared with 14.83 per cent for France, 14.2 per cent for Italy and 15.54 per cent for Switzerland. Gen. MacArthur, Chief of Staff, points out that the American Army ranks sixteenth among the armies of the world, although this country stands fourth in population and first in wealth. To sacrifice national defense while all the world remains armed to the teeth would not be economy, but dangerous foolhardiness.

The disarmament conference at Geneva has broken down. European nations which depend solely upon the strength of their arms for their national security have refused to disarm by mutual agreement. How absurd it would be for the United States, which is already disarmed, further to cripple its agencies of national defense, without any agreement that other nations would do likewise! Such naive reliance upon the pacific intentions of other powers, when Congress is spending at least $1,500,000,000 annually because this country was not sufficiently prepared during the World War to guarantee its safety, is a dismal commentary upon congressional prudence.

Last week the Senate voted to build the Navy up to treaty strength. There is no disposition in that body to abandon national defense in this critical period. The House would save trouble and delay if it would adopt a realistic attitude toward the Army appropriation bill, and then devote its energy to fields where actual economy can be achieved.

"In the last analysis," says Gen. MacArthur, "our whole defensive system rests upon the efficient performance of a corps of regular officers, sufficient in strength to carry out the vitally essential duties imposed upon it by the act of 1920." It is impossible to build an army without a strong nucleus of officers. When an emergency comes it is too late to train officers for military service. This proposed cut in the number of officers in active service is probably the most destructive that the House could make in the Army bill.

It is estimated that nearly $10,000,000 could be saved in the Army and Navy, without impairing the efficiency of either, through consolidation of various bureaus and agencies within each department. Under the House economy bill the President would have authority to effect such changes. That method would afford relief to taxpayers while maintaining a reasonable degree of national security. Considerable economy is also possible in the purchase of supplies because of the lower prices. By all means Congress should relieve taxpayers to this extent, but the attempt to reduce the personnel, which is now only the skeleton of an army, is utterly inexcusable.

BALLAST FOR BANKS.

Senator Glass somewhat obscured the monumental nature of the bill which bears his name by indulging in several irrelevant attacks upon Government officials in opening the debate on the measure. It is to be hoped that the senator has now expended all of his spleen and that the Senate may proceed with the enactment of this important banking bill.

Officials of the State Department were severely criticized because private bankers floated foreign bonds in this country. The senator attempted to show that the State Department put its stamp of approval upon these foreign securities, which are now worth a small fraction of what the American public paid for them. He knows, of course, and the public knows that the department did no such thing. It has never undertaken to pass upon the soundness of any foreign loans, and bankers have been strictly forbidden to implicate the Government in any way when marketing foreign bonds.

Senator Glass would have made a much better impression if he had confined his remarks to the constructive features of the bill now before the Senate. It contains several measures designed to strengthen the banking structure during this critical period. Among the most important is the liquidating corporation for closed banks. This provision would restore to depositors in closed banks their pro rata share of the assets with a minimum of delay and loss. It would not guarantee bank deposits, as the Steagall bill before the House proposes to do, but it would afford relief to thousands of depositors whose purchasing power is now tied up by bank failures.

A second constructive feature of far-reaching importance is that dealing with branch banking. In spite of the credit extension act and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, hundreds of small banks in this country are still in a precarious condition because their assets are frozen in long-term securities. In an emergency like the present these banks find it difficult to continue in business because their resources are so limited. Under a sound plan of branch banking they probably would find merger with larger institutions desirable. Under the Glass bill it would be possible to form large reservoirs of national bank assets that would be available to buttress weak points in the system.

Opposition to the branch-banking section is not well founded. It might be well to eliminate the provision allowing national banks to cross State lines to establish branches. But that does not involve the fundamental principle of merging limited asset pools into large reservoirs for the protection of the banks themselves as well as their depositors.

Deflationary provisions of the original Glass bill have been eliminated, and most bankers agree that it will strengthen the banking structure of the country if enacted into law. In spite of Senator Glass' example, it is to be hoped that the bill will receive careful and non-partisan consideration in the Senate.

IN AID OF THE JEWS.

For more than a decade Jews throughout the world have been called upon to contribute regularly to the relief of their destitute brethren in Europe and for the reconstruction of their ancient homeland in Palestine.

American Jews have always been in the forefront in supporting these two great humanitarian causes, and because of world economic conditions upon them largely falls the responsibility of preserving the institutions they have built up.

The American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee has been responsible for the feeding and housing of millions of Jews in Eastern Europe, victims of the world war.

This relief agency has carried on a program of social and economic reconstruction through a program of technical training, free loans, credit, industrial aid and farm colonization, which President Hoover has described as "one of the outstanding pieces of human engineering in the world today."

The accomplishments of the Zionist organization in Palestine are equally striking. Where formerly were desert and swamp land there are now cities and farms. A Hebrew educational system, an extensive public health system, scores of splendid colonies, all are tokens of the perseverance and courage of the Jewish people.

It has indeed been a decade of heroic achievement for the Jews of the world and particularly of America.

Washington Jews are again being called upon to do their share in supporting these two noble causes—Eastern European relief and Palestine construction. They, too, have been sorely pressed by economic conditions, but there is no doubt that there will be a quick and generous response to the appeal for funds being made in the $50,000 United Jewish Campaign now under way here.

In the words of Albert Einstein, "The welfare and prestige of the entire Jewish people is at stake."

LEBRUN AND HERRIOT.

France emerges from a confusion of politics and sorrow with a new president and a new Chamber of Deputies. At the joint session of Senate and chamber yesterday at Versailles the president of the Senate, Albert Francois Lebrun, was elected the fourteenth President of France on the first ballot, succeeding the martyred President Doumer, who still lies upon his bier in the Elysee Palace. Since the election was decided by the members of the expiring chamber who hold office until the end of this month, it was a foregone conclusion that the president of the Senate would be selected. His long legislative service and experience in various cabinet posts eminently fit him for the position.

Closely associated with Raymond Poincare throughout his political career, President Lebrun will carry Poincare's influence with him to the executive office, though the presidency is not the storm center of politics that surrounds the premiership. With the assembling of the new Chamber of Deputies on June 1 will follow the organization of the government in line with the electoral decrees of last Sunday, with Edouard Herriot again the dominant figure. His Radical Socialists, who are more moderate leftists than the party known simply as the Socialists, have become the most numerous organization in the chamber.

Speculation now is concerned with the affiliations that Herriot will make to insure control; whether he will look to the more extreme Socialists, as he did in 1924 to form his famous Left Cartel, or whether he will combine with Premier Tardieu, Center and mildly Right parties, to effect a more conservative alliance. No radical or sudden departure from the foreign policies of the Tardieu government is expected from M. Herriot, though many feel his attitude will be to initiate a more liberal tendency in the adjustment of international questions. Certainly any combination with the more extreme Left could only be made with assurances of steps toward disarmament, which has been such a prominent demand in the campaign of the Socialists. The reluctance of Herriot to make pledges to his more extreme associates, or to admit their demands for policy control, has barred powerful combinations in the chamber repeatedly in recent years. Thus it appears to be a question still to be decided during the next three weeks whether the Radical Socialists will admit their still more radical namesakes, with their severe demands, or look to various smaller parties to the Right for the composition of a majority.

How fortunate is Signor Capone! He is safe from gangsters and kidnapers, he will have free board and keep, the Government will furnish his haircuts, and he will not be in the ranks of the unemployed.

A Bulgarian colonel used to be the apotheosis of sartorial grandeur. But that was before the days of movie palace ushers.

Senator Norris says he will support Roosevelt if he is nominated. Poor Frank, he does have terrible bad luck!

A high tax on alimonies has been suggested. It is opposed by the United Gold-Diggers' Lobby.

FILIPINO SELF-RELIANCE

By VICENTE VILLAMIN.

The scant attention that Congress can give to the Philippines argues that the Filipinos should rely less on the Federal Government and more on their own efforts in working out their problems. Americans can make it easier for the Filipinos to know their real problems and deal with them on their merits by cutting down on sentimental poppycock.

The practice of standing heroically on a metaphorical Wailing Wall rehearsing imagined political misfortunes has been overdone. To the politician who keeps violating the unwritten Rule Six of American politics by taking himself too seriously the admonition should be "Partner, relax, for the game is up."

The ponderous thesis that the future political status of the Philippines is undefined and uncertain has been made the justification for the failure to crystallize a body of ideas implementing a program for the aggrandizement of the Filipino commonwealth. The main reason why that status seems nebulous is due, not to the country's Federal structure, but to the nature of its economic frame-work.

Most of the industries which have been developed are those which depend for their existence on the American tariff aid. Every time there is a tariff revision, or when special interests work overtime inveighing against Philippine products, the blame is readily placed on the "uncertain status," overlooking the fact that tariff protection anywhere in the world must be continously fought for.

The matter of making the Philippines economically self-sustaining is at the base of other Philippine problems. At present the islands are almost completely independent from America politically, but are dependent on the American tariff system economically. How to relax that economic dependence without economic disaster is the problem that presses itself upon Filipino-American statesmanship.

Obviously the first step to take is to make an inventory of the country's natural resources and determine which of them are produced in continental United States. The next is to frame a fundamental plan of development aimed at the establishment of a wider market, more agricultural diversification and the reduction of any economic conflict with the United States, which between a tropical and temperate country should be relatively easy of accomplishment.

A new orientation in the economic development of the islands commends itself. It must rest on two main propositions: (a) The stoppage of the acreage expansion of those industries which must have the American tariff aid to live, like sugar and coconut oil, and (b) the development of those products which are not grown in America and are on the free list, like rubber, quinine, camphor, plantain, spices, coffee, silk and other products.

The working out of such a program will take time, but it will surely bring about a condition of economic preparedness in the islands where, on the one hand, the Philippines can achieve a stable and durable independence and, on the other hand, place America in a position to grant eventual independence without committing an act of recreancy or irresponsibility respecting the welfare of the Filipino people for whom she has assumed the role of trustee.

At the same time, the fear of the American farmer against what he considers as potential Philippine competition in certain products would be allayed, and the Philippines would become a much more important market for American manufactures.

In America the Philippine question must be approached in a logical manner, and in the Philippines the independence problem should inspire more cerebration and less celebration in order to utilize Filipino brains and energies for the real good of the country.

One begins to think one understands the French a bit and then a lame-duck congress elects a president on the first ballot.

Not wanting to embarrass the British over their precedent, Germany also omits debt payments from the budget.

When representatives reached Washington's 30-year-old street car merger bill they passed it without a record vote. It has become a habit. The House just loves to be stampeded, whether for good or bad.

A big British plane struck by lightning made a safe landing and the thirteen passengers immediately took off for Paris in another ship. The world gives superstition the air.

Something worse than an amateur performance has been discovered. It is an impromptu amateur program.

Seeing six men in the Arkansas contest to succeed her, Senator Mrs. Caraway changes her mind and enters the race. Nine points of possession and equal rights make it an even fight.

More people are buying automobiles, and the Treasury bill issue of $75,000,000 was subscribed nearly five times over. We can't expect to understand everything.

Premier Inukai said some time ago that Japan would not have Manchuria as a gift, and it has been evident for some time she is paying for it.

The greatest surprise awaiting the official Japanese investigator who has arrived to determine American opinion, will be to find that the average American only thinks of Japan casually once in two weeks.

HELLO, TULIPS.

Hello, tulips, don't you know
Stocks today are very low?
You appear so bright and glad,
Don't you know that trade is bad?
You are just as fair to see
As you were in times when we Rolled in money. Tell me how
You can look so happy now?

Hello, tulips, white and red,
Gleaming in the garden bed,
Can it be you haven't heard
All the grief which has occurred?
Don't you see the saddened eye
Of the human passerby?
By his frowning, can't you tell
Things have not been going well?

Hello, tulips, in the sun
You are lovely, every one.
But I wonder why don't you
Wear a sad expression, too?
Can it be you fail to see Things aren't what they used to be?
This old world is all upset,
Why don't you begin to fret?

And they answered me: "Hello.
Nothing's altered that we know,
Warm the sun, and sweet the rain,
Summer skies are blue again,
Birds are singing and we nod
Grateful tulip prayers to God.
Only mortals fret and strive.

The Wind May Scatter the Oak's Leaves, But They Remain Part of a Tree.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE drops of water that compose the sea may be scattered far and wide, but they remain a part of the sea.

Each scattered drop seems an individual, but it is not. It came from the sea; it remains a part of the sea; and though the winds carry it across continents and natural forces change it into many forms, it returns at last to the sea from which it came.

If that is true—if the drops of moisture, however widely scattered, remain parts of the sea from which they came—then they must be one. They are one and the same thing, scattered parts of a whole, each a part of all others.

What, then, of the mysterious thing called life?

Can you doubt that the life in all of us came from the same source?

And if the mysterious and unknowable source of life has given to each of us a part of itself, are we not still portions of that source of life as drops of water are portions of the parent sea?

And if we are portions of the same thing, are we not one?

"The Kingdom of Heaven is within you," said Jesus.

Certainly if the source of life is God, and the portion of life we have is from that source, there is within us a part of divinity.

And if our souls—the life in us that is more than the life of plants—if our souls are indeed a part of divinity, then we are not individuals as we seem but parts of a divine whole.

And being parts of the same whole, we are one. All of us are one essence, one spirit, one unit of divinity divided into parts.

Have you observed that men sometimes move with a common impulse, whether of anger, pity or high resolve? Invariably it is when they have forgotten self.

What is the opposite of self? It is love—compassion, kindness, generosity, the spirit of service—all of the high attributes that are unlike selfishness.

The opposite of selfishness, of individualism, is love for man—the oneness of man understood and accepted.

But, we are told, God is love.

Then it is God in us—oneness with God—that establishes our oneness with man. For that oneness is love, the opposite of selfishness.

When men overcome self and permit love to rule, they are very close to God. For they are one with men and one with God, and the bond of their oneness is love.

That Two-Thirds Rule.

Boston Transcript.

A canvass of the leading Democrats at Washington finds them practically unanimous in favor of abolishing the two-thirds rule in their national conventions, and equally so in feeling that the change should not be made prior to the nominations of 1932. This last indicates sound judgment. Any proposal for the substitution of majority selections most naturally would come from the Roosevelt men, who are hoping to enter the convention with not far from a majority for their candidate, but they will hesitate to place themselves in an ungracious position with the friends of other candidates, even if they think they could succeed in putting their plan through. Only twice in the hundred years that the two-thirds rule has remained in force, with Van Buren in 1844 and with Champ Clark in 1912, has a candidate possessing a majority failed to land the nomination, and it is probable that, after perhaps as sensational a fight as was staged in New York in 1924, some man will be nominated by two-thirds vote. However, it is heartening to find that most of the Democratic leaders believe that the two-thirds rule should be abandoned. On the other hand, they have felt so often before, and done nothing about it.

That's Right.

Costly, but Worth It.

Kansas City Times.

Printing of Mr. Heflin's 5-hour Senate speech in the Congressional Record has cost the country $1,134. But in refusing to unseat Mr. Heflin's successful rival, John H. Bankhead, and restore the former, the Senate doubtless reasoned that it was getting a bargain at the price. And the country, which pays the bill, may reluctantly agree.

Congressmen and Relatives.

Kansas City Star.

Representative Mitchell, of Tennessee, is surprised to find that members of Congress are employing relatives as secretaries. He says it is "a species of graft and racketeering," and would have it stopped by law, although he does not expect his bill to that effect to pass, and says it will not make him popular with his fellows in the House. Mr. Mitchell is a new member of the House, and doubtless has much to learn. Part of it is that, even with his bill enacted into law, the smart members of Congress could find a way to employ their relatives as secretaries or clerks or something. They could follow a practice not wholly unknown by the Missouri Legislature, and adopt the reciprocal system of employment, one member using as a secretary the relative of another and vice versa until everybody had a job—if not work.

Follow the Leader.

Minneapolis Journal.

It is pretty generally understood in Washington that the majority of congressmen of both parties are well aware of the dangers that lie in an unbalanced budget and in reckless currency inflation, but that they are afraid to vote as reason dictates, through fear of reprisal by organized groups.

The President now offers to take this fear off their hands. Himself a candidate for reelection, Mr. Hoover urges, in effect, that he be allowed to shoulder the responsibility, and to risk whatever political reprisals may be cooked up. Let Congress balance the budget, and the President will take the blame for both higher taxes and lower appropriations. His sole concern just now seems to be for the economic welfare of the country rather than for the political welfare of Herbert Hoover.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Lanier Suggests Two Amendments to the Constitution.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Experience with some of the recent amendments to the Constitution of the United States has confirmed the conviction in the minds of thoughtful people that it should never be amended except in response to an imperative demand to meet some need that would undoubtedly have been provided for by the framers of the Constitution had the need then existed or could have been foreseen by them.

There exists at present two such needs that demand a remedy, and which can only be remedied by amendments to the Constitution of the United States, namely:

First—An amendment empowering the President to veto any particular item of a bill without having, as at present, to veto the entire bill in order to rid it of some unmeritorious item.

Second—An amendment to Amendment XVI empowering the Congress to tax all securities that are now tax exempt.

The above-mentioned defect in the Constitution regarding the veto power of the President was realized long before the Civil War, and when the constitution of the Confederate States was drafted and adopted it gave to the president the veto power suggested; and in turn a similar provision appears in the constitutions of most of the States.

There is nothing in the legislative history of the Congress that has been more reprehensible, or fraught with more evil consequences than the practice of tacking on as riders to general appropriation bills utterly unmeritorious and indefensible items that could not be enacted as separate bills, or if enacted as such would certainly be vetoed by the President.

It is this vicious practice that is responsible for and has made possible much of what has become known as "pork-barrel" legislation.

As to an amendment empowering the Federal Government to tax exempt securities, its necessity has become self-evident. The total outstanding debts of the Federal, State and local governments are more than $30,000,000,000, or nearly one-third of the total national wealth, represented by outstanding tax exempt bonds and notes. At all times, and more particularly under present conditions when the governments must increase taxes to balance their budgets, people of means put their money in these securities, thus escaping taxation, and contributing nothing to the support of the Government. The result is the crushing burdens of government fall upon the poor and those who are least able to bear them, while those who by reason of their possessions are most in need of the protection of the Government pay nothing for that protection of which they are the greatest beneficiaries.

Post Reader Pays Respects to False Republicans.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: When professional politicians masquerade as Republicans in order to get the asset value of that name, while filled with hatred of the Republican party and determination to defeat and destroy it, they are guilty of intolerable false pretense and hypocrisy. When they encourage the entrance into the Republican party of vast numbers of Democratic and Socialist voters, in order that they may control that party, against its own principles, they are guilty of the embezzlement of political power. I respect a Democrat or a Socialist who has the courage and honesty to fight under his own flag, but not the politician who boasts of his independence, but fears to take the consequences by standing on his own feet, who trades upon that party regularity in others which he himself flouts, as a means of securing place and power for himself.

Civil Servant Says Local Governments Cost Taxpayer Four Times as Much as Federal Services.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Reading the speeches of some members of Congress, one who did not know the facts would be led to believe that the civil service employes were like a swarm of fat, lazy locusts engaged in devouring the fruits of the industry of the people.

If these gentlemen would cease "straining at the gnat while they swallow the camel," and look nearer home, they would be doing a greater service to those they are supposed to represent and to the country as a whole. The city, county and State governments and the political machines which sent them to Washington eat up $4 of the taxpayers' money to every $1 spent for the Federal services.

Consumer Tells Why He Opposes Tariff on Fuel Oil.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have noted with interest your editorials against the proposed embargo tariff on petroleum and its products. I happen to be one of your subscribers who has installed an oil-burner for household heating. During the past winter I have purchased fuel oil for 6 cents per gallon. Now it is proposed to place a tariff on fuel oil. That means an increase in my fuel bill of at least 16 2-3 per cent. There is no use in my converting my furnace into a coal burner, for our ever helpful Congress is going to boost the price of coal by $2 per ton. What has become of the consumers' friends in Congress? I hope The Post will keep up its fight in our behalf.

STATE RUM CONTROL URGED BY MOREHEAD

U. S. Sweden Envoy Praises That Nation's System, Before Senators.

(Associated Press.)

A twentieth amendment to the Constitution to permit the manufacture and sale of liquor by States so desiring was recommended to a Senate subcommittee yesterday by John M. Morehead, American Minister to Sweden.

Permission for Mr. Morehead to testify before the group, which has under consideration numerous proposals for repeal and modification of prohibition, was granted by the State Department. Previously it had been withheld.

Replying to a request from Chairman Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, Acting Secretary Castle said the department would "not interpose any objection."

Mr. Morehead described himself as "personally dry," and said that "if the question should come up whether we should keep what we've got now or go back to the old conditions," he would "vote dry again."

Bingham Urges Beer.

On the Senate floor, Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, proposed as an amendment to the revenue measure his bill to permit the manufacture of 4 per cent beer.

Bingham said $375,000,000 was a conservative estimate of the annual revenue which could be derived from a beer tax. He advocated it as a substitute for several of the "nuisance taxes" in the bill.

The Connecticut senator said adoption of his amendment would take the place of increases in first and second class mail rates, taxes on telephone and telegraph messages, amusement admissions, radios and phonographs, and make it possible to reduce the normal income rates and automobile sales levy to the House rates and the tax on lubricating oil from 4 to 2 cents a gallon.

The Bingham proposal assures a Senate vote on beer during consideration of the revenue bill, which is to begin tomorrow.

Before the judiciary subcommittee, Minister Morehead explained and strongly indorsed the Bratt system of liquor control in force in Sweden. It provides for manufacture and sale under strict government control. The liquor is rationed out by means of allotment books under which 4 quarts a month may be purchased.

Asks Twentieth Amendment.

Disapproving of repeal of the eighteenth amendment or modification of the Volstead act to permit light wines and beer, Morehead advocated a twentieth amendment under which a State could choose whether to have prohibition as it now exists or to adopt State control of liquor.

Morehead advocated that the State control be exercised along lines similar to the Bratt system, although the individual States would be empowered to decide on a different method.

Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, a prohibitionist, asked Morehead how his plan differs from "the proposal sometimes referred to as the Raskob-Smith proposal whereby the eighteenth amendment would be continued in each State until that State adopts some system of control."

Morehead replied that under the plan he advocated only the State would be able to sell or manufacture. A State, he said, would not be allowed to license a private liquor traffic.

Mrs. Owen Favors Rum Referendum in Florida

Jacksonville, Fla., May 10 (A.P.).—A Florida referendum on prohibition was suggested today by Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Fourth District representative in Congress, as she returned from Washington to begin a campaign for renomination.

If the people vote wet in a referendum, she said she would take this as a mandate upon her in her future voting in Congress. She suggested the question of prohibition retention, modification or repeal be placed on the ballot in the general election in November. Mrs. Owen is opposed for the nomination by Mark Wilcox, of West Palm Beach, who is campaigning on a platform for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Commissioners Approve Ouster of 2 Policemen

The District Commissioners yesterday sustained the findings of the Police Trial Board and ordered Privates E. W. Gore and F. J. Hospidor, of the Fourth Precinct, dismissed from the Police Department for accepting a bribe for not reporting a liquor law violation.

Theft From Friend Is Charged to Man

Benefactor Robbed of $28 and Watch in Cab, It Is Alleged.

For allegedly robbing a man who had befriended him, Patrick Henry Newsome yesterday was indicted by the District grand jury on a charge of robbery. He is in jail, having been unable to raise bond following a preliminary hearing in Police Court last week.

Thomas W. Jamieson, a Baltimore architect, was named as the complainant. He gave Newsome 25 cents at Fourteenth and H streets northwest and then offered to let Newsome ride to the Union Station in a cab with him so he could catch a train for his home.

On the way over Newsome is accused of drawing a knife and robbing Jamieson of a $100 watch and $28 in cash. He was caught by the driver of the cab when he leaped out and ran.

Pepco Ordered to Put Lines Under Ground

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday directed the Potomac Electric Power Co. to place its power lines underground on Reservoir road, between Thirty-eighth street and Foxhall road, before the resurfacing is done by the Highway Department.

The order was issued after the Foxhall Village Citizens Association had appealed to the commission. The commission pointed out in its letter that ornamental street lighting fixtures are now being designed for the thoroughfare by the Electrical Department.

Senator Saves Room Rent, Sleeps in Luxurious Office

Trammell, Florida, Works Nights; Takes to Couch When Exhausted.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER.

(Copyright, 1932, by the United Press.)

If every public man in Washington would put himself on the Spartan regime of Senator Park Trammell (Democrat), Florida, there would be less complaint throughout the country about governmental extravagance.

Senator Trammell, he disclosed to the United Press, sleeps a good deal of the time in his office in the Senate Office Building. This saves him $75 a month or so apartment rent which contributes to the support of an invalid relative. Sometimes he stays with his brother—his brother and sister-in-law are clerks in his office—and sometimes he stays at one of the hotels here.

His residence is listed in the official Congressional Directory as the Senate Office Building, but Senator Trammell says that was put in when he was out of town. He said he did not want to list any hotel or other address because there he would be bothered by people seeking favors.

Senator Trammell perhaps is unaware of the service he is rendering to the Nation in this critical hour, in every age of wild, luxurious living, some ascetic figure emerges—like Diogenes, or whoever it was who lived in an old tub and went among the dissolute Grecians looking for an honest man.

Senator Trammell would disclaim the honor, but he occupies some such role now. Working in his office night after night until midnight, or later, according to his own story, until he drops from sheer weariness, he stretches out on the leather couch in his office and snatches a few hours of sleep before plunging again into the public business. He has hot and cold running water, soap and towels furnished by the Senate. He goes to the Senate restaurant for breakfast and then gets back to work with a minimum of lost time.

"You would be surprised to know how many nights I work until midnight or later," Senator Trammell said. "A person doesn't feel like walking several blocks to an apartment after a long day like that, so I just turn in right there on the couch. It is very comfortable, and I don't see that it is anybody's business."

Thus the senator, one of the most modest of public servants, is setting his example of simple living in the midst of senatorial luxury, surrounded by public servants drinking case after case of fancy mineral waters bought by the Government, laving (nothing less than an 85-cent word will do) in the magificent Roman baths which are maintained in the Senate Office Building a safe distance away from the tourist trails around the Capitol, enjoying the ministrations of the tonsorial artists in the free Senate barber shop, which is equipped at Government expense down to the gilt-lettered individual shaving mugs—and the three famous blackhead removers which were duly requisitioned through the clerk of the Senate. Senator Trammell has pointed the way to real economies.

But Congress isn't much concerned about its own economies. Members are joking with each other about their pay rolls and those who have escaped mention in the United Press dispatches, describing the widespread employment of relatives as clerks, are being facetiously congratulated. Everybody admits that there are grave abuses, but when one congressman starts to do anything about it his colleagues go to work on him and by one means or another try to discourage him. So that Congress goes on refusing to reveal to the public its own pay roll, carrying nonworking wives, daughters, mothers-in-law and other relatives—one senator has a mentally ill son on as a clerk—while going through the motions on the House and Senate floors of trying to economize.

HURLEY AND M'ARTHUR FIGHT MILITARY BUDGET CUT PLANS

Chairman McSwain (Democrat), of South Carolina, made the following statement:

"Both the Secretary of War and the chief of staff were emphatic in expressing opposition to a reduction of either the officer strength of the Army or a reduction in the training of the civilian components of the Army."

The main objective of the Democratic members of the appropriations committee has been to slice $24,569,900 off the military amount asked for by the President. Chairman McSwain announced after the departure of Secretary Hurley and Gen. MacArthur that they had agreed to accept the following cuts in the budget estimates:

$3,000,000 for subsistence, $1,000,000 for clothing and equipment, $5,000,000 for Army transportation and local purchases, $400,000 for horses and barracks.

The cuts to which both the Secretary and his chief of staff were definitely opposed had mainly to do with the provisions for reserve training and reduction in officer personnel of the service. These were $1,108,000 for R. O. T. C., $2,603,000 for the C. M. T. C., $4,271,000 for pay cuts which also included the reduction in personnel, $2,109,000 for officers reserve, and $605,000 for civilian rifle work.

To Fight Officer Cuts.

Representative Barbour (Republican), of California, member of the Collins' committee, announced his intention of fighting the provision of the measure to eliminate almost 17 per cent of the officer strength of the service at this time. He said:

"This bill absolutely undermines everything we have done to carry out a national defense policy. The President said, 'We should not further reduce our national defense,' and the President has not changed his mind."

A schism appeared likely in the House itself following the contradictory action of the military committee and the appropriations committee. Many of the former expressed indignation that their authority had been usurped by the action of the appropriations committee in recommending the cut of 2,000 in the officered strength of the Army. While the military committee handles all legislation regarding the service, the funds for carrying on the work lie at the disposition of the powerful appropriations committee.

Behind the leadership of Representative Barbour, the Administration members in the House are expected to wage a bitter fight to prevent the sabotaging of the necessary financial assistance for the Army.

The total amount of the supply bill at present is $386,793,000. The Democratic economy sword-wielders propose to cut off $24,000,000 from the budgetary estimates and $58,000,000 under current outlays.

Holaday Backs Democrats.

Representative Holaday (Republican), of Illinois, expressed himself in favor of the Democratic economy measures. He declared:

"A movement similar to the one that last week emasculated the economy bill is now under way to destroy the economies proposed in the War Department appropriation bill."

The arguments of the Secretary of War and the chief of staff were based on the purely national aspects of American defense. At the same time, it became known that information had been received in authoritative circles here in Washington of strong Communist activity in New York and elsewhere in organizing opposition to the Army appropriation bill. Communist circles had been busy organizing for dispatching telegrams to various representatives under fictitious names of "Smith," "Jones," "Wentworth," &c., in order to foment opposition to the measure for national defense.

Discussion on the War Department bill will be continued today and a vote is expected tomorrow.

McScullen Indicted In Union Shooting

An indictment charging George McScullen, of Chicago, Ill., with assault with intent to kill and assault with a dangerous weapon was returned by the District grand jury yesterday in connection with the shooting of Frank E. Langdon, labor union official, in a downtown restaurant last year.

Langdon and other officers of a local union were in the restaurant when, the grand jury charged, McScullen fired point blank at them, one bullet penetrating Langdon's eye. Others in the party narrowly escaping injury.

McScullen is being held at the District Jail on a charge of conspiring to murder Charles E. Haury, supervisor of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

VETO OF TARIFF BILL IS EXPECTED TODAY

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover late yesterday wound up his consideration of the Democratic tariff bill and will announce a veto of the measure today, or, at latest, tomorrow.

The measure would alter the flexible provision of the present Smoot-Hawley tariff law. Mr. Hoover has stated publicly in the past his belief in the worth of such a clause. As it stands, the bill would clip off presidential power to change import duties without congressional approval.

Any doubt about the Chief Executive's action upon the bill was considered dispelled last night by Secretary Mills as he left the White House after delivering his own report upon it. When a newspaperman asked if he had discussed "the Democratic tariff bill," he replied:

"If you mean the Democratic tariff gesture, yes."

Backs Stand With Facts.

The Chief Executive during the day marshaled facts to back his stand. He conferred for more than three hours with Mills, Acting Secretary Castle of the State Department; Secretary Hurley and J. C. Roop, Director of the Budget.

The conferees reported that, although the parley had been devoted in part to "matters of economy," the tariff question figured prominently in the discussion.

Robert Lincoln O'Brien, chairman of the Tariff Commission, also came to the White House, but departed shortly after leaving a sheaf of papers.

Unless the President announces his action today, he will have left only one additional day before the measure automatically would become law. The ten-day period period allowed him expires tomorrow.

The Democratic House, which originated the bill, completed final action upon it April 28, agreeing to Senate amendments by a vote of 202 to 171.

Two Days of Grace Counted.

The bill did not arrive at the Executive Mansion until two days later, however, and since the day of arrival is not counted in the period of grace and the next day was Sunday—which likewise did not count—an unusual time has been allowed the Chief Executive for action.

There seems slight possibility that Congress could successfully override a presidential veto of the measure. Sufficient House Republicans probably could be marshalled to prevent a two-thirds vote. The Senate, which passed the bill by a 42-to-30 vote, observers believe, could be depended upon to uphold the President.

Under the existing Smoot-Hawley law, the Tariff Commission can recommend to the President as much as 50 per cent increases or decreases of tariff duties. If the President approves the recommendations, the duties become effective. The Democratic bill would restore to Congress all power to alter rates.

The measure now before the Chief Executive also requests him to call an international conference with a view to lowering excessive tariff duties, eliminating discriminatory and unfair trade practices, and preventing retaliatory tariff measures.

Four Men Are Indicted In Night Clerk Holdup

A quartet of colored men were charged with robbery in an indictment returned by the District grand jury yesterday. They were Rubin Hughes, Charles Hughes, Leroy Samuels and William I. Faulkner.

The men are alleged to have held up and robbed Milton M. Plowman, night clerk at the Capitol Park Hotel, April 22, of $100. In leaving the scene, they were followed by a bell boy who caused their arrest.

Thanks for Sympathy Expressed by Claudel

Federal Bank Control Propaganda Is Scored

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—Felix McWhirter, president of the State bank division of the American Bankers Association, today called upon his organization to "combat untrue propaganda pumped out of a bureaucratic Washington to destroy the State banking system."

McWhirter, an Indianapolis bank president, declared in his statement that the directors and officers of the State chartered institutions, numbering about 14,000, "propose to control vigilantly the situation in their States with their own hands. He assailed the idea he said was being advocated at Washington that Congress has constitutional power to prohibit State-chartered financial institutions from operation and to bring all banking into a single system, under Federal control.

SENATE STARTS TAX DEBATE TOMORROW

By J. B. M'DONNELL.

The billion-dollar budget-balancing tax bill, which will not balance the budget, is to be launched on the stormy seas of Senate debate tomorrow.

Importance of the tax bill was nearly lost sight of on Capitol Hill yesterday in the course of the varied and conflicting maneuverings on behalf of "economy." It is significant that the emphasis, for the time being, at least, has shifted from the tax bill to "economy." Democrats and Republicans are fighting for material for the hustings, and almost every proposition is looked on carefully to detect its political possibilities before a decision is given by a senator, each of whom, be it remembered, owes a responsibility to the party whether up for reelection or not.

So far as the taxpayer is concerned, the important thing is the tax bill. The snowball down-hill budget-balancing campaign is based on the tax bill. The so-called "savings," which various members of Congress profess to have achieved, are more or less paper savings. They vote in favor of the "savings" because they know that after election Congress will meet again and will have an opportunity to save an essential Government service from being wrecked by the economies they voted for.

Taxes Are Real.

Taxes imposed in the unprecedented tax bill are real. They include many and varied taxes which shall induce determined fights on the Senate floor. The tax bill represents a clash between the representatives of the "divine right of the dollar" advocates of the capitalistic system and those who believe that taxation may properly be used to bring about a decentralization of wealth as counted by the dollar.

There is talk that the tax bill will be disposed of in a week or ten days. Perhaps it shall. But if it is disposed of by the Senate in ten days even those leaders who predict that will be surprised.

One of the Democratic leaders confessed yesterday that if the tax bill were passed by the Senate, sent to the necessary conference and finally approved by June 10, it would represent a fairly speedy action.

Indicative of the uncertainty in the minds of those who framed the bill is the action of Senator Reed Smoot (Republican), of Utah, chairman of the finance committee, when he called another meeting of the committee for 10 o'clock this morning to consider the rubber tariff in the bill. Representatives of the rubber consuming industries suggested the meeting. The rubber tariff was estimated to raise something like $50,000,000. There is reported to be a year's supply of rubber in this country now. Committee members said that the rubber tariff would be necessary to fill out the "budget-balancing" tax bill. It was agreed there would be a conference today.

Tariff Provisions Snag.

The tariff provisions of the tax bill remain the largest stumbling block to quick disposition of the bill. The greatest trouble the bill will run into, so far as tariffs are concerned, is the opposition of senators whose tariff-seeking industries find no sustenance in the coal, oil, lumber, copper and other tariff provisions in the bill.

There are several high-protection members of the Senate who would rather see no tariffs in the bill than to have a tariff for their particular pets left out.

Democratic leaders who are opposed to admitting their party's conversion to the protective tariff idea are counting on such support to beat the tariffs voted in the bill by the finance committee with the aid of Democratic votes.

But when it comes down to counting noses, no Democratic leader who values his reputation as a prophet is ready to say the tariffs in the bill will be stricken out. Some may be eliminated. The coal and various lumber tariffs are the weakest. Democrats agreed. But the outcome of the various votes will depend to a considerable extent on the time of the votes.

Sales Tax Advocates Gain.

Proponents of the sales tax are gaining strength. Sales tax advocates are working to persuade members of the House to agree to a general sales tax. They are trying to get enough members of the House who voted against the sales tax to commit themselves in its favor to persuade the Senate to accept it.

Senator David A. Reed (Republican), of Pennsylvania, and Senator David I. Walsh (Democrat), of Massachusetts, are leaders of the sales tax fight. Although advocates of the sales tax are urging that the tax would be accepted by the previously hostile House they are talking without the support of similar predictions of Republican and Democratic leaders of the House.

Senate leaders are trying to work out an agreement which will permit disposal of the tax bill within ten days, and issue confident predictions to that effect. There are so many factors entering into consideration of the measure, however, that it is not likely that the tax bill will be disposed of until June has trod several days on the heels of May.

Hail 9 Inches Thick Kills 13, Injures 120

Allahabad, India, May 10 (U.P.).—A fall of hailstones—some of which were reported to be nine inches in diameter—killed 13 persons and injured 120 others in villages surrounding Allahabad, official messages reported today. The messages said it was feared the final death toll would be four times greater than the present figures.

Cattle were driven wild by the stones, which fell during a terrific thunderstorm. Some live stock jumped from cliffs and into wells, the report stated. The entire mango crop in the district was ruined. Houses were smashed and large buildings severely damaged. The messages said "millions of rats" were killed.

Signing of Waterway Treaty Believed Near

Ottawa, Ont., May 10 (U.P.).—A member of the Bennett government said tonight that so far as he knew there was no foundation for a rumor current in Parliament that the St. Lawrence waterway treaty between Canada and the United States had been signed at Washington. He said, however, that the treaty might be signed at any time.

It was felt here the alacrity with which the American Government agreed to Canada's request for redistribution of radio channels, after refusing for years to recognize the Canadian claim, supports the belief the waterway treaty negotiations are nearing a conclusion. The changed Washington attitude on radio channels is attributed to desire there to smooth the way for the execution of the treaty.

SONORA BENCH BUSY ON 9-DAY DIVORCES

Mexican Judge Says U. S. Couples May Be Split at Own Fireside.

Nogales, Sonora, May 10 (A.P.).—Courts here are humming with activity due to the new law, effective since April 28, which makes divorce possible within nine days. There is no residence required. All legal prerequisites may be fulfilled with a power of attorney.

"Anyone can now be divorced without leaving their fireside," Judge Alfonso Lopez said. "Proper legalization of documents, however, is emperative. Attorneys in Nogales, Sonora, can handle a divorce case unhampered by any residence requirement on the part of their clients. In cases of mutual consent, a divorce can be granted within nine days."

According to the new law, divorce papers are now legalized by the Mexican consul in the city where those persons seeking a Sonora divorce reside. This avoids the necessity of mailing the legal proceedings to Mexico City to prove their authenticity. In this way a final decree may be obtained at a saving of 25 days.

Date of British Flier's Trial to Be Set May 17

Miami, Fla., May 10 (A.P.).—Capt. W. N. Lancaster, former British army aviator, must wait until May 17 to learn the date of his murder trial on a charge of killing Haden Clarke, fiance of his flying partner, Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller. Circuit Judge H. F. Atkinson disclosed today that he would announce the time of the trial on that date.

Meanwhile, Capt. Lancaster continued preparation for his defense. James M. Carson, prominent Miami attorney, announced he has been retained as defense counsel, along with James H. Lathero. Carson pointed out lack of funds on the part of Lancaster is handicapping efforts to gather evidence in his behalf.

Newton was described as amateur golf champion of the Congressional Country Club, of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Newton refused alimony, stating: "I just want my freedom and, my maiden name back."

Miss Johnson first won fame for a solo flight from England to Australia and later flew to Japan and back.

Former Athlete Tries Suicide at Baltimore

Baltimore, May 10 (A.P.).—Leaving a note that blamed his wife for his action, Harry R. Jackson, 35, former University of Missouri football player, attempted to commit suicide today in an East Baltimore street hotel.

Hotel employes found him unconscious on the floor of his room and took him to a hospital, where physicians said he was suffering from an overdose of a drug. They said his condition was critical but that he may recover.

Girl, 11, Found in Ruins At Lyons; Dies Later

Lyons, France, May 10 (A.P.).—An 11-year-old girl was extricated today from the ruins of one of the apartment houses wrecked by landslides Sunday, but she died shortly after being freed.

Five additional bodies were discovered, and it was feared 20 or so still were entrapped. The discovery of the young girl spurred rescue workers to greater effort, as it pointed to the possibility of other persons being found.

Spanish Prince, 25, Outlives Haemophilia

Lausanne, Switzerland, May 10 (A.P.).—The Prince of Asturias, eldest son of former King Alfonso of Spain, today observed his twenty-fifth birthday—a most important day to him as his physicians have told him that if he were able to combat haemophilia for 25 years he ought to recover from it.

Haemophilia is a disease which causes excessive bleeding, even from the slightest scratch. Several members of the Spanish royal family have suffered from it. It is an ailment transmitted by females, but afflicting only males. The prince was reported in good health.

Seabury Upbraided At Public Hearing

State Senator Forces Recess and Narrowly Averts Arrest.

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—State Senator John A. Hastings violently upbraided Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter legislative city investigation committee, during a recess in a public hearing of the committee today. The senator narrowly escaped being taken into custody by a policeman.

Seabury had been examining Frank R. Fageol, bus company official, about bus franchise negotiations in which Hastings was alleged to have taken part. Every time his name was mentioned Hastings guffawed and recess was taken in an effort to obtain quiet.

"This is political blackmail," the senator shouted at Seabury. "Why don't you call me to the stand? I demand to be called." Seabury replied that he would probably call Hastings Thursday.

A uniformed patrolman entered the room, seized Hastings by the arm and was leading him, remonstrating, from the room, when Senator Samuel H. Hofstadter, chairman of the committee, intervened and Hastings was left alone.

PLANS INTERESTING MEAL WITH BAKED STUFFED HEART.

OUR little stock of request "no address" recipes has suddenly swelled to the point of necessitating attention to at least one of them each day for some days to come; therefore, we shall be consistent in the matter for the rest of the week. But may we say that always the better part of valor from friends who need help is a stamped, self-addressed envelope, to the end that there be no delay by waiting for "column space" through which to send their answers? It's a pretty busy little column, you know, and a pretty crowded one, what with our dinner menu each day and its necessary recipes. But here is our next letter to answer:

Dear Madam—Would you please print way of preparing pearl tapioca? I am very fond of this dish, especially the way it is prepared in restaurants. Would appreciate this recipe as soon as possible. Thank you. Very truly,

"MRS. J. BENNETTT."

Tapioca Pudding.

1-3 cupful pearl tapioca
2 cupfuls milk
2 egg whites, beaten stiff
2 egg yolks, beaten
1-3 cupful sugar
Speck of salt
½ teaspoonful vanilla.

Wash and pick over the tapioca and place in top of double boiler. Cover with boiling water. Add the milk when the water has been absorbed and cook the tapioca until clear and soft. Beat the yolks of the eggs, add the salt and sugar and the hot milk mixture and cook until it thickens like soft custard. Remove from the fire and fold in the egg whites, stiffly beaten. Flavor when cold.

WHAT TO DO WITH LEFT-OVERS

Do you ever wonder how to use left-over meat, fish, vegetables, fruits, &c.?

If you do, and who doesn't, you will surely welcome the numerous suggestions and the variety of recipes for tasty dishes contained in our newest folder. All are essentially inexpensive, appetizing and simple, to meet the present day need for economy.

THURSDAY'S DINNER.

Cream of Pea Soup
Stuffed Lambs' Hearts
Mashed Potatoes
Beet Greens in Ramekins
Salad Supreme with Honey Salad Dressing
Saltines
Coffee

Stuffed Lambs' Hearts.

Carefully wash and trim loose edges from the hearts, allowing one to each person, and parboil in water to which has been added a tablespoonful of vinegar. For the stuffing take one cupful stale breadcrumbs, a half teaspoonful of poultry seasoning, a small chopped onion which has been fried in a tablespoonful of butter and a strip of bacon cut in small pieces. Mix these ingredients and add to them a whole unbeaten egg and sufficient soup stock or water to moisten. Mix thoroughly before filling the hearts and, after filling, bake, base side down, for one hour. Pour a half cupful of water into the pan and baste the hearts frequently. This amount of stuffing provides for about three hearts.

Beet Greens in Ramekins.

Clean the beet greens and cook them in salt water until tender. Mix with a white sauce which has been seasoned with a bit of Worcestershire and add a minced, hard-cooked egg. Place in ramekins, cover with buttered cracker crumbs and brown in a hot oven.

Medium White Sauce.

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoonfuls flour
½ teaspoonful of salt
Dash of pepper
1 cupful of milk.

Melt butter, add flour, salt and pepper and stir thoroughly until smooth. Add milk a little at a time, stirring constantly until it thickens.

Salad Supreme.

6 slices canned pineapple, cut in cubes
3 oranges, cut in pieces
1 can white cherries, stoned

Honey Salad Dressing

Yolks of three eggs, beaten
½ cupful strained honey
½ cupful lemon juice
1 grated lemon rind
1 tablespoonful sugar

Mix all ingredients and cook in double boiler until thick and creamy. (This will keep for weeks in a cold place). Add two tablespoonfuls to one-half pint of whipped cream and serve on the mixed, chilled fruit.

THE WEIGHT GUIDE.

For individual assistance, write to Nancy Carey, sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope and give age, weight, height and habits of life.

Answers to Readers.

Dear Miss Carey: Are there any kinds of pies or pastries a too-fat lady may have? I simply can't do without them and yet I must reduce. My doctor says so, my friends think so, and I know so. Must I just eat fruit and gelatin for dessert always—never any cakes or pies or puddings?

LAURA L.

Well, that is entirely up to you, my dear. You may have cakes and pies and puddings if you must, but if you are in earnest about reducing—and I believe you are—you must also count them carefully in each day's caloric total so that your allowance will not be exceeded. Because they are so high in caloric value it becomes especially necessary that they be accurately accounted for. Taken once in a while to satisfy a persistent sweet tooth, they should not be harmful. In fact, they may serve a double purpose by demonstrating how much more difficult it is to balance one's meals properly when pie or cake or a rich pudding is the dessert indulged in.

There is no such thing as a low-caloric pie or nonfattening cake, sad to relate. But less sugar or shortening may be used, single-crust pies, for example, and cakes of the angel food and sponge variety. These are much less fattening than double-crust pies and rich butter cakes, especially if very little sugar is used for sweetening. Most of us use too much sugar—the result of pampered tastes and not of necessity. You will be amazed in time to find that less sugar will actually improve the foods you eat, and you will be so much more successful in reducing as well. There is, however, a special whipped cream for reducing with which you may garnish your gelatin desserts, simple puddings and fruits, which we shall be very glad to send you for a self-addressed, stamped envelope. It has the apperance, the taste and the glamour, but not the calories.

To E. S. C.—You should weigh about 128 or 130 pounds, my dear, but, since you are so very little overweight and still young and growing, do not worry about such a slight variation. Eat three regular meals each day and avoid nibbling between meals. Walk briskly, taking some exercise out of doors each day, and then forget all about reducing until you are much, much older.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Cinema Stars Are Bobbing Their Hair.

ONE reason why cinema stars achieve so much of that distinguished look that all womankind crave is this: they are ahead of the rest of the world and while the pendulum of one style is swinging upward (and long before it swings down again) they are adopting another style.

Elsie Pierce.

Here is first-hand information from Hollywood, where the writer has been secretly studying cinema stars for some time. They are going back to bobbing. Perhaps because the rest of the world has permitted the hair to grow just a little short of shoulder-length, these screen luminaries are permitting the scissors to do some skilled snipping. Perhaps they like the simplicity of it, or the comfort, but more likely they prefer it right now because it is so "different."

Hairdressers are predicting a revival of the short bob on the very strength of this news from the screen colony. Because Hollywood usually sets the pace for the rest of the American world.

Before the summer has come, long locks will be gone. There's cool comfort and convenience in short hair. And it lends itself to individual treatment, too.

Standardization in Hair Styles Taboo.

Sages who bemoan American standardization would get a jolt to see the varied and distinctive effects that screen stars achieve. What with the new feather curls and swirls, conservative braids and extra pieces of all sorts, it is nothing for a movie favorite to wear her hair a dozen different ways in as many days (or in much less time).

What's more, on precious few occasions do these rightly beloved celebrities choose a hair style that is foreign to their type or out of drawing or balance with the shape of the face.

At all times these stars wear the most ravishingly flattering coiffures.

Hairdresser's Word Law.

And here is a secret that may surprise you. Much as these famously beautiful luminaries know about beauty tricks and individuality, they intrust their locks to expert hairdressers and allow the hairdressing experts to make suggestions, even dictate, and only recently I overheard one say: "Snip to your heart's content, do your darndest, but remember that I want something terribly different."

To be sure it never hurts to do a little experimenting at home—part your hair here and there, comb it one way then another, try to visualize it short, long, fluffy, flat, then having made up your mind as to the coiffure that should be most becoming, go to an expert and let him change it if necessary, or follow your instructions if he sees fit. A haircutting and hairdressing specialist should really know his business—and usually does.

My bulletins on brushing the hair, massaging the scalp, shampooing the hair at home are yours for the asking. Remember the stamped, addressed envelope. Coiffure alone is not enough—hair must be lustrous and lovely to be truly beautiful.

What Today Means

"TAURUS."

IF May 11 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 9:35 a. m., from 2:20 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:30 a. m. to noon and from 9 p. m. to 10:30 p. m.

The physical, mental and emotional sides of life will be more stressed than material affairs on May 11. Most illnesses will be those of the mind, and these can be cured by mental stimulus and by proving all things and only holding on to that which is good. In affairs of the heart, patience and restraint must be shown, as any sudden impulse will only estrange the object of affection.

The child born on this May 11 will pick things up very quickly, but will not have the retentive or accurate memory which usually accompanies a less rapid brain. It will be capable of doing spectacular feats, but will lack the enduring qualities necessary for slow and substantial building of any kind.

Born on May 11, you are a most self-reliant and self- sufficient being, and in an indifferent way experience considerable happiness. You are too self-centered and selfish, however, to ever experience that divine happiness and blissful contentment which can only come through more selfless love and services. You are a pretty shrewd bargainer with the world, and you usually get whatever you go after. What life gives is what you take from it, and as yet you do not value properly many simple things of life which you pass unnoticed.

When in an amiable mood you are a most agreeable companion, full of life, merriment and optimism. When your temper is on edge, you display a side of self which is not flattering; you are gloomy and pouty as a woman and testy and grumpy as a man. You take it out on all who are unfortunate enough to be in reach of your tongue. You are so strongly afflicted with a sense of your own superiority that even an implied criticism offends you.

In dealing with a problem you dig straight for the roots, eager to find out if there is anything healthy upon which to build. You have an analytical mind, and are capable of deep thinking. You are domesticated enough to desire a home and home folks of your own.

Successful people born on May 11:

John Lowell, established Lowell Institute, Boston.

Matthew Vassar, benefactor of Vassar College.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

TREES HAVE DEFINITE VALUE.

TREES are both decorative and useful. There is nothing which lends an atmosphere of home to a house as do a few large trees. They provide beauty and comfort. If you have old, established shade about your grounds, you are fortunate. If you haven't do you know it is possible, if modern methods are employed, to move large trees? Specimens 50 to 60 feet in height?

To wait twenty years for shade is rather discouraging, and to plant some of the rapid growing but undesirable varieties is a mistake. When selecting a tree, or several trees, always consider your location before you decide anything about the variety you want. While they should frame the house and soften or hide unsightly angles, they must also be placed so that they emphasize natural vistas. Careful thought should be given to these phases of tree planting.

Always keep in mind the fact that nursery-grown trees are particularly desirable. There is a definite reason for this. The root systems of such trees have been pruned and grown to force a mass of fibrous feeding roots near the trunks of the trees, thus assuring the maximum recovery from the shock of transplanting.

When digging a hole for any tree be sure that it is well drained and sufficiently large to allow a free growth of new roots, which are sure to form soon after the tree is planted.

It is well to add a good grade of top soil to the bottom of the hole to encourage the greatest possible growth. Some of our best authorities advocate adding fertilizer to the soil in the bottom of the pit. If you are planning to move a large tree, do consult an expert. An amateur rarely transplants a large tree successfully.

Evergreens may be planted later than deciduous trees, but do not neglect to soak them with plenty of water daily for several weeks after they have been moved, because if the roots once dry out they can not be revived.

All trees require a great deal of moisture the first season after transplanting.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

"Sophie" is the whimsical name given to this delightful black woolen model with its white pique cuffs and vestee effect that makes a belt in back. (Courtesy of the Maison Heim, Paris.)

NEW YORK, May 10.—It's really harder to select the proper wallpaper than to select the right gown! Because though we may have closet tragedies in our family which scarcely ever see the light of day—we can hardly change our minds or our wallpapers either, with equal facility.

A lovely lady must remember to choose her wall hangings or wall coloring with an eye to whatever she chooses being a background for her. Not what she would like to look at, but what she would like to have seen around her as a background when she is being looked at!

Certain wall colorings in the greens, reds and blues should be avoided for the simple reason that they almost always reflect unflatteringly. And mauve, though we yearn for lavender boudoirs, should be carefully considered. Lavender seldom looks the same under electric lights as it does in daylight. Also some lavenders are sickly, in effect, rather than flattering. One should select a mauve in anything that is subdued, and either fairly rosy or fairly blue, lavender being an opaque mixture of rose and blue. The too-lavender walls are not good for loveliness.

Then one must remember that a dark room will not stand the same kind of coloring on its walls that a light room will. As well as the fact that lighter colored walls make a room seem larger, darker colors make it seem smaller. Also, as in the lines for your frocks, remember that horizontal lines will make a room seem lower, while vertical lines in wall paper or hangings will make it appear higher.

And always, remember that it is you the walls are backgrounding, so they should be flattering you and wrapping you around with subtle charm and flattering loveliness!

And if you are somewhere where you just can't order the wall paper or wall coverings changed at will, then a negligee that exactly suits you and flatters you in color and line and elegance is the right thing to have!

The one I illustrated for you this week is simply too lovely—easily made, too, and not so very expensive, not nearly as expensive as one would think to look at it! Better send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet which tells you step by step how to make it, and see for yourself. Nothing is as good for the family morale as a new boudoir negligee for the lady of the house, especially when she makes it herself—and more especially when it looks as though it cost ten times what it actually does.

• • • •

"Sophie" is what Monsieur Heim called the frock I illustrated for you today. And what a gay young thing Sophie turns out to be. Black woolen, oh, sheer and lightweight—and with a white pique gilet that forms a basque waist and goes all around the back—and matching pique cuffs. The incrustations that make the shoulders wider without seeming to are interesting—and those on the skirt follow the lines of those on the bodice, until they come to making the skirt fullness, where they just naturally do that without being obvious about it.

• • • •

What is called chalky crepes are looked at with much interest by those in the know, for fall—as I told you. But I forgot to mention that the big advantage of this kind of a material is that its surface has the same dull appearance no matter from what angle it is viewed.

Au revoir.

A SAFETY PLAY.

IN THE recent world bridge Olympic conducted by the National Bridge Association, in which more than 30,000 players, in countries scattered around the world, participated, the hands represented diverse principles of bidding and play. Hand No. 4 illustrated two basic principles of correct bidding and play.

The first was the principle of giving your partner, who has opened the bidding, an opportunity to bid again, provided your hand is of such a type as to promise a future in case he rebids. As bidding is a prediction of the number of tricks which can be made with the hand, this shaded response is fully justified when the opponent to your right has passed your partner's Opening bid. In such cases, you should visualise not a minimum bid of one, but possibly a maximum, and if the hand has any bidding values justifying a response, steps should be taken to permit your partner to bid again.

In the play, the hand illustrated a principle of suit management—far from well known—which is called the "safety" play. This play is so named because it is designed to insure the loss of not more than 1 trick in a suit in which, by another line of play, the Declarer might avoid the loss of any tricks whatever, but the trick given up is insurance that the contract will be fulfilled, and thus relegates the extra tricks, of which some Contract players are so proud, to the place where they actually belong. If, in order to score an extra trick over the contract, the player endangers a safe contract, he should be actually penalized, rather than rewarded for taking the risk.

The hand, which illustrated the principle of bidding and the principle of play discussed above, is as follows:

East—Dealer.

The Bidding.

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
			1♠ (1)
Pass	1NT (2)	Pass	3♠ (3)
Pass	4♠ (4)	Pass	Pass
Pass

1—A bid of one is the best on this hand, as East's trump suit is not strong enough to justify a bid of three or four.

2—West's hand is very weak, but it contains nearly 1½ honor-tricks, and thus is strong enough to permit partner to bid again.

3—When East knows that his partner has at least some slight strength, game appears very probable. He shows his powerful spade suit and four honor-tricks by a Jump Rebid of three spades.

4—Although West's one notrump was a minimum, his three trumps and doubleton club are of sufficient additional value to justify a Raise to 4, in view of partner's strong bidding.

South opens a club, and East ruffs the second round of that suit. He can see, as possible losers, one heart and two spades in addition to the trick already lost. In order to make probable the fulfillment of his contract, he must make every effort to lose no more than one spade trick. Therefore, he uses the safety play described above, and lays down the Ace. As a matter of fact, in this particular hand, instead of giving the opponents a trick in trumps, this play prevents them from making a single trick in the suit, but regardless of the distribution of the trumps adversely held, the play can not lose. If South holds spades K x J x, two spade tricks must be lost, no matter what play is made. Against any other division of the cards, with the play as actually made, the opponents can not make more than one trick in the trump suit.

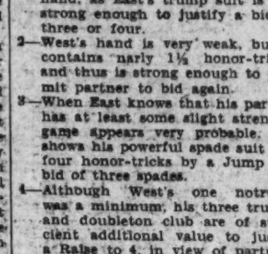
TODAY'S POINTER.

In playing a hand at Contract Bridge, it is quite frequently good tactics to give up one trick that might possibly be won by a finesse, in order to safeguard yourself from losing more than one trick in that suit. Such a play is known as the "safety" play.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

IS TUBERCLE VACCINATION SAFE?

FIVE years ago the New York City health department commenced trying out the B. C. G. method of vaccinating children against consumption. This method was proposed by Dr. Calmette, of the Pasteur Institute in Paris, twelve years ago, based on work which was begun more than twenty years earlier. After satisfying himself with his test tube specimens, the distinguished Frenchman extended his research to laboratory animals. After working for several seasons in this field he began vaccinating calves. Work in protecting children was the next step and, finally work was begun with selected groups of adults. Up to the present time he reports that the number of children vaccinated in various parts of the world runs well above a million, and the number of cattle vaccinated is about as great.

The length of time since the first calves were injected has been long enough for the animals to have matured, gone to producing milk and lived out the expected life of a cow at the pail. Some of the children vaccinated years ago are now grown-ups.

Dr. Calmette is firm in his belief that he is preventing consumption by the use of a simple, inexpensive, and safe method. Both of his claims have been disputed. A recent report by Drs. Kereszturi, W. H. Park, and B. Schick relates particularly to the question of safety. In 1927 they commenced the use of the vaccine given to young babies in milk by the mouth. This is the method that I saw on trial in Montreal several years ago. Since 1929, in New York City, they have been injecting vaccine under the skin in some cases, and into the skin in others. They have found no harm results of particular importance when the vaccination is done either way. The vaccinated children give a positive tuberculin test, and this capacity persists for several months.

No other evidence that they were tuberculous was given and this positive tuberculin test was taken as proving that the method was working successfully in so far as the test threw any light on that question. The percentage of success measured by this standard was 87. The vaccinated children had no fever and lost no weight. Some of the cases developed cold abscesses at the point of injection. This was regarded as unpleasant, but not as dangerous. The likelihood of a cold abscess following was least when the injection had been made into the skin.

Some of the children were in homes with open cases of consumption where exposure was inevitable. In fact, something like a year ago the New York City Health Department sent a letter to physicians asking them to notify the health authorities of children living at home with open cases of consumption, in order that the protective power of the vaccine might be put to a severe test.

Drs. Kereszturi, Park and Schick are not ready to report their findings on the protective power of the vaccine. This report deals solely with its safety.

SAFE TO MARRY.

Worried writes:

1. My fiance has been ill with tuberculosis, and is returning to Chicago after taking the cure for seven months in the Southwest. He is pronounced cured by the doctors at the sanitarium, and I would like to know if it would jeopardize my health if we were to be married.

2. Would living in the Southwest be less risky in getting this illness again than in Chicago?

REPLY.

1. If he is returning after a rather brief stay in the Southwest he will probably relapse, but if you marry him and both of your are careful you should not become infected.

2. Yes.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES McDONALD

Marrying For Money.

DEAR Frances McDonald: I am sure you can advise me, and I have good faith in your advice. My mother reads your letters to people and I am sure she would benefit by your advice to me. I really love your understanding story. I must go back to the beginning. I am the only child. My mother and father married late in life and are very old-fashioned. I had a strict bringing up. My father and mother were never ones to spare the rod and spoil the child. Now I am 20 and my mother is trying to make me marry a man 15 years older than myself who is very rich, but for whom I care absolutely nothing. I have never known any boys my own age and feel that I do not want to marry, but as I have always obeyed my father and mother, I feel that it is impossible for me to hold out against them in this matter. They both say as they are getting old they think it is my duty to marry this man, so they can die in peace, knowing their only child is well taken care of. They both say that love will come later. I know the man is good and well worth while, but I do not love him. I have a friend who married a rich older man to please her family, and now she is odt working, as her husband has lost all his money. Please, Miss McDonald, answer this and tell me what you think.

MARION

Marrying for money is bad business. You are 20. Far better to get busy and fit yourself to be self-supporting than to marry any man as a mere insurance against want. That is like marrying to avoid loneliness when you are 80. How many people ever have the companionship of their children in their old age? How many couples die simultaneously? Someone is left behind, someone has to be "lonely in their old age." So it is poor policy to marry as an insurance against anything—especially poverty. The number of people who have descended from wealth to want in the past two years should be warning enough for anyone. So much for the purely material angle. But there is a much more important consideration and that is the ethical and esthetic side of the question.

It takes a mighty stolid nature to endure marriage without love. Something in a woman must be destroyed before she can accomplish such a feat, some sensitiveness that is a part of the spiritual entity. Such violence to the psychic side of existence seems too great a price to pay for anything in life. We know personally quite a few women who have paid that price, and who now flit from one insane diversion to another just to forget. One watches them and wonders at the cowardice that drives people to such extremity. To sell out, to admit life's uncertainties too great to face. What poverty of spirit! What a perfectly craven attitude toward Fate! For us the fray, the battle fairly won, and whether in victory or defeat, the sense of having played the game clear through! Accept our philosophy and you will not regret.

Douglas, Delegate Hugh Reid, Deputy Commissioner of Revenue C. B. Laycock, Delinquent Tax Collector P. F. Chew, Chairman Harry A. Fellows and members of the county board, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Magruder, and John C. Gall.

County Chairman W. L. Bragg announces that the delegates will meet at the courthouse next Wednesday evening to perfect organization.

As members of the Arlington County board carrying on a vigorous campaign in opposition to the Byrd road bill, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Magruder and Lyman M. Kelley spoke at the meeting of the Clarendon Citizens Association last night.

The speakers urged the association to help obtain the required signatures to the petition asking the judge of the circuit court to call a special meeting on the question. They declared the board is unanimous in its opposition to the bill and say that application of the plan to Arlington County would greatly hinder plans for future development.

Mr. Kelley stressed the point that the State has not given any promises as to allocations, and expressed the view that any allocations will fall far short of the county needs in road improvement.

Mrs. Magruder declared her faith in local self-government, and against going to Richmond with all the county's road problems.

The association indorsed the Civic Federation's resolution calling for the appointment of a woman on the county school board to be elected on or before July 1.

Harry A. Fellows, chairman of the county board, with Fred A. Gosnell, member of the board, addressed the mass meeting held under the auspices of the Leeway Citizens Association in the Robert E. Lee School.

Arms Parley Restricts Secrecy on Press Plea

Geneva, May 10 (U.P.).—Upon the demands of newspapermen assigned to Geneva, the disarmament conference today decided to abandon, "so far as possible," the recently increasing practice of secret meetings. At a special meeting of the conference's general commission, it was decided to hold public meetings in the future, except under unusual conditions and except in connection with the work of drafting committees.

The demand of the newspapermen was presented by Clarence Streit, correspondent for the New York Times and president of the International Association of Journalists accredited to the league.

"I have not made up my mind on whether to enter the Senate race, although I have been urged to do so," the Secretary of the Treasury in the Wilson Cabinet, told newspapermen. "I will make a decision when I return to California."

Montgomery Road Bonds May Be Sold

Philadelphia Firm to Take Over $1,000,000 Issue at 99 and Interest.

Montgomery County's $1,000,000 road and school bond issue again is before the public, this time with a fair chance of securing a price acceptable to the Montgomery County commissioners. Sale of the issue will permit start of the school and road building program which has been held up by the failure to sell the bonds at a price satisfactory to the county.

The commissioners have completed an agreement with E. H. Rollins & Sons, nationally known security house of Philadelphia, whereby the Philadelphia firm will take over the bonds at a price of 99 and accrued interest, which would bring nearly par to the county, and still permit a fair profit for the securities firm. The firm is advertising the bonds and expects to sell them through its chain of offices scattered over the country.

Should the firm be unable to sell a reasonable portion of the bonds or the entire issue, the deal will be off, according to Lacy Shaw, president of the board of commissioners. The securities firm has been given a two-week period to sound out its prospects and ascertain whether or not it can handle the issue or a sizable portion.

WELLS WILL SUPPLY TOWN WITH WATER

Falls Church Will Not Use Mains Recently Purchased From Arlington County.

When three valves in the water mains of the town of Falls Church, Va., are closed in the near future, citizens of the Fairfax County section will use water from town wells instead of that purchased from Arlington County. Pumps have been installed in two of the wells and as soon as the lines can be sterilized to accord to State health department regulations they will be put in service. The 300,000-gallon water tank will be filled at night. Mayor L. P. Daniel reported to the town council that the wells will supply three times the amount of water needed for the town.

Mayor Daniel and Councilman Charles Gage, chairman of the town water committee, were authorized by the council to enter into negotiations with the Arlington County board for the purchase of the water mains now owned by Arlington County in the East Falls Church section of the town. Such purchase was authorized by the last session of the State Assembly.

Mayor Daniel appointed the following judges for the town election next month: Dr. Julius Paramelee, Councilman Gage and Town Clerk J. C. Parrott. The voters of the town will elect a mayor, councilmen from three wards, now filled by J. V. Turner, Frank L. Birch and Milton Roberts, and a town sergeant. Persons becoming candidates must file their notice with the town clerk at least ten days before the election.

A resolution was adopted urging the State highway commission to take over Broad street through the town for maintenance in accordance with provisions of the Porter-Rhodes act, which becomes effective on June 15. The question of the town imposing license taxes on business and professional persons and corporations was indefinitely postponed.

The town school board was authorized to borrow $2,500 to improve Jefferson High School, installing modern conveniences and electric lights in the classrooms.

Chevy Chase Lake Zone Hearings Set

Applications for Apartment Classification Come Up June 16 and 23.

Hearing dates of the applications of the Chevy Chase Land Co. for reclassification of property at Chevy Chase Lake and on Wisconsin avenue at the District line in order that apartments may be erected have been ordered changed by the Montgomery County Commissioners.

The commissioners took this action because of the interest being shown in the question by business and civic organizations of the county.

The large crowds expected to be present will preclude the holding of both hearings at the same time. The Chevy Chase Lake hearing will be held in the Bethesda County Building June 16, at 7 p. m., and the Wisconsin avenue project hearing will be June 23, at the same time.

Both projects have been disapproved by the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission after strenuous objection by the citizenry to apartment houses and stores in the two neighborhoods.

Man Freed of Charge Of Attempted Bribery

Richmond, Va., May 10 (A.P.).—Jack Seeman, of New York, one of a trio arrested on a charge of attempting to bribe a local representative of the Burns Detective Agency, was dismissed in Police Court today. C., who also faces a charge of having $30,000 in stolen Liberty bonds in his possession, and Charles Green, of New York, will be given a hearing June 17.

The three men were arrested after what authorities described as an attempt to bribe Detective J. Ward Erb, who has been hired by a Philadelphia bank to investigate the theft of the bonds. Chadwick will be tried May 25 on the larceny charge.

Court Today Hears Fight on Cemetery

Montgomery Civic Groups Will Enter Protest Against Plan.

Civic groups from several interested communities are expected to be present this morning at 10 o'clock when hearing on the petition of Fulton R. Gordon for an injunction against the Montgomery County Commissioners interfering with his establishment of a cemetery at Bradley boulevard and River road will be started before Judge Robert B. Peter in Montgomery Circuit Court, at Rockville, Md.

Citizens of the affected communities declare that establishment of a cemetery will hamper the growth of what they assert is the most rapidly growing country club and estate district of the county and of Washington. They point out that several beautiful estates have been purchased in the neighborhood and that several other deals which will bring pretentious development to the section are being held up while the cemetery controversy is pending.

Officials of the Congressional Country Club also are fighting the petition as the cemetery would front on the country club. The club officials declare that the sight of mourning vehicles passing at all hours of the day, and the mere proximity of a cemetery would act as a damper on the joyous atmosphere which should pervade a club property devoted primarily to amusement.

Police Talk Way Past Barred Door

Gambling Raid Follows; One Held and 28 Are Allowed to Go.

Two First Precinct policemen who talked their way through a heavily barred steel door at 219 E street northwest yesterday arrested one man for permitting gaming and allowed 28 others found in the place their freedom.

Privates Birch and Grooms walked up a flight of steps and knocked on the door, they said. They were scrutinized through a peep hole, but after telling plausible stories were allowed to enter. "The only way you could have taken that door would have been to take the building with it," Birch said later.

The door was solid steel and built into the masonry. It was operated by a wheel which threw heavy iron bars into slots and clamped them into place, according to the police. Racing forms and a loud speaker for broadcasting racing results were found, they said. The man arrested on the gaming charge gave his name as Harry Schmidt, 31 years old, of 2701 Fourteenth street northwest.

Seminary Alumnae Plan for Reunion

Delegates From Over U. S. Expected; Opens With Mass Sunday.

A three-day national reunion of the Alumnae Association of Immaculata Seminary will begin Sunday morning with solemn high mass in the seminary, Wisconsin and Nebraska avenues. Delegates from many sections of the United States are expected to assemble here.

The major project to be discussed by the alumnae will be the transforming of the Immaculata Chapel into a shrine of rich ecclesiastical beauty. Plans in preparation for the reunion and for the entertainment of alumnae from other cities are being directed by Sister Frances Helen, superioress of Immaculata; Mrs. Frank A. Biberstien, of Washington, president of the Alumnae Association, and Miss Ann Brosnan, regent of Washington Chapter of the association.

Accommodations for the visiting alumnae will be provided by the Sisters of Providence at the seminary.

Commissioners Oppose Another Legal Holiday

The District Commissioners yesterday reported adversely on a bill to make Jefferson's birthday, April 13, a legal holiday in Washington.

"The Commissioners do not consider it in the public interest to have this legislation enacted unless the day is declared a national holiday in all the States of the Union," the report stated.

Gas heat

MAKES YOUR HOUSE COMFORTABLE

ALL YEAR

Now is the time to install gas heat, so that you can enjoy its advantages this summer, as well as next winter and every summer and winter to come.

How does gas heat bring you comfort in the summer? This way—

Gas heat is compact, clean and quiet, and does away with the need for dirty fuel storage. Therefore, once it is installed, your basement becomes just as clean and neat as any room in the house. Everything which made dirt and noise and confusion in your basement is done away with forever.

Therefore, "below-stairs" becomes as usable as upstairs—and it is many degrees cooler in the summer. A little paint and wallboard, and you have the most comfortable and pleasant room in the house during hot weather.

Then, next fall, you're all set to continue to be comfortable—light a pilot, and your whole house will be kept at summer-time warmth all winter long.

Call NAtional 8280 now, and be all ready to enjoy both summer AND winter.

WEIGHT INSPECTORS CONVICTED IN FRAUD

Two Capone Pals Are Found Guilty; Cost to Public Put at $54,000,000.

Chicago, May 10 (A.P.).—State Senator Dan Serritella and his colleague, Harry Hochstein, political pals of the Capones, were adjudged guilty today of conspiring to let Chicago merchants cheat their customers of millions by short weight.

The jury left to Judge James J. Kelly the penalty they must pay for the illicit wealth gathered from storekeepers at whose violations they "winked."

But the jurors picked the most lenient of the four possible verdicts against the former city sealer and his deputy, appointees in the cabinet of former Mayor William Hale Thompson. The misdemeanor count they chose carries a maximum sentence of one year in the House of Correction and a fine of $2,000. It may be as low as a single day in jail and $1 fine.

The prosecutors who traced the "protection" fees paid by the cheating merchants to Serritella and his aid never estimated the cost to the housewives of Chicago, but newspapers, figuring up the total of an extra cent paid here, an ounce lopped off there, placed the overcharges during the Serritella regime as high as $54,000,000.

Both had for long been the reputed allies of "Scarface Al" Capone. Just a week ago, when Capone walked in shackles to the train bound for Federal prison at Atlanta, Hochstein was one of the friends at the depot to bid him farewell. Police told him to move on.

"It's about time we're getting after some of these fellows who are running the country," remarked another juror as the courtroom emptied.

The usual motions for new trial were made, and the defendants remained free under $2,500 bond. Judge Kelly said he would impose sentence May 20.

Three Men Acquitted Of Statutory Charges

Three young Capitol Heights men were acquitted on statutory charges yesterday by a jury in Prince Georges County Circuit Court. The men, Albert Boswell, Omer Porter and Kriel Harris, were defended by Attorneys Lansdale G. Sasscer and Thomas J. Luckett.

An indictment charging Eugene Diggs with possession of liquor was quashed when his attorney, Clarence Roberts, pointed out that the warrant on which the raid was made showed Diggs to live in one election district, while the raid was made in another.

Arcanum Loyal Ladies Hold Annual Session

Approximately 100 women are expected to attend the supreme council of the Loyal Ladies of Arcanum which will meet tomorrow at the Dodge Hotel in its twenty-first annual session. A number of delegates have arrived for the executive conference this afternoon.

The District of Columbia Council, No. 16, will be hostesses to the visiting delegates, with Mrs. J. F. Allen, general chairman of the convention, in charge of all arrangements. Mrs. Maude S. Childs, District of Columbia Council, No. 16, is supreme regent of the entire organization.

over what remains of the Bureau of Special Investigations, and its personnel will be used mainly for raiding purposes.

Through crime-prevention work, which Gen. Glassford hopes will be accomplished by the new division, he predicts that within a year "the inmates of District penal institutions will be reduced 25 per cent."

About seventeen members of the former liquor and vice squad will be reassigned, Gen. Glassford said, and five detective sergeants and about twelve precinct detectives will be assigned to the new division. It is his intention to keep the personnel of the new division a secret, and he frequently will shift the members assigned to the work, he said.

The work of the new division will be to accumulate information upon criminal characters residing in the District and to keep in contact with their activities and their associates. In addition, the division will keep under surveillance all places known or suspected of being used for criminal purposes, or where criminals are known to congregate.

They will also keep contact with governmental departments of investigative nature, and will also frequent hotels, railroad stations and keep in contact with railroad police and private detectives. They will also be charged with combatting the plans of seditious organizations.

A juvenile department will also be established to prevent juvenile delinquency.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

EVEN in periods of direst depression, it seems, there come along, from time to time, astute individuals who are able to pull their chestnuts out of the fire without even singeing their fingers.

It is William Fields—"Bill" to you, and you, and you—who has happily been recurrent in Washington with more or less frequency since Mr. Cochran opened last season with "Peter Flies High," at the National, who, as an advance emissary of the big tops, takes his typewriter on his lap to apprise this department as follows:

"Though the information may not properly belong in a dramatic column, it may nevertheless interest you (it does me) to know that the circus—the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, to be specific—is in this year of depression enjoying its greatest popularity in almost a decade. And the word popularity, at least in this instance, is but a substitute for the better, more virile word—patronage.

"At the Madison Square Garden in New York, the circus took in approximately $700,000 in three weeks, its greatest business since 1925. Existing records were again shattered in Boston last week, and the report from Brooklyn, where the Greatest Show on Earth is currently exhibiting, is to the effect that the intake on the first day of the engagement was far in excess of previous initial day records at that stand.

"The answer, as supplied by Mr. John Ringling, is that this season he has the biggest, costliest show that has ever been rolled under the big top. Mr. Ringling unstrapped the bank roll and scoured the world for novelties, aerialists, equestrians, strange wonders and clowns. To quote from an interview that he gave out recently, he 'ordered gayer uniforms, more color, more paint—and more fun.'

"'Mr. John' is one individual who has, apparently, bested the slump by improving his product rather than retrenching. He doesn't attempt to prescribe for others, for he realizes that his circus problem was simple as compared with the vast intricacies of the business machine.

"His experience, however, is none the less interesting as a revelation of how one Baraboo, Wis., business man has licked—or at least stood off—the depression."

Yeah, Bill, that's a swell idea about unleashing all that dough, and all, but there are still a few of us left who are balked by that old familiar business about "first catch the bank roll!"

As the National Theater Players get into their stride, it is fast becoming apparent that the newcomers among the personnel are taking their places in public esteem and affection right up there beside the old-timers who have become favorites of the regulars through the years.

Audience enthusiasm was high, for example, after the fall of the final curtain on the first performance of "Michael and Mary," Monday night, over the exceptionally fine character portrayals that had been offered by Leona Powers and Donald Woods in the two name parts. What impressed me equally, however, was that the ingenue and juvenile, Ona Munson and Owen Davis, jr., came in for applause that was no less enthusiastic and warm, even if they had appeared only in the last act.

Here are two talented young players who are a distinct asset to the Players. Youthful, ebullient, wholesome and thoroughly capable, they acquit themselves handsomely in the current offering and may reasonably be expected to climb rapidly toward greater heights as the season progresses.

A light tap on the shoulder with the flat of the sword and an accolade to each!

Ned Gerber, director of exploitation for Columbia Pictures, in town doing a little high pressure promotion in cooperation with that high-strung Southern gentleman, Mr. Sam Galanty, Columbia's branch manager in Washington, stopped dead in his tracks and spluttered an unintelligible string of surprised ejaculations when he happened upon the billing in front of the Earle Theater announcing the Beverly Sisters as part of the act being presented this week by Irene Vermillion, the plump but plastic acrobatic dancer.

Mr. Gerber, so they tell me, while in charge of advertising and publicity for Loew's Penn Theater in Pittsburgh, Pa., introduced the three talented Beverly girls to the stage as amateurs in a production known as "Pittsburgh's Greater Follies." That was back in 1930. And now look at them—up there on the big time, knocking the customers practically cold with their singing, dancing and instrumentalism. That is, when not drowned out by the orchestra.

Well, that's show business, Mr. Gerber!

Pursuant to the formal statement recently dispatched from Chicago by Ray Henderson on behalf of Katharine Cornell, comes now an announcement from United Artists to the effect that purchase of the motion-picture rights to "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" has been consummated by Joseph M. Schenck, president of the Art Cinema Corporation. It will be produced for Mr. Schenck by Lewis Milestone and will be included in the new season's release of United Artists, with a probable national release date of February 1, 1933. Miss Cornell, as made clear in her own comment on the matter, will not appear in the picture.

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street," it is interesting to note, has now been played almost 500 times in the United States by Miss Cornell and her associates. It ran for fifteen months in London, was presented by two companies in the English provinces, by another in Canada and by a fifth in Australia. Next winter it is to be produced in the chief continental cities.

Another bulletin from United Artists is to the effect that Beulah Bondi, the old hometowner, who had important roles in both the stage and screen versions of "Street Scene" and appeared as Helen Hayes' mother with Ronald Colman in "Arrowsmith," will have one of the principal parts in "Rain," which the versatile Mr. Milestone is placing in rehearsal this week.

Miss Bondi will have the role of the Reverend Davidson's missionary wife, a part which is, to all intents and purposes, made to order for her. It was played on the stage in the original Jeanne Eagels production by Blanche Friderici, if memory serves correctly.

Thus the four principal parts in "Rain" will be filled by Joan Crawford, borrowed from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for this particular assignment as Sadie Thompson, Walter Huston, William Gargan and Miss Bondi.

This seems to be the fulfillment of a hope confided to me when Beulah —who, incidentally, is a close friend of Leona Powers, leading woman with the National Theater Players—was here not so long ago with Pauline Lord in Dan Totheroh's "Distant Drums." At that time, she had just caused Sam Goldwyn a violent sinking spell by refusing a 52-weeks-a-year movie contract that would have entailed her giving up the stage. Like Katharine Cornell, Beulah Bondi's first love is the traditional theater of flesh and blood and she unhesitatingly declined to abandon it for the cinema exclusively. She did express the hope—and the partial belief, by the way—that she would hear again some time from the United Artists lot.

That is what seems to be coming true now.

Old Uncle Nick Altrock, funnyman with the Washington Senators, went behind the footlights at Loew's Palace last night and did a skit with his old pal, "Slim" Timblin, appearing with the "Frivolities" stage revue at the F street house this week.

The audience greeted the efforts of the two comedians with a great hand—so great, as a matter of fact, that they were forced to do a couple of encores.

In other words, the act turned out not to be a foul bawl!

ROBINSON PLANS TO RENEW BATTLE FOR IDLE RELIEF

There are many members of Congress, who, while conceding that this policy may have been all right when the President enunciated it, insist that the situation has now reached a point where the Federal Government must do something more than simply help the local community chests in raising money.

As this sentiment has grown in Congress more than 100 bills have been introduced, all of them proposing some form of Federal aid for the unemployed.

The plans range all the way from the one indorsed by Al Smith for a $5,000,000,000 bond issue to stimuate public works, and thus create jobs, to a plan proposed yesterday by Representative Clarence J. McLeod (Republican), of Michigan, whereby war veterans would be given farms to cultivate.

Aid Asked for Cities.

Senator Royal C. Copeland (Democrat), New York, introduced a bill yesterday to authorize the Reconstruction Corporation to lend money to cities for relief purposes, when the cities are unable to raise money through voluntary contributions or through banks on reasonable terms.

Many Democrats, both in the Senate and in the House, lean toward two bills introduced by Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York.

One calls for a $1,100,000,000 bond issue for Federal construction projects, and the other authorizes an appropriation of $750,000,000, half for loans to States for hunger relief and the other half for road building.

Goal of Congress.

The immediate goal of Congress now is to balance the budget. Having done this, it could hardly unbalance it by making a direct appropriation for unemployment relief.

When the Gifford Commission was asked to pass on the proposed $5,000,000,000 bond issue for public works, it reported that such an issue would depreciate the value of other Federal bonds, would dislocate the commercial bond market, and would result in a number of unnecessary building projects.

As some men on Capitol Hill saw it yesterday, the same arugments might, to a limited degree, be applied to the proposal to have the Reconstruction Finance Corporation aid the States and municipalities.

The corporation began with $500,000,000, this representing the amount of stock which the Federal Government purchased. In addition, it was authorized to issue debentures, or Government guaranteed bonds up to $1,500,000,000.

Thus far, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has not issued any debentures. The original $500,000,000 has been sufficient for its purposes. However, if the law should be changed so as to permit the corporation to buy bonds from States and municipalities, it undoubtedly would have to issue debentures.

The question is, what effect would such an issue have on the value of other Government bonds, or on the commercial market in general. The answer probably would depend on the extent of the State demands and the amount and the impact of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation debentures.

COMMUNITY MUSIC URGED BY LEADER

A nation that does not make its own music lacks one of the greatest of all safety valves, Mrs. Elmer James Ottaway, president of the National Federation of Music Clubs, declared yesterday in her report to officers and national board members at the annual spring meeting of the federation, now in session at the Mayflower Hotel.

Declaring that "America has gone to seed musically, listening to a few soloists," Mrs. Ottaway urged the delegates to redouble their efforts to bring people together to perform music in small groups and in festival centers throughout the country.

She reported that on a recent tour of State conventions through Kansas, Alabama, Kentucky, New York, New Jersey, Virginia and Delaware she found the States carrying out well-defined programs "to revive 'home-made music' as our grandparents knew it."

Urges Community Groups.

Each one of the 300,000 men and women in the 5,000 clubs of the organization should try to get their friends to make their own music in small community groups, Mrs. Ottaway told the board.

Mrs. A. A. Coult, of Nashville, Tenn., chairman of orchestras and bands, presented a report showing that since the last board meeting in October 21 junior orchestras, bands and ensemble groups have been federated.

The District of Columbia Federation of Music Clubs will be host to the officers of the national board of Federated Music Clubs at a luncheon today at the Mayflower Hotel. The speakers will be: John Erskine, composer, lecturer and author, in charge of the Juilliard Foundation of Music, and Dr. Fred A. Moes, who will make public results of a recent experiment in radio education.

Will Hear Two Singers.

The musical program at the luncheon will include selections by Robert Wiedefeld, of Baltimore, winner of the Caruso Memorial Foundation award and baritone-soloist in the cantata, "Washington," to be presented tonight in Constitution Hall, and Earl B. Lippy, of Manchester, Md., 1931 winner of the National Federation of Music Clubs' contest.

The cantata, to be presented tonight, is based upon the life of Washington. The words were written by Edward C. Potter, and the music by R. Deane Shure, both of this city. A chorus of 2,000 voices will be led by the Marine Band Orchestra, under the direction of Capt. Taylor Branson.

The cantata will show the annunciation of Washington, heralded in the prologue, sung by the chorus; Washington as commander of the Virginia militia, life at Mount Vernon," Valley Forge and a scene called "Liberty or Death," to be featured by Patrick Henry's speech.

PAULIST CHOIR WINS ACCLAIM IN CONCERT

Superbly Balanced Group Is Warmly Applauded at Constitution Hall.

The churchly dignity of the Paulist choir at Constitutional Hall last night added melodious praise of George Washington to the series of musical programs sponsored by the Bicentennial Commission during music week.

The superbly balanced choristers, under the direction of Father Finn, presented a varying selection of music ranging from the famous Aria, Largo Al Factotum, from the opera, Barber of Seville, by Rossini, sung by Henri Marcoux, to the Credo in the Pope Marcellus Mass, composed by Palestrina in the sixteenth century, which was sung by the entire choir.

A hymn with a Bicentennial theme, "The Glorious Name of Washington," which was a seventeenth century English air with words arranged by Amy Sherman Bridgman, was presented as a solo by John Keating, accompanied by the choir.

The singers demonstrated their ability at lilting melody in two "Chansons" arranged by Gevaert, "From Lyons As I Journeyed" and "May Song." Edward Hayes, boy soloist, who sang a hymn entitled, "Charity," received an ovation from the large attending audience.

The Most Rev. Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, papal delegate, who attended the concert, evidenced his appreciation of the boy's singing and signaled for a chorus. The single selecton which the boy singer was scheduled to sing was added to by five additional solo selections in answer to the clamorous demands of the audience.

Among the hymns presented by the singers were: "Meditation On the Last Judgment Day," by Arkhangelsky; "Ave Maris Stella," by Grieg; "The Canticle of the Sun," by Ralph Lyman Baldwin, sung by Fred G. Rover and H. Overton Moyle, soloists, using a text of St. Francis of Assisi, and "Gallia," a sacred cantata, presented by John Finnegan and the chorus.

A cantata, "Washington," will be presented tonight in Constitution Hall at 8:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the District Bicentennial Commission and the National Federation of Women's Clubs. A chorus of 150 local voices, augmented by choruses from Philadelphia and Baltimore, will take part in the presentation. Popular prices will prevail.

Woman, 60, Is Injured When Struck by Auto

A fractured right arm, cuts about the head and possible internal injuries were suffered by Mrs. Anna Barr, 60 years old, of 803 Fourth street southeast, when she was knocked down by an automobile last night at Virginia avenue and Fifth street southeast.

She was struck by an automobile operated by Thomas W. Reynolds, 22 years old, of 620 Raleigh place southeast, which was proceeding west on Virginia avenue, according to police reports. Reynolds took the injured woman to Providence Hospital, where she was admitted for treatment.

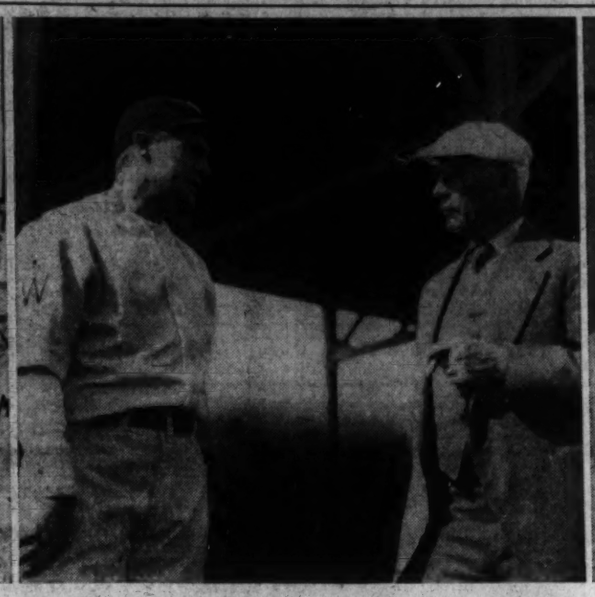
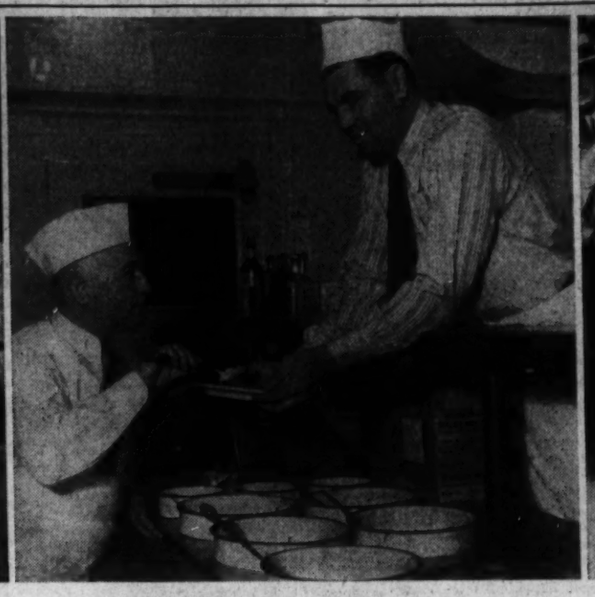
CAMERA SLANTS ON NOTABLES IN THE NEWS IN VARIED FIELDS OF SPORTS

The "fastest human," Frank Wykoff, Southern California sprinter, utilizes a few days while convalescing from a strained back to polish the collection of trophies he has acquired in many victories. Wykoff will start training for the Olympic games as soon as he recovers from the injury sustained in a recent meet.



Carl Reynolds, the big punch of the pennant-aspiring Nationals, and Clark Griffith, the club owner who sought a hard right-hand hitter like Reynolds for eight years, are shown talking over the team's prospects. Reynolds' .420 batting average is somewhere about the premises, talking most eloquently.



Jack Dempsey has interrupted his boxing schedule to reopen the Hotel Barbara at Los Angeles, where he conducted a flourishing business several years ago. Here he is, at right, conferring with Eugene Stark, famous culinary expert, on plans to woo back the booming trade he formerly enjoyed.

CARL FISCHER, 1931 NEMESIS, FACES INDIANS TODAY

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

THIS guy Joe Judge is turning out to be a real pal to this department. When the Nats were at their spring camp in Biloxi, it was evident that Judge was slated to play a substitute role in the doings of the Washington Club this season unless the management underwent a change of heart, and this correspondent made sad note of the fact. It was too bad, for I always thought, and said, that, taken by and large, Judge was the league's best first baseman.

And then Joe got a chance to play ball again when Kuhel suffered a slight injury to his hand. He has been in the line-up ever since and Kuhel couldn't oust him with a dynamite blast.

Judge used his old persuader on Manager Johnson. There were no strong-arm tactics, just a demonstration of playing first base as only Judge can play it and hitting the ball hard enough to climb up into the select .300 class. He made up Johnson's mind on the first base problem, and Johnson is as pleased as Judge with the results.

This morning's averages find Joe Judge slamming the ball for a .305 percentage, which is overly sufficient to retain his place in the line-up. A first baseman of Judge's caliber could hit .250 and then entitle the rest of the team to carry him along in deference to his fielding ability. But with Judge hitting .305 he is a positive threat, offensively as well as defensively.

There was never any doubt as to Judge's fielding. He is the closest approach to Hal Chase that modern baseball has seen and gives the Nationals better defensive strength at first base than is enjoyed by any club in either big league. When better first basemen are born they will have to be the reincarnation of Hal Chase to outdo Joe Judge.

In the field, Judge is bad news to the dead-right-field hitters and the hapless others who might slice a ball toward his territory. He cuts off hits that other first sackers wouldn't reach, and if every steal of a base hit were credited to his batting average Judge would have a lifetime percentage of better than .400.

◆

Judge all but owns the copyright on the play that other first basemen attempt often but rarely execute. It is the double killing from first to second to first in which Judge makes the first throw from an awkward position and then scampers back to the bag to complete the job. He is supposed to be slipping, too. But you can't prove it.

Burgoo King Will Enter Preakness

Derby Winner Shows Fitness in Trial at Belmont.

Entry in Classic at Pimlico Saturday Deemed Certain.

NEW YORK, May 10 (A.P.).—Burgoo King, winner of the Kentucky Derby, today took a turn or two around the Belmont Park oval and retired to the honor stall in the E. R. Bradley's stable, fit and ready for the $50,000 Preakness at Pimlico Saturday.

The final word that will send the Kentucky-bred son of Bubbling Over to the post in the rich 3-year-old feature will not be forthcoming until tomorrow. But barring an unforeseen accident, the King will be among the ten or twelve starters in the one-and-three-sixteenth-mile race, according to Trainer Dick Thompson.

Owner to Witness Workout Today.

Burgoo King's schedule calls for another workout tomorrow in the presence of his owner and then the trip to Pimlico.

Unlike his famous sire, the king is not a great work horse. He also is adverse to long and frequent train rides and is easily thrown off his feed.

"The workouts I gave Bubbling Over would kill Burgoo King," said the veteran Bradley trainer. "He has to be handled very carefully."

Eugene James, the 19-year-old former Louisville newsboy, who rates high in the estimation of both Bradley and Thompson, probably will be up on the King in the Preakness.

Slave Ship, Hurt, Withdrawn.

Baltimore, May 10 (A.P.).—Slave Ship, Walter N. Jeffords' leading candidate for Saturday's Preakness and 3-year-old honors, was declared out of the $50,000 classic today as the result of a spread hoof.

The Black Toney—Light Ship colt pulled up lame yesterday after winning the second of his two starts this year, beating four other Preakness eligibles. An examination of injury by Preston M. Burch, his trainer, led to the decision to withdraw him.

Hamas 7-5 Favorite To Beat Loughran in Return Bout Tonight

Philadelphia, May 10 (U.P.).—Steve Hamas, former Penn State athlete, ruled a 7-to-5 favorite to defeat Tommy Loughran, former light-heavyweight champion, in their return match at Convention Hall tomorrow night.

Boxing experts contend that Loughran's only chance of victory against the man who knocked him out in New York three months ago, is not to mix blows with him. If Loughran can stay away from Hamas and prevent a knockout, the Philadelphian will have a chance to win a decision on points.

Hamas has won 28 of his 29 fights, 25 by knockouts. He has lost only to Lee Ramage, a Pacific Coast fighter. Loughran had 12 victories out of his last 13 fights until he met Hamas in New York.

Both fighters have completed training, Loughran in Philadelphia and Hamas at Pompton Lakes, N. J.

CUBS DEFEAT GIANTS; ADD TO LEAD

9-2 Victory Puts Chicago Team Three Games in Lead.

CHICAGO, May 10 (A.P.).—The Cubs increased their margin of leadership in the National League to three full games as Lonnie Warneke limited the New York Giants to five hits to win his fifth straight, 9 to 2.

The victory was Chicago's eleventh in 14 games and it was the fifteenth time in 23 contests that Chicago's starting pitcher has gone the full route.

Warneke seldom was in trouble and he received some fine support from the young Cub infield. In the fifth inning he walked Ott, and Travis Jackson followed with a double for the first Giant run. With two out in the ninth, Terry singled, took second without a play, and scored on Ott's two-bagger.

Three Giant errors, along with eleven hits, were a big aid in Chicago's scoring. Sam Gibson and Harold Schumacher were the victims of all the scoring and hitting, although Hy Bell pitched the last inning.

Wycoff Bows To DeGlane On Mat

Title Claimant Is Impressive in First Showing Here.

Malcewicz, Winters, Benkert, Allaire Also Triumph.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

WASHINGTON'S first outdoor wrestling match of the season was held indoors at Bolling Field last night, an unkind precipitation having caused a stampede of the mat goliaths to the shelter of the Army post's gymnasium. To those 700 or so fans who braved the rain and hacked away the underbrush on the perilous road to the ringside, there was revealed a great display of applied agony and beautiful burlesque.

Henri de Glane, who won his own particular world's championship by getting bitten on the arm by the venerable tusks of Strangler Lewis, proved to local mat maniacs that he is really one of the best in the game by beating up Frank Wycoff just about as impressively as any wrestler has ever been beaten up in Washington.

De Glane on Offensive From Start.

De Glane, using a bruising elbow jab, a series of resounding flying mares and a crushing headlock and body press, leveled the big collegian in 24 minutes. During the match he worked like a burly beaver. It was indeed a rare sight to see a rassling "champion," one of the four or five now in operation, really work. He was on the offensive from the start, his immense muscles flexing, springing and straining as he labored and belabored with Wycoff.

De Glane is about as tall as Londos, but put together with bigger bolts. He broke holds last night not so much by the intricate weaving and contracting popular with most world's champion wrestlers, but by bracing himself against his opponent's ear and wrenching, twisting and kicking like an enraged lion caught in the teeth of some gigantic trap.

Wants to Wrestle Londos.

De Glane was interviewed by press and public before the match. He wants to rassle Londos, "winner take all." He said that he beat Dick Shikat four years ago and Hans Steinke about the same time. He said Londos was 42 years old, and that he himself is 29.

Joe Malcewicz, who bounces around the ring with the speed and approach of a bantamweight fighter, beat Jake Patterson in 20 minutes in the semifinal round. Once Malcewicz enmeshed Patterson in the loose Bolling Field ropes so that he was fastened in much the same fashion as in an old Puritan stock. Then Malcowicz rubbed his bare feet upon the upturned face of Patterson. Very edifying, gents.

Dan Winters tackled Pat O'Hara in 26 minutes. August Benkert made four Hawaiians out of Joe Cook in 18 minutes and Lou Allaire defeated Bull Garnon in 25 minutes, with what the Official Holt Identifier unblushingly identified as a combination leg scissors, double toe hold and grape vine.

Return of Lacoste To Cup Play Is Seen

Paris, May 10 (U.P.).—Possibility that Rene Lacoste would return to Davis Cup competition was seen in the announcement today that he would represent France in singles in the annual Franco-British tennis tournament at Auteuil, May 14.

WALKER-RISKO BOUT OFF.

Cleveland, May 10 (A.P.).—The scheduled fight tonight between Mickey Walker, who hopes to become heavyweight champion, and Johnny Risko, was indefinitely postponed today.

Walker said a bevy of boils would make it impossible for him to fight at present, but that he would be glad to meet Risko later.

GROVE HOLDS CHISOX TO 6 HITS

Macks Pound Jones Hard to Take Decision, 9 to 0.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10 (A.P.).—With Lefty Grove pitching in his old-time shut-out form, the Athletics won the series opener from the Chicago White Sox today, 9 to 0. Grove allowed but six hits, struck out five men and did not give a walk to win his fourth conquest of the season.

Jones, who pitched the first six innings, was pounded almost at will for eleven hits.

Verdict for Gehrig In $40,000 Auto Suit

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—A jury which considered a $40,000 damage claim brought by Mrs. Anna Stelzle, of Dudley, Mass., against Lou Gehrig, Yankee first baseman, returned a verdict for the ball player today.

Mrs. Stelzle, who was injured in an automobile accident in 1927 near Rhenebeck, N. Y., brought suit jointly against Gehrig, who owned the car, in which she was riding at the time, and Gehrig's mother, who was driving it. The claim as it affected Mrs. Gehrig was dropped before the case went to the jury.

The Gehrigs asserted the accident, in which the car skidded off the road and rolled down a bank, was caused by a bolt of lightning which struck the car. Mrs. Stelzle said it was due to negligent driving.

Yankees Rout Browns, 10 to 3

Hadley and Stewart Force Four Runs Over Plate.

Yank Errors Prevent Gomez From Likely Shutout.

NEW YORK, May 10 (A.P.).—The wildness of two St. Louis pitchers, Irving (Bump) Hadley and Walter Stewart, combined with a few timely hits, a couple of errors and some good mound work by Southpaw Vernoh Gomez enabled the Yankees to defeat the Browns, 10 to 3, today in the delayed series opener.

Between them, Hadley and Stewart gave eleven walks and literally tossed away the game. In the sixth inning after the Browns had gained a 3-to-3 tie, Hadley walked in a run that might have been the deciding one. In the next frame, the two pitchers gave five passes, three of which forced runs across the plate in the Yanks' six-run rally.

Poor Fielding Prevents New York Shutout.

Gomez, winning his fourth victory of the season, came close to a shutout and might have had it but for some weak fielding by Tony Lazzeri in the fifth. With one out and a man on first, Lazzeri let Fred Schulte's short fly drop for a single when he pulled up, apparently thinking Ruth would take it. Irving Burns followed for a double, the only extra base blow among the seven St. Louis hits, and Gomez let the third run in by making a wild throw as Burns tried to take third.

Lazzeri made up for the misplay by driving out two doubles and two singles in five times at bat and knocking in two runs.

Benge, of Phils, Blanks Reds, 4-0; Ends Streak

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 10 (A.P.).—Ray Benge muffled the big guns of the Cincinnati Reds line-up today, scoring a 4-to-0 shutout for the Phillies and snapping a growing Cincinnati winning streak at five games.

Of the Red sluggers, only Hafey could get an extra-base blow and that a close double. Lombardi, for the last five days a batting marvel, got only a single.

A two-run drive in the third spelled downfall for the Reds. McCurdy singled and took second as Kolp took a fielder's choice, throwing to Morrissey, who was not there. Bartel singled. Klein forced him, sending in McCurdy, and a passed ball on Lombardi brought Mallon home.

Sharkey to Do Talking and Schmeling the Fighting, Says Latter

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—The master minds of the ballyhoo dusted off Jack Sharkey's act today and put Max Schmeling through the old scenes as a preliminary to the opening of the heavyweight champion's training campaign tomorrow.

Just as the Boston challenger visited the scene of the fifteen-round title duel out on Long Island a couple of weeks ago and went through his paces for the press, so did Schmeling parade to the battle ground today and trot through a similar scene.

Schmeling stood in a temporary ring and had pointed out to him the spot where Sharkey predicted the German would land about the tenth round on the night of June 21. For his benefit the very words Sharkey used were repeated, a crowd of 2,000 that gathered on the lot cheered, and he gave his version.

RED SOX GET 2 HITS OFF SORRELL

Tigers Pound Three Hurlers to Win Game, 11-0.

BOSTON, May 10 (A.P.).—Vic Sorrell pitched a two-hit game for the Detroit Tigers today, while his mates were making fourteen hits off three Red Sox hurlers to annex the series opener, 11-to-0.

Hal Rhyne, Sox shortstop, spoiled Sorrell's chances of pitching a no-hit game by making the only hits off the Tiger hurler. Starting with Bob Weiland, the visitors pecked away at the offerings of three pitchers before Johnny Michaels stepped in to stop the onslaught.

Bill Rogell, formerly of the Red Sox, led the Detroit attack with four hits out of five times at bat and scored four runs.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

MANAGER Walter Johnson's chief worry today is that yesterday's postponement of the second game of the Cleveland series may throw his Nats out of stride. When a team is doing well, a lay-off does not help any. The players may experience a temporary let-down and lose that winning spirit almost overnight, a good example of this theory being the defeat at the hands of the White Sox last week, following two off days, which snapped a six-game winning streak.

The Indians will be with us again this afternoon and will be asked to face young Carl Fischer, the southpaw who appeared to have their number last season, when he beat them in four out of five starts. Mel Harder is due to oppose Carl on the hill.

Since the Nats opened the present home stay, none of the cash customers has any cause to complain over their showing, which has given them nine victories out of ten starts. While the Johnson clan has not shown consistent "power" hitting, it has outslugged and outscored its opponents by a comfortable margin.

Nats' Margin of Runs Far Greater.

That the Nats have almost doubled the run total of their collective opponents and cracked out 20 more safeties is due to two causes, good pitching and the fact that the Washington hitters have taken turns having good days. There is one big exception to this latter statement, though, and it is Carl Reynolds. Practically every day has been a big one for him, the result being that he is at the top of the American League batting race.

In the matter of errors, the Na-

GARDEN MESSAGE WINS PIMLICO NURSERY IN FORM UPSET

Cattail Runs Second by A Head

Winner's Stretch Run Gains Purse; Golden Fate Is Third.

Happen and Chosen Pal Score Handily in Early Races.

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Post Staff Correspondent).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, May 10.—The Pimlico Nursery was all that the name of the $5,000 added stake implies. The horse kiddies playfully bounced around at the barrier and when Starter Milton pressed the button they began a gleeful rush for the judges' stand as if the good fairy that watches over baby horse flesh was waiting in front of the mutuel board with a big red apple.

If such was the case, Garden Message, a cute colt, would have won the fruit, but he would have had to have saved the core for Golden Fate, another cute colt, which was third.

T. H. Somerville and Foxcatcher Farms pooled their chances because Preston Burch trains both youngsters. Sandwiched between the entry at the finish was Cattail, a youngster with a habit of giving juveniles a keen battle.

Entry Furnishes Most Of Competition.

With the exception of Cattail, most of the race was between the entry. Golden Fate was first to show in front after the barrier rise. Cattail barely escaped a jam to move up to second and Garden Message became a stout factor from a slow start. At the stretch turn, Smith took Garden Message to the outside and with the aid of the whip sent his charge after the leading pair. The field was spread from fence to fence with the stretch reached and a dozen youngsters seemed to have good chances. But it was Garden Message that had the most speed, winning in a driving duel with Cattail by a head margin. Golden Fate stayed to take third money from Acautaw.

A damp, chilly day kept the crowd just below the 10,000 figure.

Shylock, competing in the intereats of J. E. Jones, accounted for the day's opener, the steeplechase. Chirciveen was second, with the favored St. Francis third. Chirciveen set most of the pace but tired near the finish and Mergler brought Shylock up to take the decision. Ball rode a desperate race on the favorite. St. Francis was not fencing as well as before and was among the trailers for three-fourths of the distance. Ball finally found some speed in his mount and gained consistently for the last half mile but too late to catch the top pair. There were no falls although several jockeys spent much time clinging to the necks of their charges.

The Jones influence was present in the second race when Hidora, trained by that worthy, stepped home ahead of a dozen juveniles. Syrinx was second, ahead of Lazy Daisy, the favorite. Hidora was off slowly, but McTaggart hustled the youngster along to take the lead from Syrinx and the pair fought it out for the remainder of the distance. The first and second horses were overlooked in the betting. Hidora paid $20.70 to win, while Syrinx, a 40-to-1 shot, brought his backers $30.50 for the place.

Happen scored an easy victory in the third race with Hanford in the saddle. The Mrs. George Fox colorbearer stayed close to the fast pace set by Billnora and took command in the backstretch to romp home ahead of Tulach Ard and Eager Play.

Chosen Pal changed his tactics today and was an easy winner of the fourth race. Instead of trailing the field for most of the way Chosen Pal broke in the first flight and took the lead half way round. Hatteras drove into second place ahead of Tarnish.

Faylin made every post a winning one in the sixth race. Clancy gave the filly a hustling ride and she needed it to stall off Make Haste, a long shot which was beaten a half length. Strongheart took third money.

C. U. Frosh Golfers Defeat Devitt, 4 to 2

The Catholic University Freshmen defeated Devitt Prep, 4-2, in a golf match played over the East Potomac Park course yesterday. Cook and Parks, of C. U., turned back Richards and A. Baer, 5 and 3 and 8 and 7, respectively, in the first foursome. C. U. won best ball, 1 up. J. Baer scored Devitt's first point in the second foursome, winning over Sanjul, 5 and 4. Morrissey, of C. U., scored over Bonett, 4 and 3, best ball going to Devitt, 1 up.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SHYLOCK, $19.30, $5.90, $3.60; CAHINCIVEEN, $6.10, $3.90; ST. FRANCIS, $2.80.

SHYLOCK, racing in a forward position from the start, and fencing cleverly, responded with excellent speed in the final drive, outfenced CAHINCIVEEN when challenging at the final fence and was under severe urging approaching the finish. CAHINCIVEEN went into a long early lead, struck the brush at the ninth fence, recovered quickly and continued stoutly in the final drive. ST. FRANCIS, reserved for the first mile, improved his position on the inside, landed poorly at the twelfth fence but came willingly thereafter. BLUE BANNER circled his field and closed stoutly. He was bothered rounding the final elbow. KHYBER PASS showed a good test. He tired in the last half mile. SHIPMASTER raced wide most of the trip. ALPHEUS almost lost his rider at the tenth fence. JOE ENGEL made a poor vault at the second jump.

SECOND RACE—Four furlongs. Purse, $1,300. For maiden fillies, 2-year-olds. Start good from gates. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:31. Off at 2:33½. Winner, W. H. Lipscomb's ch. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—HIDORA, $20.70, $11.50, $8.00; SYRINX, $30.50, $19.90; APPREHENSIVE, $5.50.

HIDORA, outrun in the first three furlongs, was taken wide to secure racing room and, finishing in resolute fashion when straightened into the home stretch, disposed of the leader and drew out rapidly. SYRINX, a stout factor from the start, held on well for the closing drive. APPREHENSIVE, vigorously handled throughout, came gamely to outstay LAZY DAISY. Latter, rushed into the lead and saving ground early, weakened badly in the final furlong. SPOT FOOT showed a good test. LITTLE BOBLIN had early foot. SEEMECO raced greenly. She was not persevered with in the final drive. PHARA slipped and unseated her rider after the finish.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HAPPEN, $8.10, $4.50, $3.60; TULACH ARD, $11.70, $6.90; EAGER PLAY, $5.70.

HAPPEN, rated in close pursuit of BILLNORA until midway of the back stretch, went into the lead without effort and drew out at will during the stretch run. TULACH ARD, taken under slight restraint in the early racing, held on courageously when put to a drive. EAGER PLAY, slow to get going, worked his way up on the outside and was racing gamely nearing the finish. FOLKING was held safe the entire trip. He pulled up very lame. BILLNORA, crowded when the break came, was hustled to the front when clear, but was done after five furlongs. BOKIE B. was outrun. HORATIA did not appear to favor the footing.

CHOSEN PAL, going forwardly and having good speed while under steadying restraint shook off ELIZABETH BOLLA when ready, responded to pressure when challenged and outfought the gallant TARNISH. HATTERAS, a slow beginner, improved his position on the outside when settled on the back stretch, reached the winner rounding the far turn, but was unable to keep pace thereafter.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GARDEN MESSAGE (Somerville entry), $5.70, $3.50, $4.60; CATTAIL, $4.70, $4.40; GOLDEN FATE (Foxcatcher Farm entry), $4.60.

GARDEN MESSAGE, outrun in the first three furlongs, swung to the outside of the leaders when entering the home stretch and, closing fast, wore GOLDEN FATE down inside the fence and battled gamely with CATTAIL, latter, forced to race on the outside from the start, was carried wide into the home stretch, but closed gamely. GOLDEN FATE raced CUTIE FACE and LOUGHPORT into submission and held on well to outstay ACAUTAW. Latter, hard hustled the entire trip, finished gamely while saving ground. ARROWSWIFT closed full of run. MARVAN made up a lot of ground in the final drive.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:35. Off at 4:43½. Winner, A. J. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FAYLIN, $10.00, $7.40, $5.00; MAKE HASTE, $39.30, $31.20; STRONGHEART, $4.30.

FAYLIN, having the most speed, sprinted into a safe lead, was rated until reaching the home stretch and, holding on gamely, outstayed MAKE HASTE. Latter, under strong reserve for the first seven furlongs, responded when released from restraint and, coming through on the inside of the leaders in the final drive, was wearing the winner down gradually. STRONGHEART finished gamely after coming wide into the home stretch. RUANE hung after making a bold bid in the final half mile.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:14½. Off at 5:15. Winner, J. Parmalee's ch. c. (4), by Peter Pan—Silmma. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 2-5, 1:41 2-5, 1:55.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—IMPISH, $6.60, $3.40, $2.70; FLEET FLAG, $3.70, $2.80; AVALON, $3.60.

IMPISH, allowed to reach full stride, worked his way up on the outside when entering contention, wore AVALON down when entering the home stretch and, holding on with excellent courage, just lasted to outstay FLEET FLAG. Latter gained stoutly when put to a drive and coming to the outside for the final drive, was wearing the winner down gradually. AVALON, rated in front and saving ground wherever possible, was best of the others. GARLIC closed well.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: PIMLICO RACE TRACK.

Five Preakness candidates worked over the sticky course yesterday. Boatswain breezed a mile in 1:49 3-5, Aegis and Semaphore worked easily at three-quarters under 1:20, while Air Pilot turned in :50 2-5 for a half. Outside of the Preakness group, Mate breezed a half in :51 3-5, while Senado was clocked at :49 3-5 for the same distance. So much for the figures, Al. I thought we might put over Elizabeth Bolla, the hot dog horse, yesterday. Led half the way to finish fourth. Looked like a ready animal. And today, my good friend, I am recommending those named below. BILL.

FIRST RACE—I believe that SUN ECLIPSE is ready for that winning race. Was making a bold move the last time when he fell. May not have to hustle as much the last time around today. HUON JOY has been letting his stablemate, Muskogee, do the winning here. This one is dangerous. NIGHT RETREAT can get third here.

SECOND RACE—TOWN SQUARE'S race the other day stamps him as a probable winner in this field. Raced a little greenly but seems to have the necessary speed. KELTWICK has some fine races to recommend for second honors. BRIGHT PATTERN is better than that last.

THIRD RACE—It is not asking too much to get MICROPHONE home ahead of these. Gets a good shift in the weights and has races that put him right with the best in this sprint. CON AMORE again carries a load, but may be getting accustomed to it. HAPPY SCOT for the third end.

FOURTH RACE—Taking SYRIAC in this. Likes a drying-out track, which is probable. DUNFERN can be placed second in this race very easily. TAZEWELL has third place possibilities.

FIFTH RACE—MEXICO has been fairly consistent this spring and is my selection. Goes paired with MONEL. PORGIE'S second the last time was a brilliant effort that can not be overlooked entirely. BENISH WAY may set the early pace and complete the trip in third place.

SIXTH RACE—Sticking to BARCELONA PETE here. Waiting for that finish he made at Havre de Grace. Did well the other day. LADINO can not be counted out. The same for PENNYWISE and PENDING

MARYLAND STATE GOLF HONORS WON BY GLENN SPENCER

Bad 18th Hole Is Costly to Larkin

Chevy Chase Pro Has 9 on Last Hole; 5 Needed for Tie.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

FIFTY golfers, seven of whom were professionals, participated yesterday in a tournament on the course of the Manor Club, under the auspices of the Maryland State Golf Association. The event was very largely a Baltimore affair, for only four Washington clubs—Chevy Chase, Manor, Beaver Dam and Indian Spring—were represented, the Washington players numbering an even dozen.

Glenn Spencer, of the Maryland Country Club, who sent his drives crashing down the fairways, easily won the low gross for the professionals with a card of 36—36—72, only one over par of the course. He had birdies on the fourth, sixth and seventh holes on the outward nine, but overapproaches on the first, fifth and twelfth were costly. His card

Out—
Par ..... 5 3 4 4 4 4 3 5—36
Spencer ..... 5 4 4 3 6 3 3 5—36
In—
Par ..... 4 3 4 4 4 5 4 3 4—35—71
Spencer ..... 4 3 4 5 4 5 4 3 4—36—72

Gene Larkin, assistant professional of the Chevy Chase Club, had a fine chance to win first prize for low gross, for after playing the second nine first he stood on the last tee of the second nine with only 66 strokes behind him, and a par 5 would have given him 71.

Final Hole Proves Waterloo.

The hole, however, was his Waterloo, for he sliced into the deep woods and then became tangled up in the trees, being forced twice to play shots in left-hand fashion. He overapproached the green and then played back too strongly, finally holing out in a perfectly hopeless 9.

Players were classified in three divisions. In Class A there was a tie for low gross between Ernest L. Caldwell, Hillendale, with 38—39—77, and S. S. Overton, Forest Park, 37—40—77. The low net was won by T. D. Hubbell, 84—10—74.

In Class B the low gross winner was E. F. Bruening, 40—43—83, with low net won by J. H. Carter, Forest Park, 86—18—68.

There were only three entrants in Class C and the low gross prize was won by Roland Wehrheim, Rolling Road, with 44—43—87. Although Harry G. Pitt, the Manor Club champion; John C. Shorey, winner of the Army-Navy tournament; Thomas M. Belshe, Indian Spring champion; William E. Detweiler, Manor's junior champion, and several other Washington players were in the entry list, all the prizes were taken by Baltimore players. The scores:

CLASS A—77—Ernest L. Caldwell, Hillendale; S. S. Overton, Forest Park. 78—Maurice Nee, Manor. 81—Harry G. Pitt, Manor; William D. Waxter, jr., Green Spring Valley. 82—D. H. Rowlett, Rolling Road; J. William Harvey, jr., Indian Spring; E. J. Carver, Manor. 83—William J. Reinhardt, Maryland Country Club; Midas A. Peppler, Rolling Road. 84—George F. Mallonee, Rolling Road; F. D. Hubbell, Rolling Road; Harris Jones, Baltimore Country Club. 85—J. Lewis, Forest Park. 86—William P. Hall, Maryland Country Club. 89—T. M. Belshe, Indian Spring; Robert Stead, jr., Chevy Chase. 90—Dr. Richard D. West, Rolling Road. 96—Lester McCrea, Rolling Road.

No cards—William E. Detweiler, Manor; J. C. Shorey, Manor; P. A. Nee, Manor; John M. Mackenzie, Hillendale; H. A. B. Dunning, Baltimore Country Club.

CLASS B—83—E. F. Bruenwing, Hillendale. 86—J. H. Carter, Forest Park. 87—E. H. Semmler, Hillendale. 90—D. N. Burnham, Manor. 93—J. D. Donovan, Rolling Road. 94—George Ashton, Manor, and W. L. Badgett, Forest Park. 95—William R. Stone, Indian Spring. 97—H. E. Davis, Rolling Road. 99—J. E. Gary, Forest Park. 101—G. J. Rodgers, Hillendale.

PROFESSIONALS—Glenn Spencer, 36, 36—72; John Bass, Woodholme, 36, 38—74; Gene Larkin, Chevy Chase, 36, 39—75; Al Treder, Manor, 36, 42—78; Frank Houghton, Kenwood, 41, 37—78; Frank Invernizzi, unattached, 39, 43—82; George Diffenbaugh, Indian Spring, no card.

Miss Virginia Williams, Congressional, yesterday won the Star Trophy for women, with the low net score of 163 for 36 holes. Her gross score was 97—90—187, with a total of 24 handicap. Miss Winifred Faunce, Manor, led the field with the low gross score of 88—91—178.

Miss Pope Loses by Stroke.

Miss Virginia Pope, Kenwood, failed to tie for the trophy by one stroke, her card being 186—22—164. Other winners of low net prizes were Miss Florence Scott, 197—32—165, and Mrs. J. A. Marr, Columbia, 198—32—166. For the last low net prize Mrs. J. L. Fieser, 203—36—167, and Mrs. Y. E. Booker, 187—20—167, both members of the Washington Club, were in a tie, and Mrs. Fieser won in the draw. Mrs. F. G. Awalt, Congressional, and Mrs. E. C. Schroedel, Manor, were the low net winners in the consolation class.

Women members of the Washington Club will compete on their course next Friday morning in a tombstone tournament. At the Indian Spring course on Friday the women players will play in a blind bogey event.

COUNTY SERIES PLANNED.

An elimination series will be conducted among the high school baseball teams of Montgomery County to select a team to compete in the State championship series. The teams have been divided into two brackets, Gaithersburg, Sherwood and Sandy Spring are in the upper, and Damascus, Poolesville, Rockville and Bethesda are in the lower. The series was to have started Monday, but rain caused a postponement of the games.

CHURCH LEAGUE READY.

The Georgetown Church League will inaugurate its 1932 season Monday when Ninth Street Christian Church meets Eldbrooke M. E. Four teams will participate in the loop this season. West Washington Baptist and Mount Vernon are the other teams entered. At the election of officers held recently, Herman A. Meyers was reelected president, and Herbert C. Tucker again chosen secretary-treasurer and official scorer. James J. Sweeney will umpire at all games, which will be played on the West Ellipse diamond.

CLEVELAND SERIES TO END HERE TODAY

tionals have broken even with their foes, but they have more than made up for this by turning in a number of brilliant plays and negotiating no less than seventeen double plays. In only three of their last ten games have they failed to commit at least one twin murder, while in one game they were guilty no less than five times, with three and two each being prominent in two other games.

Fans Jeopardize Nats' Chances.

Fans probably do not realize it but the mad desire of a youngster to get a baseball might have cost the Nationals a well-earned victory at Griffith Stadium Sunday. When Moe Berg singled down the third-base line in the fourteenth, scoring Reynolds from second with the run which broke up the game, a youngster rushed on the field from the left-field boxes and stopped the ball.

It so happened that this action limited Berg to a double, although he was credited with only a single because he neglected to run as far as second. Had Reynolds been on first, though, he would not have been allowed to score because of this interference, and the Nats would have needed still another hit to win out then. And, failing to get this, the game probably would have been called because darkness was fast coming on.

Ball club officials have no objections to fans keeping balls knocked into the stands, but they do object to cash customers rushing out on the field and possibly preventing the game from being won on its merits. Griffith Stadium, by the way, is the only one in the circuit where this is possible, and steps are being taken to prevent further encroachment on the field by ball-seeking fans.

Life with the Nats these days appears to be just one "croocial" test after another. Following today's finale with the Indians comes the Tigers, who also have been going great guns so far. Bucky Harris and his Jungle Cats open a series tomorrow and end it Saturday. Then come the St. Louis Browns and the first invasion of Western clubs becomes a thing of the past.

SIX COLLEGE GAMES HERE THIS WEEK

Maryland Plays Richmond, V. M. I. in Features.

CAPITAL college athletes go away for the majority of their sixteen contests scheduled this week. Only six games will be staged on home grounds with Maryland University's pair of baseball games heading the list.

The Maryland nine, rated the best in ten years of College Park history, plays Richmond University tomorrow and V. M. I. on Friday. Thus far the Old Liners have split even in ten games, having dropped a ten-inning encounter to Duke last Thursday, which balanced their record for the season. So they will be out to start a new winning streak against Richmond. V. M. I. was scheduled earlier in the campaign, but the game was postponed on account of wet grounds.

Other local contests involve Gallaudet, Georgetown and George Washington. The Gallaudet Track Team engages Lynchburg College on Saturday in a dual meet at Kendall Green; Georgetown's Tennis Team entertains Lafayette on Friday at the Hilltop, and the G. W. netmen will oppose Baltimore U. tomorrow at Columbia Country Club.

G. U. Nine Invades Massachusetts.

Chief interest in the out-of-town engagements centers in the Northern invasion to be made by Georgetown's nine. The Blue and Gray tossers will meet Harvard, Boston College and Holy Cross on successive days starting tomorrow at Cambridge, Mass. Boston College will be met at Boston and Holy Cross at Worcester.

The Hilltoppers, coached by Clayton Sheedy, have been showing steady improvement. Though defeated by Navy last week by a small margin, they promise to finish the season in creditable fashion. Their record at present shows three victories and four defeats. Wins over the trio of Massachusetts teams this week will go a long ways toward making their season a success.

Maryland's lacrosse and track teams journey to State College, Pa., and Annapolis on Saturday to engage Penn State and Navy, respectively. The Old Liners figure to win in lacrosse and to bow in the cinder-path duel.

District Police Tied At Top in Pistol Shoot

Washington and Los Angeles are tied for first place in the Interstate Police Pistol League "C," it was revealed yesterday by the National Rifle Association, which conducts a mail tournament involving the police marksmen of eleven cities.

Washington and Los Angeles both won their latest tests, the local team beating San Francisco's No. 1 team, 976 to 970, and Los Angeles winning over Bakersfield, Calif., 977 to 942. The leaders are tied with 10 victories and 1 defeat. Dayton, with 9 and 2, is third.

DUNBAR AT BALTIMORE.

Dunbar High School, of this city, will clash with Douglas High School, of Baltimore, this afternoon at Walker Stadium in the first of a three-game series to determine the South Atlantic championship of the colored high schools. The game will start promptly at 3:30 o'clock. Gray will twirl for Dunbar, while Chapman is expected to toe the mound for the visitors.

CANTONWINE MAT CHOICE TOMORROW

Is Expected to Toss Szabo in Auditorium Feature.

JOE TURNER'S ton of torso twisters, headed by Sandor Szabo and Howard Cantonwine, lumber into Washington Auditorium tomorrow night for their weekly festival tumbling, growling and dispensation of assorted agony.

The feature promises to be a rough affair. Cantonwine, making great progress in Eastern rassling after being imported from the Bowser group, has yet to taste defeat in Washington. He held Jim McMillen to a draw and beat such journeyman rasslers as George Hagen and Pat McKay without trouble.

Cantonwine Favored To Cop.

Szabo is one of the Curley group's greatest names. He won 46 straight bouts after being brought from Hungary under the artful managership of Jack Pfeffer. He is young, strong and a magnet for women customers. He affects English clothing and has a racing car that only a fire truck crew could park.

Big, burley and slated to play an important part in this summer's mat programs, Cantonwine is the favorite to beat Szabo. The former Iowa University graduate will outweigh Szabo by 20 pounds. Both men are adept at flying tackles.

Also on the Auditorium card is one of rassling's outstanding freaks, the double-jointed Fritz Kley, who slides out of full Nelson and other difficult holds with an ease which is a constant source of amusement to the good burghers. Kley will meet Mike (He Puffs and Blows) Romano, known to the profession as "Gentleman" Mike Romano.

Other matches on the card are George Caiza vs. Frank Speer; Doc Wilson vs. George McLeod, and George Hagen vs. Alex Aberg. Women free, with escorts.

Albie Booth Returns As Shortstop at Yale

New Haven, Conn., May 10 (A.P.).—Albie Booth returned to Yale athletic competition today after five months' inactivity because of a lung infection, taking his old place as shortstop on the Eli baseball team in its game against Rikkio University, of Japan.

Booth, who was given permission to play after a physical examination, was greeted with a cheer by the surprised spectators when he came on the diamond.

A. Z. A. Five in Frat Tourney at Boston

The A. Z. A. basket ball team, of the Jewish Community Center, leaves for Boston tomorrow, where it will participate in its fraternity's annual international tournament. Teams from Canada, the Pacific Coast and many other sections of the United States will compete.

Capital Midshipman Wins Targer Award

Annapolis, Md., May 10.—Officials of the Naval Academy today announced the three winners of medals for general excellence in small arms target practice competition, open to midshipmen of the second class, for which medals are awarded annually.

Davis S. McDougall, of Washington, D. C., was found to be the most proficient and will receive a gold medal. He is the son of Col. Douglas C. McDougal, Marine Corps, on duty at Washington headquarters. Silver and bronze medals are the other respective awards and they were won by Raymond J. St. Germain, of Breauz Bridge, La., and Guy M. Morrow, of Maroa, Ill. The prizes will be presented during the forthcoming commencement festivities of "June Week."

PHILS RELEASE TAIT.

Philadelphia, May 10 (U.P.).—Doug Tait, utility outfielder, today was released outright to the Indianapolis Club of the American Association by the Phillies. He came here last year from the Atlanta Club of the Southern Association.

MISS JACOBS WINS.

Berlin, May 10 (UP)—Miss Helen Jacobs, of California, teamed with Jacques Brugnon, French Davis Cup player, to defeat Fraulein Else Koehne and Theo Hartz, of Berlin, 8—6, 6—3, in a match of the Berlin mixed doubles tennis championship today

CENTRAL AND TECH PLAY TOMORROW

Western Host to Gonzaga Today; G. U. Preps Away.

YESTERDAY'S Tech-Central baseball game was rained out. It will be played tomorrow afternoon at Eastern at 3:30 o'clock. The Central outfit is strongly favored to come through and finish out its series season with a mark of three wins and one loss. Tech has yet to win a game.

The final game of the series will be played next Tuesday when Eastern meets Western.

Today Gonzaga plays Western at Western's new stadium, and Georgetown Prep meets Charlotte Hall, there. St. John's and Leonard Hall meet at tennis, at Leonard Hall.

Tech's track team, tuning up for the big "C" Club and interhigh meets which now loom on the horison, meets the Maryland freshmen in a dual affair.

Everett Russell, rated by many as the best all-around baseball player in the high schools, will not compete in tomorrow's Tech-Central game. Russell, although eligible, was forbidden to play by Coach Foxley for not practicing with the team while ineligible last semester.

Central-Tech Track Duel Promised in School Meets

THE greatest dog-eat-dog track competition in half a decade should rise out of the struggle between Tech and Central for the crown which sits shakily upon the head of Eastern High. Eastern, stripped of its leading point scorers by graduation and board room conferences, has no chance successfully to defend its "C" Club or interhigh titles May 20 and 27.

Central and Tech revealed their true merits Saturday in the Maryland interscholastics, when Central finished first with 33 points and Tech second with 31½. Tech received no credit for winning the relay, which victory, in either the "C" Club or interhigh meets would have been worth 10 points.

Perhaps never before have two teams been matched so perfectly in Washington. Every outstanding advantage held by Central in one event is equalized in another by Tech. Central should sweep the 100-yard dash, all three places, but so should Tech win every place in the 880. Central is virtually without pole vaulters, but Tech's advantage here is nullified in its weakness in the 440.

An important event should be the 220. Central believed it had this dash as good as won before the Maryland meet, but Smeltzer, of Tech, nosed out Central's outstanding 220 man, Ditzler, to take first place.

Condition, competitive fury, and "breaks" should be the three motivating factors behind the naming of a winner between these two teams. Mechanically they are balanced just about perfectly.

Eastern might be something of a threat in the "C" Club meet, for officials of that annual affair have invited Bob Slye, hurdler and broad jumper par excellence, to compete.

GODWIN GETS REAL TEST MONDAY

Banovic, Nationally Rated, to Be Foe at Portner's.

BINGO JOE BANOVIC, nationally rated light heavyweight, from Bingham, N. Y., will meet Ben Godwin, Southern 175-pound champion, in next Monday's eight-round bout featuring the Day Nursery Athletic Association card in Portner Arena.

In securing Banovic, the Day Nursery promoters believe they have found a boxer capable of extending the popular Godwin more than any other the Georgian has met thus far in the Alexandria ring.

Banovic, who is 26 years of age and weighs 172 pounds, holds victories over several of the world's leading light heavies. While not rated Godwin's equal by such authorities as Collyer's Eye, Ring, and Everlast Boxing Record Book, "Bingo Joe" has whipped better boxers than Godwin.

Joe Sekyra, who caused a sensation in the fistic world last year by defeating Charley Retziaff, the Duluth slugger, is numbered among Banovic's victims. Also are Billy Jones, Charley Belanger, Henry Lamar, Frankie Casley, Leo Williams, Bob Olin, Peter Latzo and George Courtney.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

INTERVIEW WITH THE FORGOTTEN MAN.

Q.—Who are you?

A.—I'm the Forgotten Man.

Q.—Who forgot you?

A.—I thought it was unanimous until the campaign began.

* * * *

Q.—When were you first forgotten?

A.—I forget.

Q.—Up to this year do you recall ever having been recalled?

Q.—Is that the only time?

A.—No. I'm always remembered whenever there's a war on or a great sacrifice is called for. But the minute the crisis is over I'm forgotten again.

Q.—What makes you so easy to forget?

A.—I dunno. I guess it's a case of, "Your vote is familiar, but I don't recall your face."

* * * *

Q.—Are you sensitive about being forgotten?

A.—I'm used to it. What bothers me is being so abruptly remembered in so many unexpected quarters. I find people remembering me this year who I didn't think ever knew me.

Q.—Do you find that it raises false hopes in you?

A.—Goodness, no! I'm too old for that. Of cburse, I have learned from experience that nobody intends doing anything about me. Most of 'em wouldn't know me if they saw me.

Q.—Are you fooled at all by the references to you by so many public speakers, candidates, &c.?

A.—Not in the least. They don't fool the Forgotten Man, but the trouble is they fool The Men Who Think They're Forgotten Men.

Q.—Just what do you mean?

A.—The minute anybody starts sympathizing with the Forgotten Man you hear a great cry, "That's me!" from millions of people who never have been half-forgotten. Why there are people picturing themselves as Forgotten Men today who were big bull market benefactors, spotlight hogs and big public figures only a few years ago. Some men think they're the Forgotten Man if they go a week without getting in the headlines.

* * * *

Q.—How long do you think one should be forgotten before he becomes a Forgotten Man?

A.—Well, it ought to run through one whole administration at least. You're hardly a Forgotten Man just because you're alone a few days in a four-passenger auto.

* * * *

Q.—Now that you've been resurrected again, how long do you expect to be in the limelight?

A.—I only count on a run to November 8. Of course my run hasn't even started in a real way yet. Wait'll the conventions open and those nominating speeches begin * * * then I'll get the big play.

Q.—Will you enjoy it?

A.—It's all very absorbing as a study in hypocrisy, bunk, camouflage, evasion and low comedy.

Q.—What about after election? What'll they do with you then?

A.—After election? Oh, that's very simple; they'll just put the Forgotten Man away and forget him.

Los Angeles Gang Boss Gets Nine-Month Term

Los Angeles, May 10 (A.P.).—Ettoro Chito, alias Sasso, reputed leader of the Los Angeles underworld, today was sentenced to nine months in jail and fined $11,000 on a charge of income tax evasion.

The man police knew as the "boss" of the criminal element was scored by Federal Judge George Cosgrave, who passed sentence. "No man shall live on the verge of a secret jurisdiction which evidence in this case suggests," he commented.

GROUP WILL DEFEND STATE BANK SYSTEM

Felix McWhirter Opens Fight on Capital Efforts to Eliminate Plan.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Asserting that the dual system of banking under State and national charters recognizes the sovereignty of the States and the inherent American policy of giving freedom for individual initiative, Felix McWhirter, president of the State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association, has issued a call to members of his division to combat efforts in Washington to eliminate the State banking system.

Mr. McWhirter, president of the People's State Bank of Indianapolis, declares that directors and officers of State-chartered institutions, which number approximately 14,000, propose to control vigilantly the situation in their respective States. He assails the idea which he says is now being advocated in the National Capital, that Congress has constitutional power to prohibit State-chartered financial institutions from operating at all and to bring all banking into a single system under Federal control.

"It has been seriously stated," he says, "that because the States and the people give the Federal Government the right to coin money and control interstate commerce, and because the Federal Government requires the assistance of banks in fiscal affairs, it has the implied power to close the entire field of all banking activities to other than Federal institutions.

"The thought is grotesque, but the serious element is that, at a time when we are called upon to cooperate and, as usual, are doing so to our patriotic utmost, there is such evidence of utter lack of sober thought and consideration in responsible elements of our own Government to permit such ill-advised and discriminatory legislation to be advocated or proposed."

Mr. McWhirter reveals that State banks of all classes comprise more than two-thirds of the Nation's banking institutions; that they hold deposits in excess of $30,000,000,000, or about three-fifths of the national total, and that their capital is considerably more than half the banking capital of the country.

Charging that "the great propaganda machinery of Federal bureaucracy is attempting to aggrandize and multiply itself and its powers," he continues: "Resolutions of the State bank division have expressed the desire of those operating State chartered institutions to cooperate with national banks, the Comptroller of the Currency and the Federal Reserve for the common good.

"Is it not fair, however, to submit the question as to how long would it seem reasonable to those engaged in operating the majority of our banking institutions to sit by and allow untrue propaganda to be continually pumped out of a bureaucratic Washington, devised to destroy the State banking system?"

Federal Service Receivers Asked

Wilmington, Del., May 10 (A.P.).—A receivership for the Federal Public Service Corporation, which provides $11 communities in 17 Middle Western and Southern States with electric, gas, water and telephone service, was asked today by Luke L. Stager, of Kearny, N. J., in a bill of complaint filed in chancery court. Stager, who owns one $1,000 6 per cent gold debenture note of the corporation, alleged that the concern is insolvent.

The corporation was incorporated as a holding company on April 26, 1927, and according to the bill, owns and controls 95 per cent of the stock of more than 35 subsidiary utility companies. All common stock of the corporation is owned by the Union Power Corporation, which, in turn, is controlled by H. M. Byllesby & Co. and the American Equities Corporation, both of New York.

The corporation has outstanding in the hands of the public preferred stock with a par value of $3,545,000 and funded debts of $18,887,900, of which $7,000,000 in 6 per cent notes falls due July 1.

The complainant alleges the corporation will be unable to meet this maturity and that a committee of the company's bankers has been formed which requested the debenture holders to set a six-year extension of maturity on agreement of the company to pay interest at 6 per cent on new notes. The bill states that although the earnings of the corporation were continually decreasing, the corporation continued to sell stock to the public and during last year sold $500,000 worth of new stock.

MARKET COMMENT

Business Week—As we move into May the slight spring spurt of early April seems to be petering out. * * * Administration measures and Federal Reserve efforts have unquestionably created an enormous improvement in the banking position in the past two months, but the campaign for credit expansion is at a standstill because congressional chaos has wrecked business and banking confidence.

G. M.-P. Murphy & Co.—The market still seems to be in a position to respond to either favorable news or aggressive sponsorship. It is impossible to tell when either, or both, will eventuate.

Hornblower & Weeks—The sensitiveness of both the investor and speculator alike to the trend of developments in Washington was amply illustrated by the action of the market late last week on the appearance of favorable news from this direction, as contrasted with the declining tendencies which accompanied news of a disturbing nature from the same source.

Westheimer & Co.—Professional selling in the market, lacking in definite trend, appears likely so far as immediate future is concerned. A tone of confidence is apparent in leading investment quarters, but tendency is to postpone extensive commitments until more positive action is taken by Washington political leaders. In short, the market waits on Washington.

Robert C. Jones & Co.—Leading New York City banks made an exceptional earnings record during the first quarter of 1932. Practically every important bank more than earned its dividend. A combination of recent banking developments would appear likely to result in substantially larger earnings for these institutions. In fact, the outlook for increased bank earnings now seems more favorable than at any time since the beginning of the depression.

Guaranty Trust Co.—It is unusually important at this time that sound business judgment avoid the possible misleading influences of highly publicized week-to-week fluctuations in business sentiment. The contagious new-era prosperity doctrine of a few years back has a counterpart in an attitude of mind that leans toward the belief that the current low level of business constitutes a permanent plateau of economic activity and that, instead of attempting to bring about an advance in business, we should adjust our industrial organization to this deflated level. Such views are based partly on the exaggerated pessimism that always prevails in times of depression, and partly on a failure to recognize the fundamental distinction between a level of prices and a level of business activity. There is some ground for the view that the current price decline represents, for the most part, a corrective process necessitated by events in the past, rather than a newly developed maladjustment that will require correction in the future. But there is little basis for the belief that the long-sustained upward trend of production and trade in this country has permanently reversed its direction, or that the present levels of activity constitute a normal condition.

Business defaults as reported to Bradstreet's showed a marked decline during the week ended May 5, falling from 610 to 553; the lowest total since early in March. The decrease of 9.3 per cent compares with a normal seasonal increase of 7.4 per cent.

The American Sugar Refining Co. and other leading refiners today announced an advance of ten points in refined sugar to 3.85 cents a pound.

STEEL ORDERS DROP TO 2,326,926 TONS

Decrease Is Heavy in April; New Business Small for Dull Month.

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation decreased 145,487 tons in April to a total of 2,326,926 tons on April 30, another record low since the company began reporting monthly figures. In March the backlog dropped 73,216 tons.

This was the thirteenth consecutive decline, the last gain having appeared in March, 1931.

April is usually a month of shrinkage and there had been no expectation that today's figures would run counter to form, since it was generally known that new business last month was small. On April 30, 1931, the corporation's backlog amounted to 3,897,729 tons.

Steel production this week may be forecast at 22 per cent of capacity, the same as last week, says the American Metal Market. There has been a marked increase in steel production to meet the requirements of the Ford and Chevrolet motor companies, and this has more than offset a small decrease in demand for all other lines of consumption, it is stated.

Concerning alleged "dumping" of foreign steel, the Iron Age says an official investigation of pig iron exports is under way following the filing of "dumping" allegations by Eastern pig-iron interests.

Dividend Index Shows Recent Sharp Decline

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—The average weighted cash dividend rate on 600 identical common stocks on the New York Stock Exchange was $1.60 on April 30, a decline of 47.7 per cent from the peak of $3.06 in March, 1930, according to compilation by Moody's.

Since December 31 the average dividend rate has declined 18.4 per cent against a decline of 28.2 per cent for all of 1931.

146,584 Autos Made In U. S. During April

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—April production of motor vehicles by American manufacturers amounted to 146,584 units, according to the preliminary estimate of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. This is an increase of 15 per cent over the preceding month, but 56 per cent below April, 1931.

According to this estimate, motor production for the year to date is 51 per cent under 1931.

Philip Morris & Co. Reports Best Year

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—Philip Morris & Co. had net income of $498,833 in the fiscal year ended March 31, the largest earnings in its history, equal to $1.20 a share on the capital stock. This compared with $416,906, or $1 a share, in the previous fiscal period.

Referee Delays Action On Match Stock Auction

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—Oscar W. Ehrhorn, referee in bankruptcy, today reserved decision until tomorrow on a motion brought by the Irving Trust Co. to continue the injunction obtained yesterday staying the auction sale of 350,000 shares of Diamond Match Co. stock.

The stock is scheduled to go on sale at noon tomorrow.

Wall Street Briefs

Directors of the American Electric Power Corporation at the meeting today decided to take no action on the quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the $7 preferred and $1.50 on the $6 preferred stocks due at this time.

No action has been taken on the quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the class "B" stock of the S. R. Dresser Manufacturing Co., due at this time, the company announced today.

The directors of the United Fruit Co. today reduced the quarterly dividend rate from 75 cents to 50 cents. They declared a dividend of 50 cents a share, payable July 1 to stock of record June 1. This is equivalent to a reduction of the annual rate from $3 to $2.

The quarterly dividend of 50 cents on Best & Co. stock, due at this time, has been omitted, the company announced today. A statement said the gross volume of business showed a substantial shrinkage from last year, but that a small profit was made in the first quarter.

State Superintendent of Insurance George S. Van Schaick has approved the plan of the Globe and Rutgers Insurance Co., for reducing its capital from $7,000,000 to $2,000,000 and transferring the difference of $5,000,000 to surplus, it was announced today. This is the fifth fire insurance company to stockholders within the past week.

Some of the recent selling in American Can and Continental Can is believed by brokers to have been influenced by the statement of the Department of Agriculture that due to unsatisfactory demand more difficulty might be experienced in moving a pack as large as last year's.

Pittsburgh Screw & Bolt Corporation ended the first quarter with net loss of $250,141, against profit of $3,192 in the same period of 1931.

Directors of the Rutland Railroad Co. at their meeting today took no action on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred dividend due at this time. The last payment was $2 a share on October 15, 1931. The company is in arrears on preferred dividends to the amount of about $333 a share. New York Central Railroad Co. and the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. jointly are majority holders of the preferred stock.

Stocks Advance as Hopes Of Congress' Action Revive

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—Stocks sauntered quietly higher today, making the best of such news as came to hand and hoping that further encouragement would be provided by harmonious action on national finances at Washington.

Final prices were under the best and represented only a fractional average gain. Nevertheless, the market has held all but about half a point of last Friday's sharp recovery, which, to some brokers, signifies a healthier state of mind and a willingness to gve optimism the benefit of the doubt.

Trading was again very dull, volume being 237,750 shares.

Some special selling was sprinkled through the list, but leaders were mostly firm. Best & Co. softened 3 points on omission of its dividend and sympathetic heaviness cropped out in Woolworth and Macy. Rails almost reached a stalemate; a 2-point loss for Delaware & Hudson was the largest change in that group.

Steel Sags on Orders.

U. S. Steel sagged a bit when the drop in unfilled orders proved larger than had been expected, but soon steadied. American Telephone sold a couple of points higher in a large turnover, then halved its rise. General Motors, Consolidated Gas, Du Pont, Standard Oil of New Jersey and American Can were active and firm. Coca Cola and Corn Products improved more than a point net. Public Service of New Jersey, Borden, Auburn, Peoples Gas and Westinghouse also showed larger than average gains.

The steel corporation's backlog was off 145,847 tons, establishing a new record low since publication of the monthly figures began early in this century. A probable loss of about half this amount had been mentioned in the preliminary gossip, but appearance of the actual figures caused little surprise in view of April's poor operating record. The chief point of discussion now is whether current prices can be held after next week's wage cut becomes effective.

Commenting on the decline in unfilled orders, American Metal Market said: "Should there be an increase in business there would be no large increase in unfilled obligations, as the additional orders would be executed almost as fast as received."

Automobile Buying As Aid.

At present, automobile orders seem to be the most likely source of improvement, but how much further that demand will go is regarded as problematical. April output of cars was 15 per cent above March output, a moderate gain.

The weekly condition statement of reporting Federal Reserve member banks was largely influenced by recent Treasury financing operations, although there was some evidence of credit expansion in this district, where "all other" loans increased $21,000,000. Security loans of those banks, however, were down $18,000,000, and commercial loans of all the banks covered by the statistics dropped $4,000,000. Government deposits and holdings of Federal securities showed sensational gains.

Bradstreet's reported that business defaults in the week ended May 5 were the smallest since early March, showing a decrease from the previous week of 9.3 per cent, whereas a rise would have been seasonal. The Review's adjusted index of commercial defaults has fallen to its lowest level since the first fortnight of this year.

Bonds Steady in Tone.

The bond market maintained a comparatively steady tone, and the majority of leading issues held their price changes to unimportant fractions.

Trading was quite active, especially in United States Government issues, until the latter part of the session, when transactions dropped to a minimum. Sales totaled $9,207,000, par value, and the average for 60 corporate securities declined one-tenth of a point.

The Federal list was generally the center of attraction and most of the Libertys and Treasurys, although subjected to profit taking, closed with small net gains. Heaviest trading was in Treasury 3s, which finally gave up five-sixteenths of a point.

Dealers were encouraged by the fact that loans displayed resistance despite industrial news that was viewed as somewhat unfavorable.

Rails Slightly Better.

A few of the railroads did slightly better. Included among these were Santa Fe general 4s, Baltimore & Ohio 4½ of 1960, Canadian Pacific debentures 4s, Canadian National 4½, Chesapeake Corporation 5s, Chicago & Northwestern 4¾s, Rock Island refunding 4s, Erie convertible 4s and refunding 5s, Kansas City Southern 3s, Louisville & Nashville 4½s, Northern Pacific general 3s and 6s, Frisco 4½s, and St. Louis Southwestern 5s.

The utilities and industrials about held their own. Remington Arms 6s were the most active in these groups, gaining 2 points. United Drug 5s also strengthened, as did most of the Western Union and International Telephones.

Foreign bonds were generally dull. French loans sagged at one time, but recovered later. Italian 7s advanced along with some of the Brazilians and Colombians. The Germans were unchanged and British 5½s eased slightly.

Curb Centers on Oils.

This group managed to make fair headway, but the rest of the market drifted uncertainly. The day's turnover was only 100,000 shares, or virtually unchanged from the slim volume of the previous session.

Interest was stirred up in the oil group in the arrival in this country today of several European executives to attend the international conference here called by C. E. Arnott, of the Socony-Vacuum Corporation, in an effort to check throat-cut competition.

Gulf, as usual, was the widest mover, getting up nearly 3 points to 33. Humble rose a point, and Standard of Indiana closed ½ higher. Cities Service sagged a fraction, then recovered. The business of these companies, however, is largely concentrated in the United States, and their strength was apparently largely in sympathy with "big board" oil shares, or a further reflection of the improvement in the domestic situation in petroleum.

Utilities were mixed. Electric Bond & Share and American Gas & Electric each closed a shade lower, after a temporary upturn. Electric Power Associates awoke from its protracted quiescence with a gain of nearly a point.

Industrials and specialties were mixed. Among issues up a point or two were Bunker Hill & Sullivan, Fedders A, Glen Alden Coal and Gorham Manufacturing. Garlock Packing was off a point to a new low. Trading in these issues was light.

The Swift issues were active and firm, closing fractionally higher.

Paramount Publix Fixes Par of Stock

Revaluation Places Film Concern's Shares on $33,000,000 Basis.

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—After a series of adjournments because of insufficient proxies, stockholders of the Paramount-Publix Corporation today ironed out their difficulties and voted to change the par value of the concern's stock from "no par" to $10 a share.

Approval of the change was voted by 2,309,450 shares, while only 46 shares opposed. The revaluation gives the corporation's outstanding stock a par value of approximately $33,000,000. On December 31 last the outstanding 3,160,596 shares had a stated book value of $123,383,984.

The capital surplus of the corporation will be increased by the difference between the new par and the present stated value. No other business was transacted at today's meeting. Action on the new valuation was originally scheduled for April 19.

SETTLEMENT BANK AVERTED COLLAPSE

Basel, Switzerland, May 10 (A.P.).—Stockholders of the Bank for International Settlements today closed their books upon a profitable year—despite financial troubles the world around—and approved a report declaring that no single nation can reasonably hope to recover good times in isolation from the rest of the world.

Gates H. Warren, president of the bank, told the annual stockholders' meeting that the "international monetary system can not function properly" so long as international balances and payments are continually upset by changes in tariff barriers.

Financial leaders of the world, including the governors of 20 central banks, and the representatives of three powerful American banking groups, were present at the meeting.

The report they approved proclaimed the essential unity of international finance and the interdependence of national economic problems.

Only concerted international efforts will rescue governments and peoples from the prevailing crisis, they agreed. And they advanced this cooperation as a prescription for regaining economic health.

Report Warns World.

The chiefs of finance spoke with special authority because the Bank for International Settlements—an experiment in international collaboration on a vast scale—enjoyed a successful fiscal year, returning profits 36 per cent larger than last year.

The profits totaled 15,000,000 Swiss francs ($2,895,000 at par), which was $772,000 greater than in the first year of its existence.

In his report to the stockholders Mr. McGarrah set forth his tariff reliefs thus:

"If the relative position of international balances and payments is continuously to be upset by changes in tariff barriers, with profound effect on the equalibrium of different companies; if the flow of capital from one nation to another is to be dammed by obstacles which make the fulfillment of contractual obligations virtually impossible, with consequent destruction of general confidence—then an international monetary system can not function properly."

Unless international economic relations are radically improved, "a durable monetary stability can not be expected," Mr. McGarrah said.

He declared that the events of the last year emphasized the interdependence of national monetary systems. Internationalism in monetary matters, he asserted, is an accomplished fact.

The Economic Strait-Jacket.

Control of exchange forces trade into a strait-jacket, he said, leaving little or no room for the play of economic forces, and, in the long run, aggravates fundamental financial troubles.

Mr. McGarrah portrayed the fiscal year which ended March 31 as a series of financial crises which presented an opportunity for the World Bank to show its usefulness as a center for information, counsel and joint financial action.

The central banks in the world bank's capital centers and treasuries advanced short-term emergency credits in 1931 to the sum of 5,000,000,000 Swiss francs, roughly $1,000,000,000. This sum, plus contributions by debtor markets and diminution of their central bank reserves, permitted liquidation during the year of more than thirty billions in short-term indebtedness, equaling approximately $6,000,000,000.

Such a vast movement of liquid funds, Mr. McGarrah said, played havoc with the financial world, "and the wonder is that the economic system was able to withstand such dislocating forces."

Hoover Moratorium.

The real consequence of the Hoover moratorium, he said, was utilization of the World Bank as a convenient center for relatively quick action in the international financial sphere.

The stockholders approved Mr. McGarrah's recommendations for distribution of profits.

They also approved his formal report which asserted that in the emergencies of the past year "central bank collaboration expressed itself most notably in the volume of intercentral banks advances which were made in a mutual effort to hold together the fabric of the international credit system."

In the course of the report Mr. McGarrah had written that the monetary relationship ignores political and geographical frontiers; that the principle of interdependence governs not only finance but penetrates the whole economic structure.

The same recurrent tendencies are to be observed in all countries, he wrote, adding that "all the available evidence leads to the conclusion that any hope that a single country may achieve prosperity apart from the rest of the world would be based on an insecure foundation."

Canadian Sold at New Record.

Ottawa, May 10 (A.P.).—Gold receipts to the Royal Canadian Mint from Canadian mines in April reached 260,353 fine ounces, valued at $5,381,984, a new high for all time, the government reported today.

Stocks.

Controlling sentiment leans to the side of optimism, despite the adverse reports on steel tonnage, car loadings and commercial credit contraction. Leaders moved gently higher yesterday, principally on expectations of prompt budget action in Congress.

Bonds.

Rails and United States Government's showed slight gains, but the average of 60 corporate liens was fractionally lower.

Curb.

The trade was dull, with most interest centered in oils as the international marketing conference came nearer.

Wheat.

Russia took two more cargoes of Canadian wheat for shipment to Vladivostok. The government winter wheat yield was below private estimates. Trading was in a narrow range and the close was ¼ cent off to ½ cent up.

Cotton.

Liverpool cables were weak following a decline of 35 to 40 points at Bombay. The domestic spot market was quiet. Futures closed 1 to 3 points lower.

Sugar.

MONEY MARKETS

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—The dollar's decline in terms of foreign moneys was checked today. Most European exchanges closed with minor losses, although they were still above gold export points.

French francs were off one-sixteenth of a point, to 3.94¼ cents, for cables, while sterling sagged half a cent, to $3.67¾, which doubtless reflected official pressure. The British government desires to keep the pound from rising much above $3.68.

GOLD MOVEMENT.

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—The country's monetary stock of gold was reduced by $4,495,400 as a result of today's transactions in the metal. Practically all the loss was accounted for by a $5,501,900 increase in earmark account, against which there were imports of $1,000,000 from Canada and $25,500 from Mexico. There was an export of $20,000 in Holland. It is understood that an additional $11,006,000 in gold will be shipped on the steamer Europa tomorrow.

National Surety Plans To Cut Par of Stock

The National Surety Co. announces that it will call a meeting of stockholders shortly to sanction a reduction in the capital of the corporation from $15,000,000 to $3,000,000 through cutting the par value of the 300,000 shares of stock from $50 a share to $10 a share.

It was explained that in common with other financial institutions, the company had experienced depreciation of the market value of its investments, and has shared with other insurance businesses unusually heavy claims.

NEW YORK WILL CUT DEPOSITS INTEREST

Clearing House Announces Banks Reduce Rates ½ Per Cent On Today.

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—The New York Clearing House today announced that its member banks, which include the leading Wall street commercial banks, will cut the interest rates which they pay on deposits by ½ of 1 per cent, effective tomorrow.

This reduction, the first since rates were increased last October, was interpreted as a reflection of the credit expansion policy of the Federal Reserve System, which has been pumping credit into the open market by buying approximately $100,000,000 of United States Government bonds weekly.

The new interest rates to be paid on the large deposits of corporations and individuals, or on deposits in the New York institutions by other banks, will be ½ of 1 per cent, against 1 per cent previously. The rates on deposits in these banks placed by mutual savings banks, and on time deposits, will be 1 per cent, as reduced from 1½

COTTON FLUCTUATES TO SLIGHT DECLINES

July Sells Off at Close to 5.63; May to 5.49; Liverpool Liquidates.

New York, May 10 (A.P.).—Cotton fluctuated within a range of 8 or 9 points during today's trading with an early decline in response to relatively easy cables, followed by rallies on some trade buying and covering.

After selling off to 5.59 early, July advanced to 5.67 and closed at 5.63, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 1 to 3 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 4 points. Houses with Liverpool connections appeared to have some selling orders here, following the decline in the English market, while there was also a little selling attributed to the South and further scattering liquidation. Prices yielded gradually under the comparatively moderate pressure with May selling off to 5.49 and October to 5.84 during the morning, or about 5 to 8 points net lower.

These figures seemed to attract a little more buying from the trade, while there was somewhat more covering, and the market stiffened up during the middle of the day with May advancing to 5.56 and October to 5.92, or 2 points above yesterday's closing quotations. Later, fluctuations were somewhat irregular with the close showing reactions of 3 or 4 points from the best.

There was not much comment on the weather news, which indicated some further light rains or showers in Texas, and traders evidently found no particular inspiration in that direction, although there may have been a little selling early on talk of favorable crop progress in most sections of the belt.

Advices from Texas said the demand for spot cotton was quieter, except for certificated cotton at the ports which came largely from Japanese interests.

There was a little selling here early attributed to the undoing of straddles between the local market and Bombay, but this was not in sufficient volume to attract much attention, and, after a fair business at the start, trading was generally quiet.

Liverpool cables reported local and foreign liquidation influenced by weakness in Egyptian cotton, and said buyers of cotton cloths and yarns were cautious, fearing lower prices. Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria were 25 to 40 points lower. Exports today were 16,421 bales, making 7,634,554 bales so far this season.

TEACHERS SHIFTED IN PRINCE GEORGES

Board Decides on Reduction of Staffs of Two High Schools in County.

A wholesale reassignment of teachers in the Prince Georges County school system was decided upon yesterday at the regular meeting of the school board, when it also was decided that the teaching staffs of two high schools would have to be reduced.

A delegation from the Baden High School told the board that they expected 63 children next year, and the board agreed to cut the teachers at this school to four instead of three. There are now five teachers at Baden, although only enough enrollment for three. At Brandywine the staff of the high school will be cut from four to three teachers, if a prospective reduced enrollment develops.

At Baden two teachers will be retired, and only one employed to fill the vacancy. Seven resignations, four from high schools, one from a white elementary school and two from colored elementary school, were accepted. Vacancies to be filled are at Surrattsville High and Baden High, but it is hoped that arrangements can be made so that a vacancy at Bladensburg Junior High School will not have to be filled.

Nicholas Orem, superintendent of schools, was instructed to close the Glenn Dale Colored School, as there are now only ten students enrolled. He will also consider closing the Mellwood School and bringing the students to the Marlboro School by bus.

The delegation from the Baden School, which was headed by W. R. C. Connick, asked the board to consider closing the Bald Eagle and Nottingham Schools and then moving the children to the Baden Elementary School. Mr. Connick was told to find out the sentiment of the patrons of the two schools to the change. A delegation from the Glenn Dale School asked that bus transportation to the Laurel High School be provided, but the board was unwilling to provide another bus line as long as the Bowie High School is open.

Ministers Back Jury In Padlocking Action

A letter expressing the thanks of the Ministerial Association of Prince Georges County for the action of the grand jury in demanding that an alleged gambling house be kept closed was read to the county commissioners at their meeting yesterday. The letter was signed by the Rev. Keith Custis, secretary-treasurer of the association.

The commissioners also received a letter from F. D. Zantzinger, complaining about speeding automobiles on Carmody road. It was referred to Constable Earle Blackwell for action. The commissioners refused to grant a permit to a colored man who wanted to hold a dance in Fairmont Heights.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

It has been proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that the famous pilot of the French Pass had actually taken it upon himself to see vessels through the turbulent waters of the narrow strait. Just why, however, will remain a mystery, for there is no apparent benefit it could have received from any ship. Pelorus Jack, so named because of frequenting Pelorus Sound, was a Grampus, a small member of the whale family, about 18 feet in length. So it was he in his self-enacted duty, that the Legislature of New Zealand passed a resolution prohibiting any one from harming him. He would always meet the ships at the same place and accompany them for over half an hour, at times dropping back to affectionately rub himself against the sides of the ship.

Closely woven into the legends of the Maoris, the natives of New Zealand, are colorful tales of this strange mammal. Many a man will stand up and swear that he has known of this creature's antics for over 50 years. Once, it is related, Pelorus Jack was injured by a certain ship and thereafter refused to accompany that particular ship.

Young Nathaniel Lehrman has an unusual school record. He entered kindergarten in December, 1928, at the age of 5½ years. In September, 1929, he began grade school, and within one week advanced to the 1B class, where he remained until December, 1929, being then placed in 2A. January, 1930, he skipped to 3A; June, 1930, 4A; January, 1931, 5A, and in June, 1931, he had progressed to 6A. Another of Nathaniel's records is having read 115 books during 1931.

REVIVAL OF COURAGE OF CHRIST WORLD'S NEED, BISHOP SAYS

Dr. Freeman Tells Diocesan Convention How Despair Can Be Overcome.

CALLS CRISIS GREATEST CHALLENGE TO CHURCH

Asserts Religion Must Supply Remedy Economists and Statesmen Do Not.

Declaring that "a real revival of the teachings of Christ must save the world from further descent into the slough of despair," the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, told the annual diocesan convention of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Washington, at the Church of the Epiphany last night, that "the present grave situation throughout the world presents the mightiest challenge the church has known in centuries."

"Christianity," he said, "must not forget the sublime courage of "the undefeated Son of God upon His Cross" so as to rise stronger and more appealing out of this crisis."

If the church fails to meet this challenge, Bishop Freeman predicted that "it will pay such a penalty in defeated purposes and ideals and loss of cherished institutions as it has rarely ever known."

Failure of Economists.

"There has been nothing in the way of an effective and permanent cure suggested by our economists and statesmen," the bishop observed. "Something must be done and done with definiteness of design.

"We who minister the sacraments and preach to the people have solemn need of examining ourselves and our methods at this time, else we shall find our course greatly embarrassed in the readjustments that are coming in our modern world. It would be profitable if in all our concerns, general, diocesan and parochial, we could have a thorough stock-taking period and a fresh and consistent appraisal of values.

Comprehending Love Needed.

"Our Christian religion is not an affair merely of multiplied services and frequent prayers. It is an affair of life, a defined system that regulates conduct, that contemplates a recognized and obediently followed code of practice that concerns business, society, the home, marital relations—yes, the whole gamut of life in its every relationship. If it does not mean this, then it is not the religion given to men by Jesus Christ. This, I affirm, the church must again declare, even though for the while its message seems to fall of a ready response and its pews be vacated by those who are unwilling to heed the exacting demands of the bold and heroic Christ."

Bishop Freeman deplored the tendency "to criticise and investigate." Whether it be the church or the State we have overdone the pillorying of those charged with weighty responsibilities or large administrative concerns," he said. "What we need more than all else today is a comprehensive and comprehending love that reflects the spirit of Him who, in His latest hour from the cross, prayed, 'Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do.'"

Sister of Slayer Gets $1,000 Reward

The $1,000 reward offered by William L. Bush, son of Louis Bush, bus magnate, who was shot to death October 6, 1930, for information leading to the arrest and conviction of his father's slayers yesterday was ordered paid to Mrs. Gertrude Murphy, 69 L street northeast, sister of one of the convicted slayers, William Joseph Carneal.

Nine others claimed the reward, and Mr. Bush put the matter up to the court to decide which person was entitled to the reward. Mrs. Murphy proved that after she discovered her brother's blood-stained shirt in her home she gave information that eventually led to the arrest of her brother in Pittsburgh. He is now serving a life term for participation with Jack Mahoney in the shooting of Bush.

Other claimants besides Mrs. Murphy were her husband, Daly Joseph Murphy, and Walter I. Malone, Chastleton Hotel. All the others were out-of-town persons.

Joseph Murphy and H. E. Bealer were elected delegates to the convention of the National Retail Coal Merchants Association at a luncheon meeting yesterday of the coal division of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association. The convention will be held at Louisville, Ky., May 19 to 21.

Alternates elected are Fenton Fadeley and LeRoy King. Edward D. Shaw, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, was chosen as a delegate to attend the convention and that of the Secretaries of the Retail Coal Associations. The merchants also decided to close their coal yards on all Saturdays during June, July and August.

McKinley High Student Injured by Automobile

Hunt for Dr. Bauersfeld Intensified by Relatives

Relatives of Dr. E. G. Bauerfeld, 43 years old, who disappeared April 26, have asked police to intensify their hunt for him. He left his home at 3615 Davis street northwest and has not been heard from since.

He is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 134 pounds, and has dark eyes, brown hair streaked with gray, and wears glasses. When last seen he was wearing a checkered suit, a gray hat and a reddish brown top coat.

Bad Weather Prevents Fiesta of Legionnaires

A second postponement of the entertainment scheduled by the District of Columbia Department of the American Legion for the benefit of the Drum and Bugle Corps, was necessary last night because of bad weather.

The show, to be held at Fourteenth and R streets southeast, will be open tonight if conditions permit.

Long Missing Son Sought By Mother

Police were asked last night to start a search for a Washington youth who has been missing for three years. The belated search was launched at the behest of his elderly mother, Mrs. Sally Willison, of 2204 Tunlaw road northwest, who admitted that her hope was a forelorn one.

The last word she had of her 19-year-old son, Vernon, was a post card written from Union Station in Washington, July 12, 1929, stating that possibilities for making a livelihood in the Capital were slim and he was going to start in at Baltimore to make his fortune.

The mother was running a lunch room in Alexandria to make ends meet after her husband died when Vernon first set out in the world. He went to Cumberland and got a job in a tire factory. When the work ran out there he shifted to Akron but found nothing and in 1929, came to Alexandria and asked Mrs. Willison for aid. She scraped a few dollars together and Vernon set out for Baltimore. The brief postal card was the last thing she heard from him. In the card he promised to send her his permanent address whenever he got one.

In the elapsing three years, Mrs. Willison was forced to give up the lunchroom and is now a housekeeper at a boarding house at the Tunlaw road address. Whether her son has made his fortune or not, Mrs. Willison wants him back.

Policeman, on Traffic Duty, Walks Into Auto

Private Carl G. Darnell, attached to the Third Police Precinct, was injured last night when thrown to the street after walking into the side of an automobile at Seventeenth and L streets northwest. He is in Emergency Hospital. His condition is not serious.

The policeman, who was directing traffic at the intersection, was thrown to the street when he walked into the side of a machine driven by James A. Stancell, a member of the Marine Band. Stancell, who lives at 1105 Seventeenth street northwest, said Darnell waved him across the street and the policeman apparently misjudged the distance between himself and the car. Darnell suffered lacerations to his head. Stancell was not held.

Session on Merger Is Called by Capper

Senate Group Will Study Two Proposals Friday at Meeting.

The Senate District committee yesterday moved to expedite Senate action on the street car merger, approved by the House Monday. Chairman Arthur Capper called a meeting of his committee for Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Members will be asked whether they wish to substitute the House bill, with only three important amendments, for the Senate merger measure, amended in 63 places. Senator Warren R. Austin (Republican), Vermont, will report on the differences in the two measures. He is in charge of Senate presentation of his committee's favorable majority report on the bill.

Senator Capper and Senator John J. Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, are unalterably opposed to the bill as it passed the House or was approved by the Senate District committee. In a minority report both contend the Public Utilities Commission should have jurisdiction over power rates, fixed by contract under the bills. They urge universal free transfers, heavier company paying responsibilities and a new valuation set-up.

ARTIFICIAL LARYNX PROVED AT MEETING

Members of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers were treated to a real thrill yesterday afternoon at their convention meeting in the Wardman Park Hotel, when a Washington man, Col. Charles C. Burt, U. S. A., retired, arose and addressed the meeting by means of an artificial larynx.

Col. Burt, who some months ago completely lost the use of his vocal chords, due to a delicate operation on his throat, had just appeared in a preview of a new talking picture, "The Voice That Science Made." In the picture they had heard him speak by means of his newly acquired larynx, but when he arose in the audience and completely filled the large room with his voice, his hearers were held spellbound.

Reluctant to Try Device.

With his crisp military accent, Col. Burt told of the despair which he felt when he was told that his natural voice was gone forever. Confident that he would never speak again, he said that he had viewed with distrust any mechanical device which promised such a miracle as restored speech, but members of his family finally persuaded him to try the artificial larynx.

The speech-restoring device, a product of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, was one of the newest of the developments in motion picture mechanics and allied machines which have been demonstrated during the meeting.

Small Films Cause Debate.

A tabled discussion, which waged at the meeting yesterday, was in reference to the new small-size films in movie projection machines. The film, which is less than half the size of professional film in width, and which has at present perforations on each side of the celluloid strip, was to be modified in that perforations were to be used on only one side of the film. Opponents to this modification said that the new type would necessitate new projection equipment, and the discard of all film made under the old style.

The advantages of the new type of film, it was stated, were that the picture size on the film would be larger, and that the screen image would also be larger and more distinct.

One of the new machines demonstrated was an automatic apparatus to regulate the time exposure of films. Films for distribution in the various movie houses have a number of sections and portions of these sections require varying exposure. The new machine automatically controls the exposure by a keyboard, and expedites the operation. The control can be rapidly set for a film negative having as many as 160 scenes.

Motorist Fatally Injured In Crash After He Faints

Henry A. Marsden, 59 years old, of 1424 Parkwood place northwest, was fatally injured yesterday when he was overcome by a weak spell and the automobile he was driving struck a lamp post in an alley in the rear of 1812 Monroe street northwest.

He was taken to Garfield Hospital and treated for a fractured skull. He died two hours later from the injuries. Alfred A. Clark, of 1310 New York avenue northwest, and 318 East Lorraine avenue, Baltimore, a passenger in the automobile, was treated for a slight laceration of the head.

Clark told police that Marsden acted as if he was seized with a fainting spell when he lost control of the automobile. Members of Marsden's family said he was subject to attacks of acute indigestion.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Annie T. Marsden; his father, Joseph F. Marsden; two brothers, Joseph F., of Washington, and Frank, of Greensboro, N. C., and five children, Ambrose, R. J., Whelan J., Maria T., Esther and Mary Frances Marsden.

Funeral services will be held at the residence at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning and at the Shrine of the Sacred Heart Church at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

The sessions opened yesterday morning with the breakfast for presidents and incoming presidents of the district at the Willard, with John Nelson, of Montreal, third vice president of Rotary International, as chief speaker.

Praises Rotary Work.

Mr. Nelson declared that while science has brought the world closer together, it has not taught the world how to live. Rotary through its system of banding a cross section of trades and professions into a harmonious group has developed an interesting experiment in fellowship, he pointed out.

Other speakers yesterday were Elwood Street, director of the Washington Community Chest, on "Community Service;" Huston Thompson, former chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, on "Boys' Work" and Leland D. Case, associate of the Rotarian.

At the luncheon at noon, the delegates were addressed by Secretary of Labor William N. Doak. Chester D. Swope presided, and entertainment was furnished by George H. O'Connor and Matt E. Horne. Trophies were presented to winners of the golf matches.

Trophies Awarded.

Three important trophies were awarded at the afternoon session. The C. Howard Witmer Cup, for the club having the greatest increase in attendance during the year, was presented to the Oakland, Md., Club. The Fleming Cup, for the club traveling the greatest number of miles to attend the conference went to the Clearfield, Pa., Club, and Littlestown, Pa., won the Governor's Cup, presented on behalf of the Chestertown, Md., Club, for the group with the largest average attendance during the year.

The need of tolerance of the habits and ways of other nationals was stressed by Robert Lincoln O'Brien, chairman of the Tariff Commission, in a talk on "Rotary Around the World," which praised the organization as a medium for bringing the world closer together.

While the men were busy with these activities the women took a sight-seeing trip in the morning and were received by Mrs. Hoover at the White House at noon. A luncheon and bridge party was given for them at the Congressional Club in the afternoon.

Hoover's Renomination Is Urged by Druggists

Because "Herbert Hoover is proving his constructive statesmanship" and because the "administration's tax policy as reflected by the revenue bill recently reported in the Senate is just to retail druggists," the Republican Retail Druggists Club of the District last night adopted a resolution favoring the renomination and reelection of the President.

The organization met at the Raleight Hotel. They moved to send a copy of their resolution to the President.

Doctor Reports Home Looted.

Dr. William G. Loftus, of 1737 Eleventh, street northwest, reported to police yesterday that his home had been entered and jewelry valued at $300 had been stolen.

Four School Boys Rescued As Canoe Capsizes in Basin

Four Hyattsville High School youths came to Washington for a canoe trip on the Tidal Basin yesterday afternoon and went home after a nautical adventure which included an uncomfortable drenching for nearly ten minutes, rides in the Fire Rescue apparatus and a session with reporters and press photographers.

The adventure began when young Salmon stood up in a heavily loaded craft. Over went the canoe and into the cold water of the basin went the four paddlers.

Motorists and pedestrians around the big pool were unaware of the plight of the lads, who did not shout for help, but manfully began to propel the canoe toward shore, 100 yards away. Finally Jack Riley, manager of the boathouse at the basin, scanning the stretch of water, saw his customers' dilemma and sent in a call for the Fire Rescue Squad and the police. He then dispatched two helpers, Carl and Jim Norris, to the scene in a small motor boat.

By the time the firemen and the men in the motor boat neared the lads, however, they had reached the seawall, and shivering, blue of lip and soaking wet, were pulled ashore.

Salmon and Reed insisted upon riding back in the motorboat to the boathouse, where they dried their garments before a roaring fire and exchanged quips with reporters and photographers. The other two youths were dried out at Emergency Hospital and later the quartet again joined forces and went back to Hyattsville to recount their adventure.

What seemed a near-tragedy to young Salmon was that he almost lost his automobile operator's permit during the drenching. He said he saw it float away and swam after it and put it in his mouth. This difficulty, he said, affected his breathing, but he managed not to swallow any of the water.

ACTION BY CONGRESS ON RIVER LINE ASKED

Merchants', Manufacturers' Group Want Board Named on Virginia Boundary.

The congressional appointment of a commission to aid in establishing a definite boundary line between the District of Columbia and Virginia was indorsed yesterday by the board of governors of the Merchant and Manufacturers Association.

It was pointed out that uncertainty now exists as to the true boundary line, which results in confusion as to the civil and criminal jurisdictions over the area along the Virginia shore of the Potomac River.

Recent action of the executive committee of the association in favoring a congressional appropriation of $500,000 from District funds to be used for relief work was also approved by the board.

Opposition was expressed to the closing of the Georgetown Custom House. It was declared that every importer in the District would encounter hardships if the establishment was discontinued.

Pointing out that Georgetown was one of the first ports in the country, the board declared that the closing of the custom house would cause inconvenience to nations which maintain embassies and legations in Washington. The action, it was also declared, would tend to appear as a lack of hospitality on the part of the Government toward foreign nations.

City Heads Accept Bond Law Changes

Suggestions by Corporation Counsel Approved by Sponsor of Bill.

Upon the advice of Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, the District Commissioners yesterday submitted several amendments to the bill to regulate the business of executing bonds for compensation in Washington and reported favorably on the measure if so revised.

The suggested changes included the deletion of the sentence that "five dollars per hundred shall be the maximum fee it shall be lawful to charge for executing any bond in a criminal case in the District" and the provision that policemen may in certain instances communicate with bondsmen or attorneys before making a raid or serving a process.

Another amendment would remove the penalty that one violation of the act would deprive a bondsman of his business for all time. The amendments, according to Mr. Bride, meet with the approval of former Police Court Judge Robert Hardison, sponsor of the bill.

CUT-RATE REPAIRERS OF WATCHES SCORED

Horologists Denounce Incompetent Handling of Timepieces.

Decrying the operation of "dollar a watch" repair men as irresponsible and in many cases incompetent, the Horological Institute of America, at the last session of their annual convention at the National Academy of Sciences, yesterday branded the cut-rate repairers as plyers of tricks of the trade.

Watch repairing, it was said, was an individual matter, and the modern watch is one of the most delicate of instruments, easily ruined by incompetent handling. Expert workers, who are conscientious in their trade, should be patronized in this work, they asserted.

The institute reelected officers. They are: E. H. Hufnagel, president; William Ramsey, of Washington, and William C. Donnelly, general superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad time service, vice presidents; Paul Moore, of Washington, executive secretary; John J. Bowman, treasurer; W. Calver Moore and T. Edgar Willson, executive committee, and Ralph E. Gould, of the Bureau of Standards, corresponding secretary.

Capt. N. H. Heck, chief of the division of terrestrial magnetism and seismology of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, presented a paper on "The Use of Precise Time in the Recording of Earthquakes." He said that no one can think of earthquakes without thinking of time, and that accurate instruments were necessary in the study of the quakes. He also told of the importance of timepieces in other operations in his field of work.

Pants Pockets Looted; Police Arrest Suspect

A man was held on a charge of investigation last night on the complaint of Charles Beck, of 514 Sixth street northeast, who told police that two billfolds, containing $67, were taken from his pants pockets while he slept.

Detective P. C. Wheeler, of the Ninth Precinct, arrested Thomas T. Elam, 26 years old, of 3 S street northeast, in connection with the case on Beck's complaint.

New Reno School Land Bought.

Another addition to the site for the proposed Reno High School site was ordered purchased yesterday by the District Commissioners at a price of $19,193.18 from the National Savings & Trust Co. as substituted trustee under the will of Mary Ellen French. The tract is designated as parcel 35-155 and is in line with the scheduled opening of Nebraska avenue.

OFFICIAL MAY SEEK TO BAR BUILDERS OF GARAGE IN WRANGLE

Engineer Department Director of Construction to Request Ouster.

WOULD CALL ON BOND COMPANY FOR ACTION

Contractors Must Agree to Tear Out Brickwork to Allow Steel Test.

Harold F. Baker, director of construction in the District Engineer Department, today will recommend to the District Commissioners that the building of the Sewer Department garage at First and O streets southeast be turned over to the bonding company unless the Fidelity Construction Corporation agrees to tear down part of the brickwork so that the steel skeleton can be examined and replaced if necessary.

The controversy, which has been going on for several weeks, reached a head yesterday. A windstorm last March blew the steel structure out of plumb after the brick inclosure already had been started. The trouble began in the Engineer Department, however, when the Sewer Department, rather than the municipal architect's office, designed the garage, and the plans were approved by the building inspector's office.

Holds Procedure Illegal.

H. S. Hatton, president of the contracting firm, contends this procedure was illegal and demands that the entire structure be redesigned. It will be unsafe if continued under the present design, he says, even though remedied as suggested by the director of construction.

The municipal architect's office did not like the steel design in the first place, according to Mr. Baker, but would not change it because the design had been approved by the building inspector's office. The contractor employed a private engineer to examine the plans, and his report is that the steel design is faulty.

Friction Long Apparent.

Friction has been apparent between the municipal architect's office and the building inspector's office for some time. Last spring Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, attempted to effect cooperation and a double check after several school buildings had met with accidents while under construction.

Unless a compromise is reached it is expected that the present case will be carried to court. The contract was let November 17, 1931, on an estimate of $36,085.

Parent-Teacher Group to Meet.

New officers of the Business High School Parent-Teacher Association will be elected tonight at a meeting in the school auditorium. A program of entertainment will follow.

Men in Chevy Chase Store At Night Cause Theft Scare

Two 16-year-old youths of Chevy Chase, D. C., put two and two together last night and got a decidedly wrong answer.

Walking along Northampton street northwest, the lads, who were unidentified by police, passed an upholstery store, in the rear of which they could see two men sitting arms locked in embrace. One of the men had on a white sweater with a red collar.

The lads "saw things." Their conclusion was that the man in the white sweater had been held up and shot. Surely, thought they, that is blood on the neck of the sweater. Madly they ran to the Peoples Drug Store at the corner of Connecticut avenue and McKinley street northwest and telephoned police.

Somehow police interpreted the alarm as indicating a holdup at the drug store; and detectives and Eighth Precinct police rushed pell-mell to the scene. Astonished drug clerks denied any robbery, and the somewhat disgusted police soon learned the cause of the disturbance. The two men in the store were even more astonished than the drug clerks and said they were "only having a party."
